WPA Program Near Collapse.

Relief Cut, Jobs Fail

Illinois faces critical relief situation with curtailment of federal funds and breakdown of Works Progress administration machinery. Details on page 8.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—The New Deal drive to take 3,500,000 employables off the dole and put them to work under the 4 billion dollar works relief fund is limping toward complete collapse according to figures released by the Works Progress administration today. Meanwhile Messrs. Hopkins and Ickes, bosses of WPA and PWA, respectively, are vacationing on the Pacific.

With the 3,500,000 job deadline two weeks away the WPA reported that only 1,310,733 needy have been taken off relief. To meet the deadline New Dealers must put more than two million persons—to be exact, 2,189,267 people—to work in the next two weeks.

In the last two weeks the administration was able to make only 184,479 jobs by exerting every effort in a campaign to meet the deadline. Officials confessed that the showing of the last two weeks indicates the impossibility of successful performance of the task before them.

Only 1,300,000 at Work.

At the present pace of the program the employment peak would not be reached for a year. In the six and a half months since the President signed the works relief bill only slightly more than 1,300,000 persons have been set to work.

When the President signed the bill the 3,500,000 job deadline was set for July 1. As the first deadline approached with only about 200,000 persons actually at work, the New Dealers extended the date to Nov. 1. It is expected a further postponement will be made when President Roosevelt returns to Washington about Oct. 23 from his western trip.

Almost half of the jobs created under the program are in the civilian conservation corps. The WPA reported 582,648 jobs in the CCC. The WPA in carrying out Administrator Harry Hopkins' boondoggling program has created 594,427 jobs. Other federal projects employ 133,658 persons.

Try to Blame McCarl.

In casting about for a scapegoat for the collapse of the drive New Dealers are pointing accusing fingers at Controler General J. R. McCarl, watch dog of the treasury. They charge that McCarl has delayed the program by his failure to rubber stamp allocations as rapidly as they come into his office.

McCarl has replied that it was his solemn obligation to see that the allocations fall within the scope of the act. The President early last summer tried to win McCarl over to New Deal thinking on speeding the program by taking him for a cruise on the presidential yacht. McCarl resisted this overture and continued to scrutinize each allocation as carefully as he had before.

Highway Program Largest.

The largest single cog in the works relief spending machine to date is the highway and street program. The allocation for such improvements is put at $885,000,000. Other big items are:

Civilian conservation corps, $522,084,000.

School building, $174,243,000.

Other public buildings included in the Public Works administration and Works Progress administration programs, $113,475,000.

Parks, athletic fields, and similar projects, under WPA, $156,610,920.

Water works, sewers, drainage and related works under WPA, $142,603,767.

"Community service" and "miscellaneous" projects under WPA including sewing centers to produce clothing for persons on relief, relief garden projects, clerical and library work, and other "white collar" enterprises, $80,931,506.

Bureau of reclamation, for power plants, dams, drainage projects, mapping, irrigation and the like, $79,650,000.

For projects under the war department's engineering corps, including flood control, harbor dredging and

JURORS IGNORE INSANITY PLEA OF BAUER KILLER

Defendant Wakened to Hear Verdict.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Mandeville Zenge, the young farmer-carpenter from Missouri, was convicted of murder last night for his savage revenge over lost love which resulted in the mutilation and death of Dr. Walter J. Bauer in Chicago last July 31.

A jury in the Criminal court of Judge Cornelius J. Harrington fixed Zenge's punishment at life in prison. This means under Illinois law that he will have to serve at least 20 years before he is eligible to parole. Zenge is now 26 years old.

Nature of Penalty Only Issue.

The jurors, most of whom were young men, returned their verdict at 9:50 p. m. They had had the case under consideration since 4:30 in the afternoon, but the only division among them was as to the nature of the punishment. They judged the defendant guilty from the first, it was reported.

Zenge, tall, straight, tight-mouthed as ever, received the verdict without betraying more than a flicker of emotion. He had to be wakened from a sound sleep in the cell outside the courtroom when the bailifs reported that the jurors were ready with their decision.

Zenge had been lying on the bench for more than an hour, his arms flung back of his head, in oblivion to the world, as the word came rushing across the courtroom that the jurors were ready.

Jury Takes 17 Ballots.

Seventeen ballots were taken by the jury. The first ballot disclosed that one man voted the electric chair for the young Missourian who had entered in this case one of the strangest defenses ever heard in a murder trial. Eight jurors were for life imprisonment on this ballot, one wanted to send Zenge to prison for 180 years, another for 20, and another for 14 years. On the second ballot the vote was nine for life, one for 180 years, one for 50, and one for 20.

The rest of the ballots were taken after much discussion over the nature of the punishment and argument as to just what various sentences would mean. The jurors wanted to be sure to give Zenge at least 20 years in prison, and this they did.

Prison Sanity Tests in Prospect.

While Zenge is in prison he will be under observation by psychiatrists, and if the insanity which was pleaded in his behalf at the trial develops at any time he can be transferred to the state security hospital from the prison.

More than 150 persons waited in the courtroom all evening for the verdict. It was a hot and smoky atmosphere with the same weary arguments going back and forth. Little credence was given to the insanity phase of the defense among the courtroom sitters. In this they agreed with the jurors, who did not discuss this seriously after the first hour or so.

It was after dinner when the jurors got down to hard and fast voting on the penalty. Little argument was heard in the jury room, but much discussion of a legal nature. Edward Kieson, 2206 West 23d street, was elected foreman. The jury ranged in age from 22 to 52 and averaged 31 years.

Here Comes the Verdict!

At 9:45 the jurors informed the waiting court that they were ready. The courtroom was set in order. J. Andy Zenge, father of the defendant, who had been napping with his head on a rail, straightened up. Leighton Zenge, a brother, and uncles and cousins from Canton, Mo., who took up a full bench, prepared for the big moment.

The judge put on his black robe and ascended the bench after clearing the courtroom of cameramen.

"Bring in the jury," he said.

The twelve men came in. Zenge marched out like a soldier, with long, firm step. He did not look as though he had just been roused from sleep.

The court warned against any demonstration and said that any one who participated in such would be called before the bar.

"Gentlemen, have you reached a verdict?" asked the court.

"We have, yes sir," said the jurors, rising.

The fateful paper was handed to

STALIN GOES HOME TO VISIT HIS MOTHER; IT'S NEWS FOR FIRST TIME

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, Oct. 18.—Josef Stalin went back to Tiflis, Georgia, his home town, yesterday and had a cup of tea with his mother, the Moscow press reported today.

It is likely that the soviet dictator goes home often enough to see the gray-haired woman who wanted her son to be a clergyman 30 years ago—but this is the first time it has ever been considered news. Until a few months ago the soviet held that a man's family life was his private affair.

Today, with the tightening of soviet divorce laws and the general campaign to strengthen family ties, cherish children, and respect for parents—all part of the new soviet morals—the busy nation's dictator sets the example for mother love, and puts aside business for a day for a visit with her.

Nice, Friendly Raiders Close Dev-Lin Again

A polite and friendly raid was made by county highway police and deputy sherifs yesterday on the Dev-Lin gambling house near Lincoln and Devon avenues in Tessville.

Nobody's feelings were hurt. Patrons were given plenty of time to gather up their winnings and leave. They were cheerfully urged to "be back tomorrow afternoon." Employés were allowed to stack up equipment and put the house money in the safe.

The Dev-Lin heretofore has not been annoyed by raiders, but it was closed for three days after Aug. 25 when THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE published several candid camera shots of betters and gambling paraphernalia.

County Chief Leads Raid.

Chief Lester Laird of the county highway force led the "raiders," accompanied by Deputy Sherifs Don Healy and William Mandernack. Four uniformed highway policemen appeared later, after all the patrons had gone home.

It was about 4:33 p. m. and some four hundred patrons were in the one story building when Laird and his gentlemanly force arrived. Many of the customers were women, whose garb and conversation suggested they were housewives.

They were placing bets on the races, playing the slot machines, sipping beer, and conversing about this and that.

Breaks Up Happy Group.

Half a dozen roulette wheels were spinning merrily, and blackjack and dice games were going full blast. Mr. James Brown—if that be his name—the manager of the place, surveyed all with a benignant eye as from a loud speaker came the announcement of the fourth race at Sportsman's Park.

Then came an interruption in the announcement.

"Ladies and gentlemen," said the announcer, "I'm frightfully sorry, but I guess we'll close for the rest of the afternoon. Don't be alarmed, and don't hurry. Just take your time, and walk out slowly by both of the entrances. And, folks, be sure and be back tomorrow afternoon—we'll be open then."

BRITISH SAILORS GO TO RESCUE OF ITALIANS AS BLASTS KILL SIX

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Oct. 18.—(AP)—British sailors went to the rescue of Italians today when two boiler explosions aboard the Italian liner Ausonia killed six members of the crew and injured 20. The explosions set fire to the vessel as it entered this port from Haifa, Palestine.

Despite flames reaching out from the Italian ship, a British sailor aboard a small ship cut the Ausonia's anchor and she was beached. Passengers had been safely removed.

The British hospital ship Maine, on duty in the harbor, went to the aid of the flaming Italian vessel, along with other craft flying the union jack. The captain of the Ausonia warmly praised the work of the rescuers.

ENGINEER FOUND SHOT TO DEATH IN RIVER SHACK

Moline, Ill., Oct. 18.—(AP)—T. A. Olson of Morris, Ill., was found shot to death tonight in a shack he occupied here as construction superintendent for the Powers-Thompson company of Joliet.

A mysterious call for a doctor was traced by a telephone operator to the shack, about two miles from the center of town, on the Mississippi river, and a doctor responding found Olson fatally shot with what police said was a .45 caliber revolver.

No gun was found on the premises, police said. Olson was about 35.

W. T. Colwell, general superintendent of the Powers company in Joliet was mystified by the attack on Olson.

"Olson lived in his office," Colwell said. "Perhaps some one thought he kept money there and killed him to get it. The job there is practically done and there never has been any hint of labor trouble. Olson was an industrious, conscientious worker, and to my knowledge had no enemies. He was shot five times."

Quake Razes Helena Walls; One Is Killed

Helena, Mont., Oct. 18.—(AP)—A violent earthquake shook western Montana tonight, tearing at the mountainous backbone of the continental divide and spending its full force in Helena, where one death, several injuries, and widespread damage resulted. The tremor also extended into Washington and Idaho.

Minor fires started by the earth shocks here were extinguished quickly, but estimates of the damage ran into hundreds of thousands of dollars. A new half million dollar high school, which went into use this fall, suffered severely.

Soldiers Are Called Out.

Col. E. H. Williams, commander of the 163d infantry, Montana National Guard, ordered members of the Helena company to report in uniform.

With a roar and a rumble the quake struck Helena at 8:47 p. m. Chicago time, and for an hour and a half jostled the Montana capital with successive minor shocks.

As store fronts toppled into the streets here and the city was plunged into darkness and confusion citizens dashed into open parks and families sped in automobiles to an open valley.

Shocks Felt in Many Cities.

Almost the entire western half of the state felt the shifting of the earth's substructure. Reports of quaking which resulted in negligible damage came from Bozeman, Butte, Billings, Missoula, Shelby, and a half dozen smaller cities extending from Yellowstone National park north to near the Canadian border. Less severe tremors occurred at Spokane and Walla Walla, Wash., and Lewiston, Boise, and Moscow, Idaho.

Dave Miner, a 27 year old Negro, was killed here when bricks and cornice stones toppled upon him from a swaying building.

Shocks Started Week Ago.

The series of shocks started early last Saturday morning, just after 1 a. m. Since that time the earth has quivered at intervals, but the jittery citizenry soon became accustomed to the slight tremors.

Almost daily since the first shocks began the tremors have caused no damage at Helena and by today they became a topic for joking. But the quivering earth tonight turned jests into deep fear.

The tremor did considerable damage at East Helena, a smelter town five miles east of the capital city. There store fronts fell to the street, brick-faced walls toppled, and building cornices crashed. Windows popped out throughout Helena.

Stores Filled with Débris.

The four story National Biscuit company warehouse in Helena collapsed and is in ruins. Downtown Helena stores were filled with débris from merchandise knocked from the shelves.

Three hundred students celebrating a football victory at Intermountain Union college were unhurt when the wall of a gymnasium in which a dance was being held caved in.

Helena, in southern Montana, has a population of about 12,000 persons. It is located in Last Chance gulch, famous for its gold ore in early Montana history.

George Joffe, assistant superintendent of Yellowstone National park, reported the shock also was felt at Mammoth, within park boundaries.

Spokane Is Jarred.

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 18.—(AP)—An earthquake rocked Spokane tonight, rattling windows and sending persons scurrying excitedly from many apartment houses. No damage was reported.

BRITAIN, FRANCE, ITALY MOVE TO EASE TENSION

Angers Soothed by Diplomatic Deals.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Fears that all Europe was on the brink of another great war lifted tonight.

Simultaneous action in London, Paris, and Rome swept aside the black war clouds and great hopes are entertained that the danger of a European conflict has been averted—for the time being at least.

First of all, news reached London that Premier Pierre Laval of France has promised the help of the French navy and the use of French naval bases in case Italy attacked the British fleet in the Mediterranean.

Reply Called Satisfactory.

Although the text of the French reply to the British demand for a "showdown" has not been received in London, Laval's assurance that his nation is ready to stand by Britain is believed to be entirely satisfactory.

So pleased were the British that they immediately announced they were ready to withdraw their giant battle cruisers, the Hood and the Renown. These two men-of-war are the greatest ships of the British armada of 150 vessels now concentrated in the Mediterranean. Laval had appealed for the removal of these warships from the Mediterranean and had informed the British their presence was regarded by Italy as a distinct threat of war.

The British government announced its readiness to withdraw the ships conditional upon their replacement by two French battleships and the withdrawal of Italian troops from Libya.

Britain Soothes Mussolini.

While Laval lessened London's worries by his promise of help in case of war, Britain soothed Premier Mussolini's anger in Rome.

Sir Eric Drummond, British ambassador to Rome, called upon the dictator and told him that Britain has no quarrel with Italy, no intention of attacking her and only desires to bring about peace in Africa as quickly as possible.

Mussolini also was told Britain has never considered taking military sanctions against Italy. Finally Mussolini was informed that concentration of the British fleet in the Mediterranean was only the most obvious precautionary measure in view of the violent anti-British campaign in the Italian press and Italian's military moves in Libya along the western border of Egypt.

All Can Claim Victory.

The diplomatic maneuverings were regarded as "face saving" by all three powers.

Britain now knows she will have France's help if the worst should come with Italy. The British also feel the Italians will not provoke an "incident" in the face of this "alliance." Laval, too, can claim a victory. He persuaded the British to withdraw their biggest ships from the Mediterranean, thereby creating a better atmosphere for his campaign for peace.

Finally, Mussolini may feel he has compelled the British to do an about face and that he will face nothing worse than economic sanctions in his conquest of Ethiopia.

France Yields to Britain.

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

PARIS, Oct. 18.—France's "favorable" reply to Great Britain's demand for assurance of aid if the vast British fleet is attacked in the Mediterranean was announced officially tonight.

It was dispatched to London, French officials said, after Premier Pierre Laval had been appeased by an assurance Britain has no present intention of taking military sanctions [penalties] or erecting a blockade against Italy.

Peace Offer Reported.

French officialdom declined to comment on a report Premier Mussolini of Italy has indicated a willingness to submit terms for peace with Ethiopia. It was stated, without confirmation, that Ambassador Cerruti of Italy had called on Laval and out-fined the basis on which Italy was prepared to enter negotiations.

[Dispatches from Addis Ababa yesterday said Emperor Haile Selassie declared that reported peace proposals by Premier Laval embodying the creation of automonous provinces in Tigre and Ogaden under Italian rule and the cession of Harrar to Italy were "utterly unacceptable."]

The French note to London was reported reliably to have interpreted paragraph 3, article XVI., of the league of nations' covenant as making mutual support imperative for any member of the league which might be the object of reprisals by an aggressor nation.

This was regarded in informed circles as meaning France will expect Britain's instant aid if she ever is attacked by Germany while taking league sanctions in the future.

Previously, Laval had indicated he would submit his reply for French cabinet approval on Monday.

Seeks Britain's Intentions.

Furthermore, he was represented as withholding a promise of naval aid until he learned Britain's intentions toward Italy. Presumably, however, he consulted leading cabinet members today and gave Britain the immediate response she wanted. The meeting of the cabinet then was fixed for Tuesday.

First news that the premier had submitted a reply he deemed "favorable" came from the British embassy. The British diplomats, however, declined to state whether they considered the reply "favorable" from their own standpoint.

It was sent immediately to London, after it had been handed to Sir Russell Clerk, the British ambassador, in a late call at the foreign office.

Calls Reply "Very Full."

A British embassy communique described the reply as "very full," and while declining comment on its nature, concluded:

"It is understood the president of the council [Laval], before leaving for Clermont-Ferrand this afternoon, expressed the opinion that the reply was plainly affirmative to all questions put to him by his majesty's government."

Unofficially it was said Clerk had told Laval that Britain is not thinking of military sanctions, blockades, closing the Suez canal, or any other measure beyond the international decisions now being taken under the league of nations ægis against Italy. Furthermore, Britain was reported to have promised to shun any penalties of her own, outside of the league.

Demand for "Reciprocity."

In some French quarters it was supposed Laval had reminded the British ambassadors that London has not yet accepted French conditions for "reciprocity" in mutual assistance.

France still is anxious to receive Britain's mutual aid assurances for the future, in the case Germany starts trouble on the continent.

There was a suggestion Laval may have asked both Il Duce and the British to swallow some of their "national pride" and forgo a struggle for "prestige" for the sake of keeping Europe peaceful.

The premier, with parliamentary reaction on any support of Britain to consider, is expected to inform the chamber of deputies' foreign affairs committee on the status of Franco-British relations and to outline his position on the whole Italo-Ethiopian question on Wednesday.

ITALIAN-BRITISH PEACE FORMULA HINTED IN ROME

Government Says Doors "Are Not Shut."

ROME, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Italy let it be known officially tonight that "all doors are not shut" to peaceful settlement of its differences with Great Britain over the Ethiopian war.

This terse hint, in the form of an official communique, was dropped suddenly into the midst of peace talks which, informed sources said, were getting down to "bed rock" in an attempt to halt the conflict in Africa.

"Conversations in normal diplomatic channels are proceeding between Paris and Rome and Paris and London," said the communique. "There is nothing specific at the moment, but the fact that the conversations are proceeding shows all doors are not shut."

British Envoy Sees Mussolini.

Simultaneously, a government spokesman conceded that a long conversation today between Sir Eric Drummond, the British ambassador, and Premier Mussolini likely had served to ease the tension.

[An exchange telegraph dispatch from Rome said it was rumored the conversations had resulted in an agreement whereby some of Great Britain's Mediterranean warships would be replaced by French craft in return for a reduction of Italian troops in Libya.]

The terse official communique was regarded in Rome generally as an indication that the latest crisis in Anglo-Italian relations had passed.

Italians were gratified at reports that Great Britain had indicated to Premier Laval that the British government did not contemplate application of sanctions single handedly against Italy, but would stick to collective action with other members of the league.

Seen as Auspicious Sign.

This was considered by informed Italians as a definitly auspicious sign, as they professed to believe that league members will never swing together in sanctions approaching blockades and other military action.

There was considerable speculation in these informed circles whether a prospective simultaneous withdrawal of British naval reënforcements in the Mediterranean and Italian troops in Libya may have been the subject of conversations today between Il Duce and the British ambassador.

It was recalled, however, that only yesterday a government spokesman said Italian troops had been sent to the north African colony because of native unrest on the frontier and that the number of troops could not be reduced without jeopardizing the security of the colony.

Prepare to Renew Drive.

Despite the evidences of negotiation, Italy's big war machine was about ready tonight to roll south again in its next big push.

Correspondents with the army in Northern Ethiopia reported that many thousands of laborers and engineers are working desperately to smooth the way for an attack.

Scores of air scouts found large enemy forces gathering around the Makale region, 60 miles southeast of Aduwa, which is held by the Italians. Their numbers were not given, but soon the Italians expect the overdue "big battle" which will demonstrate their military power.

Italy, it was announced, has promised other nations it not only will avoid bombarding Addis Ababa, the Ethiopian capital, but also Diredawa, provided there are no "military activities" there. Diredawa is an important town on the railroad to Djibouti, French Somaliland, Ethiopia's only access to the sea.

GEN. DEVERELL IS NAMED BRITISH ARMY STAF CHIEF

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Gen. Sir Cyril John Deverell, who has the reputation of being one of the best British divisional commanders in France in the latter part of the war, was named tonight to succeed Field Marshal Sir Archibald Montgomery-Massingberd as chief of the imperial general staf next April.

Gen. Deverell, 61 years old, is at present general officer and commander in chief of the eastern command. He will be succeeded in this post by Gen. Sir William Ironside, colonel commandant of the royal artillery.

It is generally believed that Montgomery-Massingberd's supercession is a preparatory step to his taking up an important command in Egypt. Last March he made an exhaustive tour of inspection of the Egyptian military situation.

Italy Calls Blacksmiths to Serve in African War

ROME, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Cavalry and the hardy mule seem expected by Italy to play quite a part in the African war. All blacksmiths of the kingdom who served in the military classes from 1905 to 1910 were called back to the colors today. These horseshoe experts, who ordinarily are rank privates, were promised immediate promotion to corporals.

BRITISH TROOPS TRANSFERRED TO EGYPT FROM INDIA

Speed War Preparations in North Africa.

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Unconfirmed reports that Great Britain has made representations to Italy over the massing of troops on the Libyan-Egyptian border were followed today by reinforcement of the British garrison in Egypt.

The first battalion of the Manchester regiment and three other units, which were en route home from India, were diverted to Alexandria. One Egyptian and one British battalion were transferred to the western desert near the Libyan frontier.

May Restrict Foreign Rights.

The rights of foreigners in Egypt may be drastically altered if plans under discussion here in connection with the application of penalties against Italy are adopted.

It was learned from a high authority that because of Egypt's strategic position in relation to the Suez canal, Egyptian and British leaders are considering the question of at least the temporary abolition of capitulations, under which all foreigners must be turned over to their own nationals in event of a violation of the laws of this country.

The belief was generally held in political circles that the activities of the large Italian population in Egypt are responsible for official negotiations now under way.

Little Effect on Americans.

[In Washington it was said the temporarary abolition of extraterritorial rights by Egypt would have little effect upon Americans in the African country. Most of the 800 Americans in Egypt are missionaries and educators.]

Referring to a recent cafe fight here involving two Italians, who were deported, the Egyptian newspaper Misr said:

"If it were not for the well known peaceful disposition of the Egyptians, this would have developed into a general outburst."

For the first time some sections of the Egyptian press hinted at the "danger of revolt." The newspaper Al Siyassa said:

"An uprising is likely to occur if the people continue to be kept in the dark."

This warning was meant for Premier Nessim, who, the newspapers fear, is not obtaining adequate concessions from the British, such as a promise of eventual military evacuation and restoration of the constitution and parliament, in return for suspension of capitulations.

Capitulations were suspended once before, in 1914, due to military necessities. The newspaper Al Mokattam, organ of Wafd, an organization which represents 90 per cent of the Egyptian voting public, pointed out capitulatory powers did not object to suspension then because they were allies of Great Britain, but intimated that nations joining Britain in penalties against Italy could hardly be considered similarly as "allies."

CUBA TO BREAK OFF ALL TRADE WITH ITALY AND HELP ETHIOPIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 18.—President Mendieta tomorrow will sign a decree adopting all financial and economic sanctions recommended by the league of nations against Italy. Economic, financial, and banking measures effective Monday will paralyze Italo-Cuban trade. The decree includes the prohibition of sales of sugar.

To aid Ethiopia further a delegate of that country is reported to be arriving here tomorrow to negotiate for the wholesale purchase of arms and war materials for immediate shipment to Ethiopia.

Cuba, though it does not manufacture arms or munitions, can purchase all it wants in the United States and, according to international law, can resell it to Ethiopia, Secretary of State Jose Barnet said.

KING IBN-SAUD WEDS DAMASCUS WOMAN BY PROXY

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 18.—(AP)—A message to the newspaper Mokattam today said King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia was married at Damascus, Syria, by proxy.

A delegation of 40 prominent sheiks attended the ceremony, representing the absent bridegroom. The bride was the daughter of Sheik Nawal El Shaalan of Damascus.

The Saudi religion permits four wives. King Ibn Saud has never exceeded that number, but has divorced many wives.

Ethiopians Shoot Italians with Guns Made in Italy

ROME, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Reliable quarters said today Italian troops in East Africa were receiving fire from guns manufactured by four nations, including Italy. It was said weapons captured from the Ethiopians were British, Belgian, German, and Italian makes. The Italian weapons were believed to be part of the armaments Italy sold to Ethiopia at the time of the conclusion of the "treaty of friendship" in 1928. Ethiopia never paid for them, it was said.

MEXICO SENDS TROOPS AGAINST SONORA REBELS

NOGALES, Sonora, Mex., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Heavy federal reinforcements were reported en route to Sonora today to crush bands of raiders which have assassinated mayors and police chiefs in several towns of the state.

President Enrique Aguayo of Nogales said a regiment of infantry had left Guadalajara, Jalisco, to garrison various cities and towns, and a large force of cavalry had been sent into northeastern Sonora from Chihuahua. Officials here arrested two men on suspicion of rebellious activity.

Col. Medina Chavez, commander of a small detachment of federal troops at Magdalena, went unarmed into the raiders' stronghold at Altar, Sonora, and conferred with rebel leaders yesterday. By agreement, Juan Caballero, a leader of the insurgents, was named president of Altar. A raiding force appeared on the outskirts of Magdalena last night but withdrew after a conference with Col. Chavez. Unverified reports said a band of raiders was gathering near Sonoyta, opposite Sasabe.

A new war clause was introduced protecting shipowners against losses caused by penalties and other measures taken by the league against Italy.

Japs Tell British They Will Come to New Naval Parley

60 ETHIOPIANS REPORTED DEAD IN ITALIAN AIR RAID

Fascists Shoot Down Natives from Sky.

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, Oct. 18.—The Ethiopian government reported tonight that a fleet of low-flying Italian airplanes had raked the strategic northern village of Makale with machine guns.

Forsaking more expensive bombs, the government said, the Fascist flyers sprayed the natives with bullets. Casualties were not announced.

[An Exchange Telegraph dispatch said sixty were killed at Makale by both machine guns and bombs.]

Makale is 60 miles southeast of Adowa, which was taken by the Italian armies in their first big push in the north. The town has been bombed from the air before. Count Galeazzo Ciano, Premier Mussolini's son-in-law, dropped explosives there only a few days ago.

Ethiopians Mass for Attack.

Ras Seyoum, the Ethiopian commander in the north, was said officially to be forming a new general staf in preparation for stiffer resistance.

Ethiopian sources said Italians along the Tigre front were digging trenches and constructing barbed wire defenses, fearing an assault by the hordes of Ras Seyoum.

The government reported casualties from "dud" air bombs in another district, which was not named. Curious natives who had never seen such things picked up two of the bombs and banged them on a rock. They exploded, blowing several persons to pieces.

Another government contention was that many Italians in the Italian colony of Eritrea, fearing Great Britain may cut off their exit from East Africa, were fleeing to the Sudan. Merchants and officials at Massaua, Eritrea, were said to have been instructed to send their families away as soon as possible.

Says Italians Use Gas.

Dr. Robert William Hockman of Wheaton, Ill., American medical missionary, arrived in Addis Ababa today for medical supplies. He said Italian flyers "are using gas bombs, but so far they have caused very little damage."

Hockman, who has been on the southeastern front, said "most of the casualties, which still are very few, have been caused by fragments of bombs and machine guns fired from a very low altitude."

The Italians, he added, have carried on no serious land operation as yet in the Ogaden sector, "and have used practically no infantry, hesitating to send men into the vast and waterless desert."

"However, there are many indications that point to the launching of a big offensive," the missionary asserted. "I am rushing back by the next train to help the casualties."

Southern Army Stationary.

The Italian army in the south, it was reported, has not moved from its base along the British Somaliland frontier, and Ethiopian regulars have not been seen anywhere by the invaders.

It was believed the warriors of Haile Selassie were holding well-defended positions back in the desert, near oases where there are food and water.

There, it was thought, they will wait for the untried Italians to cross the waterless sands, exposed to swift nomad bands of guerrillas. When the Black Shirts are weary, thirsty, and without spirit, the Ethiopian armies will fall on them.

[A Reuter's dispatch said the morale of the Italians on the southern front was low because of fever and the difficult terrain. It reported the capture of an Italian pilot who landed behind the Ethiopian lines near Dolo. His companion was said to have been eaten by a crocodile while attempting to ford a swollen stream.]

Completely cut off from the world in a huge, weird house surrounded by high walls, the Italian minister, Luigi Vincigigliucci, today appealed to the government for something to read to help him while away the time before he leaves the country. Emperor Haile Selassie sent the isolated diplomat several bundles of French magazines, books, and papers.

Grim soldiers of the imperial guard are the only company allowed the minister, who once occupied the finest house in Addis Ababa, and entertained lavishly for foreign princes and diplomats.

Dr. Francis Janssens, Belgian dean of the diplomatic corps, was asked by the government to witness the Italian minister's eventual departure in order to forestall possible Italian inventions as to discourteous treatment. Janssens refused, apparently indicating displeasure on behalf of the diplomatic corps at Vincigigliucci's insistence on remaining after the negus had handed him has passports.

[Reuter's reports said Selassie had ordered twenty-five Wolamo tribesmen flogged after a hostile demonstration outside Vincigigliucci's house.]

The emperor today adopted a new war flag. On it the figure of St. George, Ethiopia's patron saint, is shown riding a white charger in battle against a background of red, yellow, and green, the national colors.

Report Ethiopians on March.

ASMARA, Eritrea, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Italian officials said today a huge Ethiopian army, part of it cavalry, was headed northward from the Dolo region, near the Italian Somaliland frontier, in an effort to cut off Italian troops.

Ras Desta Demtu, with an army of 100,000 at his command, they said, apparently hopes to combine with more than 60,000 Ethiopians concentrating for an attack on Gerlogubi, which the Italians are reported to hold.

Italian military observers believe the Ethiopians plan to make a surprise attack on the left wing of the Italian southern army, commanded by Gen. Rudolfo Graziani. Fascist planes have been observing the movements of the foe and the Italians will be "ready," the officers said.

The Fascist pilots said Ethiopian soldiers roll in the mud when they hear airplane motors in an attempt to camouflage themselves.

Report Italian Retreat.

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland, Oct. 18.—[Havas.]—An Italian column isolated in the Ethiopian desert north of French Somaliland regained Eritrea today after hard fighting.

The Italians, anticipating dissafection by Ras Yayou, sultan of Aussa, had intended to reach the Awash river and establish a base near the abundant water west of the French colony. They failed to reach their goal. Ethiopians were energetically holding Mount Mussa Ali and protecting the Aussa plain.

A son of the deposed and imprisoned former emperor of Ethiopia, Lij Yasu, the grandson of the famous Emperor Menelik, was closely guarded at Tadjoura, French Somaliland, after vain attempts had been made to kidnap him by persons whose nationality was not disclosed.

Reports reaching here from the Mount Mussa Ali region said Danakil warriors have poisoned a large number of wells in that area.

Ethiopian Chieftains with One Who Turned Traitor

All but one of these Ethiopian chiefs are aiding Emperor Haile Selassie in fighting the Italians. The bareheaded ones (left to right): Ras Seyoum, northern commander; Ras Kassa, who is aiding Seyoum; Ras Hailou and Haile Selassie Gugsa, son-in-law of the emperor, who turned against Ethiopia and has been set up by Italy as puppet king of Tigre province.

ITALIANS IN BRAZIL AND ARGENTINA MAP BOYCOTT OF BRITAIN

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Outstanding industrialists among Brazil's million Italians today discussed a boycott on British goods, whose sales in Brazil they estimated at about $125,000 daily. The industrialists met at the offices of Count Rudolfo Crespi and drew up tentative plans for a rigorous campaign throughout Brazil.

Under the plans, Fascists and sympathetic Italians in Brazil would turn from British merchandise to Brazilian substitutes, Italian imports, and goods from the United States and other nations which did not vote at Geneva for penalties against Italy.

Plan Boycott in Argentina.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Formation of an "Argentine committee for Italy" to promote a boycott of British products by Fascist sympathizing Italian residents of Argentina, was announced today. The committee was headed by Dr. Arturo Rossi and claims to represent the Italian colony here.

Italy Sends Envoy to Egypt to Try to Buy Gasoline

SUEZ, Egypt, Oct. 18.—[Reuters.]—An Italian official arrived here today from the Italian colony of Eritrea to negotiate for the purchase of gasoline for the Italian air force. Purchase of gasoline was reported to be becoming a difficult problem because Suez refineries were selling only for cash. Italians were said to have bought all chassis, engines, and trucks available in the Suez region for use in the East African campaign.

LEAGUE STRIVES TO PUT TEETH IN DRIVE ON ITALY

Finds Success Depends on Anglo-French Unity.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Oct. 18.—The economic bear trap which the league of nations has been feverishly improvising for use on Premier Mussolini was completed in its essential mechanism today but Geneva was waiting to spring it in the hope Paris and London first will agree as to what will be done if the trap does not hold.

The British are trying to obtain the support of the French navy for a blockade which they consider may be necessary to bring Mussolini to his knees—at least they consider that the knowledge economic penalties will be backed up by a blockade if necessary is essential to the success of these sanctions.

Oppose Military Sanctions.

Premier Laval of France is trying to keep the blockade hypothetical by pressing the British to give up their juridical rights under the league covenant of taking military sanctions any time they see fit. It is for this reason that full support of the French fleet in case of an Italian attack, which the British demand, is conditioned upon Britain having first received a mandate from the league to carry out the blockade.

By withholding or granting France's approval of military sanctions Laval would have something to bargain with in case the British prove intransigeant on eventual peace terms for Italy.

This is the background on what is going on at Geneva. It is generally conceded that the only chance for economic sanctions to have any effect on Mussolini is for the French and British to agree to back them up by a blockade if necessary.

Enforcement Hinges on Pact.

This is necessary for the psychological effects both on Mussolini and on the countries applying the sanctions. If the small powers see that France and Britain are sticking together and mean business it is believed they will enforce the sanctions seriously. If they do not, the machinery for punishing Italy will fall to pieces.

Then there will be nothing left for the British and the handful of militant anti-Italian countries to do but apply their own sanctions—military ones. That means war, but it is admitted that an agreement between France and Britain for an eventual naval blockade might mean war, too.

While awaiting the result of the Franco-British negotiations—the result deemed most likely here is French acquiescence to the British demand—Geneva is putting on paper specifications for the sanctions machinery.

Fix Sanctions Machinery.

Various organisms of the sanctions committee today completed draft resolutions covering the following points:

An embargo on Italian exports; an embargo on a list of essential raw materials to Italy, and plans for mutual support and compensation for nations whose economy is seriously damaged by the effort of applying sanctions.

It was decided that these measures must be applied simultaneously by all league members at the earliest possible date—Oct. 31 was set tentatively. All projects must be approved tomorrow by the committee of eighteen and then adopted by the whole sanctions committee.

A resolution binding league members to take reprisals against states which profiteer to the detriment of others by continuing to trade with Italy was adopted this afternoon by the compensations committee. This is primarily intended for "sanctions deserters" such as Austria and Hungary.

GREAT BRITAIN BUILDS FORTIFICATIONS ON THE PALESTINE COAST LINE

HAIFA, Palestine, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Acre, famed fortress of ancient and medieval times, is today the scene of feverish activity as the British military authorities continue the fortification of Palestine's coast line.

Two six inch guns are being erected near Acre, at the northern end of Haifa bay, and two more six inch guns are being placed near Bath Gallim, at the southern end. Both situations command a wide view of the bay and the harbor.

Two anti-aircraft guns are being placed near the Rutenberg electric power station on the Haifa road, southeast of Carmel. It is the key station in the electrification system which utilizes the waters of the Jordan river.

Haifa is the petroleum terminal for oil from the Mosul fields. It also links England with India by air.

It is understood that a special staf of 200 men is now on the way from England to erect and maintain defenses in Palestine.

ITALY BIDS FOR POLISH SUPPORT; SENDS MISSION

Negotiates for Purchase of War Supplies.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Oct. 18.—An Italian military mission has arrived in Poland and opened negotiations with the Polish government for the purchase of boots, blankets, and munitions. This was officially announced today.

The Italian government also has started an energetic propaganda campaign to win Polish support for Italy and to arouse opposition against penalties.

Promises Spoils to Poland.

Thousands of influential Poles have received through the mails an eighty page booklet published by a local Polish-Italian society, which is reported to have diplomatic and financial support. The Poles are urged to stand solidly with Italy in its fight to obtain colonies and the pamphlet says that should Italy be victorious in Ethiopia, it would improve Poland's chances to obtain colonies.

The booklet also makes a violent attack against England, alleging that London's "double-faced" policy conceals its aim to annex Ethiopia to the British empire.

Local editors report that the Italians are offering large subsidies to Warsaw newspapers.

Public Split on Issue.

The newspaper Goniec Warszawski began a questionnaire last Tuesday asking readers if they are for Ethiopia or Italy. The answers thus far, which total 5,000, reveal that public opinion is evenly split.

The offer of Italian support for Poland's colonial ambitions is a great temptation to the Poles. The chief of the political division of the Polish foreign office has declared that Poland's need for colonies will be brought before the league of nations at the first favorable moment and that Poland lost a great opportunity when it failed to demand the German colonies of Togo and Kamerun (Cameroons) at Versailles.

HENDERSON, HEAD OF ARMS PARLEY IS GRAVELY ILL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The condition of Arthur Henderson, former Labor leader, who recently underwent an operation, aroused grave anxiety today.

Henderson, who is 72 years old, has been in ill health for some years and this year suffered a severe attack of jaundice and stomach trouble, which necessitated an operation. His condition is said to have been weakened by his strenuous work as president of the disarmament conference and disappointment at its failure.

The former chairman of the Labor party received the Carnegie peace prize in 1933 and the Nobel peace prize in 1934.

RUSSIA IS LINKED WITH RUMANIA BY NEW BRIDGE

TIGHINA, Rumania, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The new railroad bridge over the Dniester river, connecting Rumania and Russia, was opened today with both Rumanian and Russian officials participating.

A delicate problem, which almost became an international incident, revolved around the question of what color the ceremonial ribbon should be. The Russians insisted the ribbon be a bright red. The Rumanians objected. At last they agreed on the traditional white.

Lincoln Ellsworth Sails on Voyage to South Pole

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Lincoln Ellsworth and Sir Hubert Wilkins departed today on their third antarctic expedition, on which Ellsworth hopes to fly over Antarctica. Their whaling ship, the Wyatt Earp sailed for the Chilean port Magallanes where they will remain ten days before going on to their base at Decepcion island.

AUSTRIAN TROOPS VOW ALLEGIANCE TO DUCE'S FRIEND

Prince-Dictator Takes Up New Powers.

VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 18.—(AP)—A torchlight parade and speeches ended Austria's first day under a new government in which Prince Ernst von Starhemberg, intimate of Premier Mussolini of Italy, strengthened his hand. The prince was made commander of a new militia of 175,000 men.

Detachments of Heimwehr men [members of the private army of Vice Chancellor von Starhemberg] from the provinces of lower Austria, who had been rushed to Vienna following yesterday's cabinet shift, were marched past the chancellery to pay their allegiance to the new régime.

No Change in Foreign Policy.

Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg, addressing Austrian industrialists, assured them tonight there would be no change in the nation's foreign policy and praised the former dual monarchy as a typical example of how economic regions should be arranged.

"Today there are 28 government states in Europe, which means there are 28 trafic-hampering persons and economic barriers," he said.

Fey Claims He Resigned.

Fey's newspaper, the Oesterreichische Abendszeitung, said today the former minister was not forced out of the cabinet but withdrew voluntarily after Schuschnigg had told him it was for the welfare of the nation.

The paper added that Fey would continue to work for the interests of Austria, and had counseled his Vienna heimwehr men to keep cool heads.

Austria was quiet. Not one disorderly incident was reported to authorities.

HITLER DECREES HEALTH RULES FOR MARRIAGES

All Couples Ordered to Pass Government Test.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 18.—The German cabinet convened here for its first fall session today and, guided by Reichsfuehrer Hitler, promulgated a new marriage law. The cabinet also decreed the union of 21 state banks under the control of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, minister of economics, and launched the drive for winter relief funds.

The expected publication of measures for the enforcement of anti-Jewish laws prepared at the recent Nazi party convention at Nuremberg failed to materialize.

Fear Olympic Boycott.

Failure to publish the anti-Jewish decrees is asserted to be due to the Olympic games which are to take place in Germany next year. Olympic committees in several countries have warned the Germans that if new restrictive measures are enforced against Jews and Jewish athletes no teams will be sent to Germany.

The new marriage laws provide that couples applying to registrars must obtain certificates of health from the public health office. Jail terms and nullification of the marriage will be visited upon couples who disobey the new laws.

Forbidden Marriages.

1. When either party is afflicted with a contagious disease which mifiht afflict an offspring.
2. When either party is incapable of managing his or her own affairs or is under a guardian.
3. When either is suffering from nervous troubles which are considered against the interests of the community.
4. When either is suffering from an inherited disease, excepting, however, when the proposed mate is sterile.

Longs to Be in Soviet; O.K., Says Judge; Notifies U. S.

Martin Reich, 28 years old, 2154 Ainslie street, received an unexpected reply yesterday when he was arraigned before Municipal Judge N. J. Bonelli in the Shakespeare avenue court on a charge of disorderly conduct. Reich said he was a communist and wished he were in Russia. "That is fine," the judge declared, "I know of no better way to serve Americans." He said he would turn Reich over to immigration officials. Reich, alleged to have been receiving two shares of relief supplies under different names, was arrested after he caused a commotion in a relief station.

CZECHS EXPEL POLISH CONSUL; WARSAW IS ANGRY; PLANS ACTION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, Oct. 18.—The antagonism between Poland and Czechoslovakia, which has already resulted in both countries enlarging their garrisons along each other's frontiers, became sharper today. The Czech government summarily ordered Alexander Clotz, the Polish consul at Morovska Ostrava, to leave Czechoslovakia. The Czechs charged that Clotz was responsible for much of the unrest in this district and had utilized his position as consul to provoke trouble.

In 1919 Morovska Ostrava was the scene of bitter fighting between Czech and Polish troops for possession of this rich coal field. About 100,000 Poles live in the district. The Polish-Czech war was stopped by the council of ambassadors, which fixed the present frontier.

Poland has never relinquished its claim to this territory. Recently the Polish residents held a massmeeting and sent a telegram to the inspector general of the Polish army, Gen. Edward Rydz-Smigly, asking him to send the Polish army to rescue them from the Czechs.

GERMAN UNION OF FRATERNITIES HOLDS LAST FETE

EISENACH, Germany, Oct. 18.—(AP) The German federation of fraternities was dissolved today because of Nazi pressure and joined the National Socialist German Students bund. The dissolution occurred at the place of the founding of the federation here on its 118th anniversary.

About 3,500 members, with gay caps and flags, attended for the last time a festival at nearby Wartburg castle where they have conducted their annual conventions since Oct. 18, 1817. Sadly the members sang student songs before hearing Nazi orators declare that the federation's motto, "honor and freedom of the fatherland" has been achieved by Nazism.

Nazis have repeatedly attacked the fraternities in the belief they are centers of reactionism.

LABOR LEADERS JOIN MOVE FOR DAYLIGHT TIME

Will Speak for Plan at Hearing Thursday.

A number of officials of labor unions, chief foes of the twice a year time change under the present daylight saving law, yesterday joined leaders in other fields in urging that the city conserve more daylight by adopting eastern standard time the year round. They will be represented at hearings next Thursday on the time ordinance introduced in the city council by Ald. B. A. Cronson [4th].

While labor in the past has persistently opposed the summer daylight changes, it is expected that the unions in general will be neutral on the eastern time measure, a high official said yesterday. The fact that the extension of daylight time the year round will offer benefits for a large number of crafts is creating this new position, he pointed out.

Advantage to Many Workers.

"Daylight time in winter provides advantages for many union workers and disadvantages for others," the official said. "Even within some crafts there is equal division on the matter. Labor generally admits that there are certain advantages for the general public in the extra hours of daylight possible under eastern time.

"The probabilities are that, instead of fighting permanent daylight time, labor generally will be neutral, since there is this division and since many unions with large memberships would undoubtedly get benefits. We're told that the railroads which fought summer daylight time are now neutral.

"Locals which feel they will be adversely affected by the time change will undoubtedly appear before the council to oppose it. Still other unions, who will directly benefit, will appear to urge the plan. But, on the whole, because of this division I think we will be neutral."

Only Two Unions Oppose.

At the first hearing on permanent daylight time last Tuesday only two unions, the milk wagon drivers and the postal carriers, appeared against it. Officials of two unions were quoted as favorable, and other leaders present were noncommittal.

Union officers who would be quoted on the plan yesterday were favorable. They included:

FRANK RANGO, secretary and treasurer of the Barbers' local, No. 548: "Our union has 3,500 barbers, and we favor the change because our men arise early and they are anxious to get home earlier in time to have a little freedom in their homes and to get more time in the open air. The change will benefit our health."

MICHAEL ARTERY, business agent, Machinery Movers' union: "I am personally in favor of more daylight and I firmly believe that the members of our local also favor it. More daylight means a smaller gas and electric light bill for our members, in addition to health advantages. Further, I believe the vast majority of the 110,000 members of the building trades want it."

FRED M. KOFINK, secretary, International Metal Engravers' union, local No. 1: "Our members work inside using their eyes and in fall and winter it begins to get dark about 4:15 p. m. I think the jewelry workers especially will favor this extra hour of daylight."

JOSEPH CRISPINO, secretary, United Garment Workers, No. 180: "Our workers favor more daylight as a health measure generally, but especially because it will give them more daylight for their work. It will also cut down the light bills."

F. A. HIGBEE, secretary, Photo Finishers' union: "More daylight means more opportunity to take pictures and it will improve our business 10 to 15 per cent."

JOSEPH A. SHENOHA, secretary, International Jewelry Workers' union, local No. 4: "We favor eastern time for Chicago because it means more daylight for our members who are eye workers, constantly busy with delicate work on platinum and gold."

FRANK R. ADAMS, Chicago Electrotypers' union, local No. 3: "I am personally for more daylight because it means our members will not have to work so long under artificial light. Artificial light causes eye strain and 80 per cent of our members wear glasses. Further, we generally finish work by 5 p. m., and we welcome the change for more daylight. I believe that our members will support the plan."

ARNO C. HOFFMAN, Photo Engravers' union, No. 5: "I personally favor the change. It will give us more daylight and eliminate the present time change twice a year. The members I have talked with want more daylight for Chicago."

Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen said that the time change will not impair the efficiency of the postoffice.

"We function just as efficiently under summer daylight time," Mr. Kruetgen said. "Extending it will not cause us difficulty. A part of the workers in the department will, however, be required to rise an hour earlier than they now do in winter."

WOMAN IN AUTO KILLED BY TRAIN; DRIVER UNHURT

Mrs. Gertrude Ackerman, 42 years old, of Wheeling, whose husband, William, owns a Wheeling garage, was killed yesterday when the automobile in which she was riding was struck by a locomotive while crossing the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern railroad tracks at Milwaukee avenue, 2½ miles south of Libertyville.

Mrs. Ackerman's daughter, Lonnabelle, 17 years old, driver of the car, was uninjured. Thomas Pendleton, engineer of the train, said it was moving slowly at the time of the accident.

At 4 p. m. yesterday 755 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1, according to the coroner's office. In that period 588 had been killed in trafic accidents within the Chicago city limits and 13,703 had been injured. Cook county deaths yesterday:

Carl Hillander, 53 years old, 1300 Wilson avenue, died in the County hospital yesterday of injuries incurred on Oct. 9 when he was struck while walking in McCormick road near Devon avenue in Tessville, by a car driven by Frieda Buelot, 3615 North Linder avenue.

Mrs. Elsie Kessen, 33 years old, 3416 Page avenue, killed when she was struck by an automobile which swerved off the road at Ottawa avenue and the Forest Preserve drive, on the northwest side. The driver of the car fled. He was not identified.

Joseph Monaco, 60 years old, 245 Alexander street, died at the Peoples hospital of injuries suffered Thursday when he was struck at 23d street and Wentworth avenue by an automobile driven by Peter Fee, 5712 Normal avenue.

The body of a man identified through papers in his pocket as that of Louis Abrams, 70 years old, of Chicago, was found beside a highway near La Grange, Ind. Apparently he had been struck by an automobile.

Escapes Injury in Tangle.

Joseph Bach, 51 years old, 3936 Leonard avenue, narrowly escaped serious injury when the truck which he was driving was involved in a double accident with two street cars at Clark street and Burton place. One knocked his truck into the other.

MAYOR APPROVES DRAFT OF BILL TO LICENSE DRIVERS

Mayor Kelly yesterday gave his approval to the drivers' license bill for Chicago which the corporation counsel's office has drafted at the request of State Senator Harold G. Ward [Dem., Chicago].

The bill, drawn up by Joseph F. Grossman, first assistant corporation counsel, would give a city of more than 500,000 population, which would affect Chicago only, the authority to license automobile drivers within its corporate limits.

The ordinance to be passed by the city council could then, if the council so wished, provide only for the licensing of drivers who live within the city limits or could be extended to include the licensing of motorists who drive into the city.

LOVE IN A TENT LEAVES MILITARY MAN'S WIFE COLD

Chester A. Moss, 33 years old, 7106 Ingleside avenue, a first lieutenant in the Illinois National Guard, was ordered yesterday by Superior Judge Rudolph F. Desort to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court for being $60 in arrears on alimony payments to his wife, Mrs. Frances G. Moss, 29 years old, 833 East 87th street. Hearing was set for Tuesday. Mrs. Moss, who has a divorce bill pending, testified under questioning of her attorney, Harry X. Cole, that her husband practiced military tactics on her and had forced her to spend their honeymoon in a tent.

ZENGE GETS LIFE PRISON TERM FOR MURDER OF BAUER

Jury Takes 14 Ballots on Mutilation Verdict.

the judge, who gave it to Clerk Clarence Gernhofer to read. It was as follows:

"We, the jury, find the defendant, Mandeville Zenge, guilty of murder as charged in the indictment and we fix his punishment in the penitentiary for the rest of his natural life. And we further find from the evidence that the defendant is now about the age of 26 years."

Sigh Spreads Over Courtroom.

There was no demonstration in the room except the sigh that comes from human hearts in moments of tension and suspense, a slight noise like the sound of wind in the trees. Then the bailif gavels began to pound.

Judge Harrington then thanked the jurors for their service to the people and dismissed them.

Attorney Joseph Roach for the defense at once moved for a new trial. The motion was set for argument on Oct. 25. The defense lawyers had planned to appeal any verdict which gave their client more than 14 years in prison. They had been almost willing to plead their client guilty at one time if they could have been assured of such a punishment.

The defendant marched out of the room by the side of the bailifs with about the same step with which he had entered. When he was taken back to the jail, Ed Nettles, the night jailer, asked him what the verdict was. Zenge swung his shoulders in a nonchalant manner and said, "I got life."

Mrs. Bauer Has No Comment.

Mal Coghlan, one of the prosecutors, told the news over the phone to Louise Schaffer Bauer, Zenge's onetime sweetheart, whose sudden marriage to Dr. Bauer last July turned the young Missourian to thoughts of vengeance and resulted in his crime of mutilation. Mrs. Bauer was a state witness and has been staying at a west side hotel. She had no comment on the verdict, Coghlan reported.

Zenge's mother, Mrs. Alice Zenge, who is in weak health, was not informed of the verdict until her husband reached the home of her sister, Mrs. Tina Wuestenfeld, 3038 Franklin boulevard, where she spent the evening in suspense.

The elder Zenge said of the verdict: "We will appeal the case if I can possibly raise the money. I feel that we should appeal a sentence of that length," and his relatives who were in court nodded confirmation.

Asked if he felt that his son had been granted a fair trial, Mr. Zenge spoke slowly and carefully.

"I am not a lawyer, and of course I don't understand some of the things that happened. But I do think that some of the evidence defense attorneys tried to present was very important. Some of the things that were ruled out might have changed the result.

Full Truth Not Told, He Says.

"I have no bitter feeling for any one. I think that some of the things Mr. Dougherty [Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty] said in closing were untrue, but he might have thought they were true. I shook hands with him after the case went to the jury and told him how I felt. I think he did what he thought was right and said what he thought was true, but some of it was not."

He was asked whether in his opinion all of the truth relative to Mandeville, Louise Schaffer Bauer, and Dr. Bauer had been brought in evidence. His answer was a brief "No."

"Mr. Zenge, do you think that it should have been brought out, and would it have helped your boy?" he was asked.

He thought at length before replying.

"I don't know; I don't know," he finally said. "Perhaps more of it should have been told, but there are others to consider."

No member of the family showed any change as the verdict was pronounced. J. Andy Sr. clasped the hand of his brother, Harry, and swallowed rapidly. Leighton leaned over and patted his father on the back. Least concern was shown by the defendant, who never lost the stolid stare that has characterized him throughout the trial. As he was taken out of the court room he managed a slight smile for the photographers, but had nothing to say.

The final hours of the spectacular trial were packed with intense human drama—with Assistant State's Attorney Dougherty in his closing argument for the state imploring the jury to punish the defendant in accord with the atrocious nature of the crime.

State Asks Severe Penalty.

The prosecutor did not at this time specifically ask the death penalty, but that had been taken care of in the morning session by Assistant State's Attorney Coghlan, who demanded that Zenge be sent to the electric chair after a defense motion for a directed verdict of not guilty was overruled by Judge Harrington.

The peculiar nature of the case, particularly the defense, was described by Mr. Dougherty as follows:

"This is a trick defense, a defense that is no defense. Zenge says: 'I didn't kill Dr. Bauer, but if I did I didn't kill him in Cook county. If I did kill him in Cook county I was crazy at the time.'

"Does not his every act look like sanity? Didn't he admit that he had cut Dr. Bauer? He tries to put the blame for death of the doctor upon the Jackson Park hospital, where he was taken when Zenge left him in the filling station at 71st place and Stony Island avenue bleeding to death.

"Look at his conduct during this trial. The only thing on which you can predicate insanity is the testimony of his father, brother, cousins. You have the power to so determine, but you have not the right."

Mistrial Motion Denied.

At this point Attorney Roach arose for the defense and moved the withdrawal of a juror and the declaration of a mistrial, asserting that this was inflammatory talk. The objection was sustained, but the motion to remove the juror was overruled and Dougherty continued in a milder tone.

"What is the final question?" asked Dougherty as he neared the end of the case. "Insanity is 'out' to any reasoning mind. There remains the question of whether or not Zenge killed Dr. Bauer. Not a fact established on this point by the state has been contradicted in the slightest degree.

"I say to you that when the legislature devised capital punishment they had in mind this type of crime—one meditated. The evidence demonstrated guilt of a most terrible crime. Do not extend sympathy where sympathy should not go."

Attorney Roach opened the afternoon session with the final plea for the defendant.

"It is your duty," he told the jurors, "on the evidence produced, to find the defendant not guilty, unlock his prison door, bid him go forth to the excellent community from which he came, attended by the plaudits of all well thinking Christian people."

The case, he said, was one of circumstantial evidence, and he dwelt on doubtful nature of several of the identifications by state witnesses. His main point, however, was that of venue; that it had not been proved that the crime had been committed in Illinois.

He submitted the case with a plea for mercy.

The Morning Arguments.

The morning session was taken up with the closing arguments of Prosecutor Coghlan and Attorney Joseph Green for the defense.

Coghlan placed special emphasis on the state's evidence to show that the murder occurred in the state of Illinois, and evidence "of diligence on the part of each and every man who treated Dr. Bauer in the hospital."

"It was inevitable," he said, "that death would result from the wound inflicted."

Mr. Coghlan then detailed the actions of Zenge since his arrest, stating that no evidence of insanity had been produced.

"The defendant is guilty of dastardly murder," he charged in closing. "This is a proper case and I ask that you jurors fix the penalty at death."

Attorney Green then began his argument.

"The state must prove," he said, "that Dr. Bauer died from an act of Mandeville Zenge, committed at a time when this young defendant knew the difference between right and wrong and could choose between them. The state must prove as to a moral certainty that the crime was committed in Illinois, was committed by Zenge and in a sane mind."

The Judge's Instructions.

Judge Harrington commenced his instructions to the jury at 4:10 p. m. He warned the jurors that the indictment for murder was not to be considered as presumption of guilt and explained that if reasonable doubt existed in their minds as to the guilt of the defendant they should acquit him.

Then the judge gave his instructions on the insanity issue raised by the defense.

"The insanity of the defendant before or after the crime was committed cannot excuse the commission of the crime," the court said. "Only insanity at the time of the crime may be considered as a legal excuse. If you have a reasonable doubt as to the sanity of the defendant at the time the crime was committed you will acquit him. The test of the sanity of the defendant is his ability to know right from wrong and his power to choose between them. If there is a lack of either it is your duty to acquit him."

BACKGROUND OF THE CASE

This strange case had its beginning more than eight years ago in two little Missouri towns, Canton and La Grange, six miles apart. Louise Schaffer of La Grange and Mandeville Zenge of Canton were high school sweethearts and had an understanding they would marry.

But the years passed and Zenge was uncertain whether he was financially able to marry the girl. Her ardor cooled somewhat, although she still believed that they would be married, and then she met Dr. Bauer, 14 years her senior. She told Zenge of the physician's attentions and the young farmer became extremely jealous.

Louise Marries Zenge's Rival.

On July 14 Louise, a nurse in the hospital affiliated with the Kirksville [Mo.] College of Osteopathy and Surgery, married Dr. Bauer, a chemistry teacher in the college. The day after the wedding he left for Ann Arbor to pursue his summer studies at the University of Michigan, planning to rejoin his bride a few weeks later. Mrs. Bauer told Zenge of the marriage.

Zenge sulked for several days. On July 25 he came to Chicago and became acquainted with William Leinnert, a taxicab driver. Leinnert "showed the town" to the young farmer. Several days later Zenge went to Ann Arbor.

He disguised himself and registered as "E. L. Jones" at the same hotel where Dr. Bauer was staying. On the afternoon of July 30 Zenge kidnaped Dr. Bauer in the latter's own automobile and at pistol point forced Bauer to drive to Chicago.

Early on the morning of July 31, in the vicinity of 71st street and Stony Island avenue, according to the state's contention, Zenge performed the mutilation with a penknife after binding the physician's hands and feet. He then drove the car to a filling station at 71st place and Stony Island avenue, jumped out and ran away.

The injured Bauer was taken to the Jackson Park hospital, where he disclosed his identity and told all he knew of his assailant—he had never met Zenge before that night and did not know who he was. Dr. Bauer died at 6:30 in the morning.

Betrayed by Cab Driver.

After the mutilation Zenge again sought out Leinnert. Meanwhile police began a search for the murderer. Through a photograph Zenge was identified as "E. L. Jones." On Aug. 1 a suicide note and a hat and coat were found in a taxicab near the Navy pier. These indicated that Zenge had ended his life in the lake, but the police doubted this.

Leinnert betrayed Zenge to the state's attorney's police and on Aug. 2 Zenge was arrested in a filling station at 4642 West Madison street, where Leinnert had driven him.

GARY FARMER GOES TO DEATH IN CHAIR FOR ROBBERY SLAYING

Michigan City, Ind., Oct. 19.—[Special.]—Richard Chapman of Gary, 21 year old slayer, was executed in the electric chair at the state prison here early today. He was taken from the death cell at 12:03 a. m. The current was turned on at 12:05 and Chapman was pronounced dead six minutes later.

Chapman was convicted of the murder of Henry Nolte, a farmer of Ainsworth, Ind., during a robbery on Jan. 1, 1935. Originally he was sentenced to be executed on May 24, but Gov. Paul McNutt granted a stay on the plea of the prisoner that he would make further disclosure. The governor was requested yesterday to order another stay, but refused.

In his last hours Chapman was calm. He walked unaided to the chair and declined to make a final statement. He had been visited by his relatives several days ago.

CONVICT BLONDE AND HUSBAND IN BURGLARY TRIAL

Rosens Get Penalty of Year to Life.

Mrs. Jean Rosen, attractive blonde, and her husband, Joseph, were found guilty of burglary last night by a jury in the Criminal court of Judge Joseph Burke. They were at once sentenced by Judge Burke to the maximum penalty of one year to life in the penitentiary. Motion for a new trial was overruled, but a 30 day stay was granted to allow preparation for an appeal.

The jurors, who were carefully selected because of what Assistant State's Attorney Richard Regan frequently referred to as "the unusual beauty" of Mrs. Rosen, apparently were not influenced by the fact that the woman who participated in the burglary was a brunette, while they convicted a blonde.

Pair Surprised in Apartment.

The hair of both Mr. and Mrs. Rosen, as a matter of fact, was a principal factor in the defense.

Last July 8 Michael Ryan, 6901 Oglesby avenue, returned to his apartment and surprised a man and a woman looting the place. The man drew a gun. Ryan ran to the street and called police, but the burglars escaped before policemen had time to get there.

Ryan described the woman burglar as a brunette, and the man as having "a short, bushy pompadour."

On July 10 the Rosens were arrested as they were about to leave their apartment at 7050 Merrill avenue. Police who made the arrests testified that the two offered them $3,400 to "forget about it." Furthermore, by this time Mrs. Rosen was a blonde, and Mr. Rosen's hair very sleek, was parted in the middle.

Nevertheless, Ryan was positive in his identification of them as the pair he had found in his apartment. They denied the story of the attempted bribe.

STOP NEW DEAL SPENDING, COLBY EXHORTS WOMEN

Says Alternative Means Bankruptcy.

New York, Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state under Woodrow Wilson, told a group of New Jersey clubwomen at West Orange today that "the only way in which the insane and headlong plunge into national bankruptcy can be arrested is to stop the administration."

Mr. Colby spoke at a gathering at the home of Mrs. Madeline Sloane, daughter of the late Thomas A. Edison. The meeting was sponsored by Mrs. Margaret L. Syre, founder of the "Minute Women of '36," and by other leaders in the civic and social life of the Oranges and vicinity. Mr. Colby spoke on "The Tax Crisis."

Burden of Taxation.

"The deadliest reality in our situation today is taxation," he said. "Not legitimate taxation for the support of the legitimate functions of government; not taxes equitably apportioned to the ability of the people to pay them; nor even extraordinary taxes which upon occasion the people of the United States have cheerfully assumed to meet an emergency to provide for the national defense—but taxes of uncalculated and incalculable amount, even now making their weight and impact felt and in a few months destined to fall upon us and bear us to the ground with their insupportable burden.

"The average man has no realization of what is in store for him," Mr. Colby continued, "and the New Deal is determined by every artifice it can employ to conceal the truth from him—until after election day. But it will not be easy. There are signs that the significance of the wild waste of money and credit by the administration is being brought home to the people and that they are reacting to it precisely as would be expected of people who are still in their right minds.

Must Halt Administration.

"The administration does not possess either the courage or the strength to stop it. The only way it can be stopped—and the only way in which the insane and headlong plunge into national bankruptcy can be arrested—is to stop the administration, stop the expenditures, stop its appropriations and curtail its vast and misused powers."

Declaring that a deficit of $15,000,000,000 had been accumulated in less than three years and that it threatened the stability of the nation's currency and the breakdown of its credit, Mr. Colby said that he does not believe that the secretary of the treasury "understands the position in which so stupendous a deficit puts us and, as for the President, I do not think he has ever had a true idea of how revenue is derived, the processes by which it is created, or the relations between expenditure and income."

Spending Sole Concern.

"The sole concern of the administration," Mr. Colby continued, "is to spend and to find something capable of being spent, whether gained by confiscation, indiscriminate borrowing, or unsupported appropriations. So long as the sluiceways of national waste are kept running at capacity what else matters? So they reason, fatuously, and go trippingly on their way—to unavoidable disaster."

Mr. Colby told his audience that in 1933 the government spent 3 billion dollars more than it received and in 1934 4½ billion dollars more than it received, and that in 1935 its excess of expenditures over revenue would be substantially the same amount. He said that the forecast for 1936 was a deficit of about 4 billion dollars.

A CONGRESSMAN GETS ROOSEVELT PLEA TO CLERGY

Hasn't Been a Pastor for 16 Years.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Sixteen years ago Representative Charles A. Eaton [Rep., N. J.] preached his last sermon as a minister. Today Representative Eaton received a copy of President Roosevelt's famous letter asking for the advice and counsel of the clergy.

Slightly flabbergasted, Representative Eaton could only speculate on the methods of compiling presidential mailing lists. The letter was addressed to "Rev. Charles A. Eaton." Representative Eaton, a doctor of divinity in the Baptist church, preached his last sermon as a "working parson" in the Madison Avenue church, New York, in 1919. For 11 years he has been in congress, a steadfast Republican.

His Stand Well Known.

The President's request for the advice of "the Rev. Eaton" nonplused Representative Eaton who has made his attitude toward the New Deal so clear that, he remarked today, he felt sure "a request to me for advice and comment would be the last thing in the mind of any member of the administration."

Representative Eaton introduced a resolution at the last session of congress calling upon President Roosevelt to appear before the houses of congress and explain why he had violated the promises made in his own 1932 platform and campaign. The resolution was pigeonholed by the Democratic controlled rules committee.

May Send Resolution.

"The best reply I can give the President is to send him a copy of my resolution," Representative Eaton said.

The Eaton episode was the second in the history of the now famous appeal by the President to the clergy. The first came when a comparison disclosed that the Roosevelt letter lifted whole sections from a similar letter distributed by Gov. Philip La Follette of Wisconsin some time ago.

REPUBLICANS HIT DEMOCRAT CASH SEEKING METHOD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 18.—Special.]—Democratic solicitation of federal employés for campaign funds was assailed today by the national Republican congressional committee. The solicitation is being conducted by the national Democratic council of the District of Columbia, a local "collection" club sanctioned by Postmaster General James A. Farley.

"Not content with a campaign fund made up of a large part of the $5,000,000,000 works and relief money," the committee statement said, "New Dealers are seeking unlawful pastures for more money to perpetuate the New Deal spendthrifts in office. That they are at odds with the law in their mad desire for campaign funds evidently make little difference. That they place federal employés in the same position likewise is of little moment to them."

NEW DEAL CALLED SHAMEFUL WASTE BY SEN. CAREY

Charges Control of Lives and Elections.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Senator Robert D. Carey of Wyoming denounced the Roosevelt administration tonight as "shamefully wasteful" and predicted it would go down as the "most disgraceful" in the nation's history.

He told a convention of Republican leaders of eight mountain states that congress has become a rubber stamp, the President a dictator.

Foresees Graft Scandal.

"The present administration will be known as one of experimentation, of attempting to substitute communism for Americanism, to Tammanyize the United States by building up a huge political machine, and by bribes of both money and jobs to win an election," he asserted.

He declared that formerly "it was customary for various committees of congress to give careful consideration to bills—frequently to draft them or to rewrite them."

"But," Senator Carey said, "congress is now denied this privilege, administration measures being drafted by the brain trust and being sent with orders that they shall not be materially amended."

Charges Control of All.

As a result a "huge burocracy has been built up which not only makes the President a dictator but one which will control the lives and fortunes of every American citizen," he charged.

Continuing his attack on government spending the speaker predicted that in the end there will be "more scandals and more graft than there has ever been in the American government."

Most of the advisers in the present leadership were supplied by Prof. Felix Frankfurter of Harvard, Senator Carey asserted, adding:

"Former Senator Moses stated a few days ago that our government was 50 per cent Roosevelt and 50 per cent Frankfurter. I feel our government is at least 75 per cent frankfurter and the balance baloney."

Girl, 2, in Coma Since Fall July 6, Is Conscious Again

After remaining in a coma since falling from a second story window of her home on July 6, Suzanne Lissner, 2 year old daughter of Attorney and Mrs. Herbert Lissner, 2448 Addison street, is apparently on her way to recovery, employés of the Michael Reese hospital said yesterday. She regained consciousness for the first time early this week.

BROOKS WARNS D. A. R. OF PERIL TO WOMEN IN NEW DEAL PLANS

Rockford, Ill., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—The Daughters of the American Revolution were urged tonight in an address by C. Wayland Brooks, Chicago attorney, who has been mentioned as a Republican candidate for governor, to "turn a deaf ear" to suggestions for a constitutional change in our method of government.

"The hour is at hand," Mr. Brooks asserted at an open meeting of the D. A. R., "when women must mobilize for the protection and preservation of their property rights, their citizenship, and the constitution of the United States.

"More than seven million women are gainfully employed in various occupations in this nation today. More than 50 per cent of the savings accounts in this country are in the names of women.

"It is against this security for the future that taxes will be levied tomorrow to pay for the reckless spending of experimentation in both the state and nation today. Women will be the determining factor in the decision as to whether they will give up their liberties and securities for some ill advised experimentation about which no one is thoroughly familiar."

ROUT BUROCRACY! EDITOR APPEALS AT MEETING HERE

Reduced costs to taxpayers can be brought about through elimination of burocracy in government, C. T. Wooton, editor of the Iowa County Officer, a Des Moines publication, declared in an address yesterday before the first annual convention of the American County association at the Hotel La Salle. Seventy of the 82 boards and bureaus in the Iowa state government could be eliminated with an estimated saving of 18 per cent in the state property tax, he asserted.

George F. Breitbach, Milwaukee county clerk, was elected national chairman of the association, succeeding Harold D. Kelsey, Lake county, Illinois, supervisor, who was named chairman of the executive committee. Milwaukee was chosen as the convention city for 1936.

ILLINOIS PROBLEM IS ACUTE

While projects for furnishing employment to the idle remained in the jam of governmental machinery at Washington yesterday the Illinois Emergency Relief commission resolved itself into an appeal board and listened to stories of hardships created by the federal shutdown of funds for relief.

On the promise that a substantial number of relief clients would be shifted to jobs under the Works Progress administration the Federal Emergency Relief administration left the IERC short $1,000,000 on its needs for September and $600,000 short for this month. As a result the relief commission has had to cut all relief orders by 5 per cent and dismiss 2,000 employés in recent weeks.

Only 10,217 at Work.

WPA officials here are still waiting for more project approvals from Washington. Employment on WPA projects in Illinois has been furnished for 10,217 relief clients while the goal set by federal edict is employment of 183,500 by Nov. 1, only 12 days away.

Congress was asked last winter to appropriate four billion dollars to shift relief clients to made work projects and was told that President Roosevelt would assume full responsibility. Spending authority was delegated to Harry L. Hopkins, WPA chief, and Harold L. Ickes, head of the Public Works administration [PWA]. Hopkins, Ickes and the President have been on a fishing excursion in the Pacific for the last two weeks.

Tell of Serious Situation.

The organizations represented at the hearing before the IERC yesterday were the Association of Workers in Public Agencies [IERC employés] and the Illinois Workers' alliance, consisting mainly of relief clients.

Melville Hosch, a case worker supervisor in the relief office at 3542 North Clark street, told the commission that reductions in food, clothing, and shoe orders were resulting in a serious situation, especially in view of approaching cold weather.

"Some of the women won't go to emergency education classes because they can't get dresses to wear," he declared. "School principals are writing to us constantly, imploring us to furnish clothing for pupils on relief."

Will Protest to Washington.

"What's your remedy?" asked William H. Sexton, a member of the commission. "We just don't have the money."

"We're going to protest to Washington that there is a need here that the state cannot meet," replied Hosch.

A different tack was taken by Miss Mamie Fors, 5550 Drexel avenue, a relief client, whose quarrel was with the case workers.

"The case workers are a lot of University of Chicago graduates who know nothing about a home," asserted Miss Fors. "They come in and tell us how to cook, what we must eat, and how we must live. They quote a lot of figures but we can't eat figures. They get their jobs through politics."

"Wait a minute," said George A. Barr of Joliet, a Republican member of the commission. "What political organization?"

"Why, the administration in power," Miss Fors shot back.

Denounces Sales Tax.

Principal spokesman for the workers' alliance was Frank Waugh McCulloch, who attacked the 3 per cent state sales tax—one-third of which goes for relief purposes—as bearing heavily on the indigent population.

"You should get up on your hind legs and howl to the legislature," he shouted.

"We already have been doing a lot of howling to Washington," said Barr.

John C. Martin, chairman of the commission, found fault with the plea of some IERC employés that the professional staf should be increased. He pointed out that there was one employé for every 41 relief cases in the state.

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT ABOARD U. S. S. HOUSTON, San Blas Islands, Panama, Oct. 18.—(AP)—President Roosevelt exchanged a gift of several cartons of cigarets for another of spears and shark teeth today in a meeting with a chieftain of these palm covered, thickly populated islands.

Tomorrow the presidential party will head northward with Charleston, S. C., a probable goal for the middle of next week.

When the President and his fellow adventurers neared shore here they were met by native boys who paddled their dugouts to form a guiding convoy back to the beach. On shore women, brightly garbed, proffered native articles for sale. All wore in their noses rings marked with disease-warding symbols. The visitors made several purchases.

Then the executive and his companions went to the main island of the four in the group and President Roosevelt received Chief Olo-Benanya aboard the Houston for a half hour visit.

AGUINALDO BIDS FOR U. S. PROBE OF FILIPINO ELECTION

MANILA, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Charging that his followers were being intimidated by Philippine constabulary, Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo appealed to President Roosevelt today for an independent American investigation of alleged wholesale fraud in the commonwealth presidential election of Sept. 17.

In this election Manuel Quezon was chosen president over Aguinaldo by 695,332 votes to 179,349.

Aguinaldo also cabled heads of the United Spanish War Veterans and the American Legion asking their intercession with the President and congress "to secure rights of free assembly, free speech, and the right to air grievances peacefully."

YOUNG GUN TOTER GETS MERCY.

William Scully, 28 years old, 3612 South Hamilton avenue, arraigned yesterday before Judge J. M. Braude on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, was granted a continuance to May 10, 1936, and warned to be on his good behavior during that period.

WILLIAM GREEN RE-ELECTED HEAD OF LABOR UNIONS

Chicagoan Fails to Upset Matthew Woll.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 18.—(AP)—By acclamation, the American Federation of Labor chose William Green today to lead organized labor for another year.

In marked contrast to Green's uncontested election to the federation's presidency for the 11th consecutive time, a small group of young left wingers made an unsuccessful attempt to oust Matthew Woll, veteran spokesman for the federation, from the third vice presidency, a post he has held since 1919.

The outgrowth of bitter feeling between conservative and liberal delegates manifest throughout the federation convention, this election revolt was the first since Daniel Tobin of the teamsters was elected treasurer in 1917.

Chicagoan Upsets Calm.

Howard Lawrence, a youthful delegate from the Chicago Casketmakers, upset the customary calm and harmony that surrounded the election of the 15 vice presidents by leaping to his feet after Woll had been nominated with the statement he wished to place in nomination Emil Costello of Kenosha, Wis., employé of the Simmons bed factory there.

Most of the delegates appeared to be stunned. Woll had been the subject of John L. Lewis' fire during the week, but few had expected any move against his reëlection. Then a low roar of protest arose. Green directed Secretary Frank Morrison to call the roll. Lawrence polled 264 votes, mostly from newly organized federal units, while Woll polled 28,522.

Lewis Votes for Woll.

Among those voting for Woll was Lewis, who introduced a resolution in the convention this week that resulted in Woll's resignation from the acting presidency of the National Civic federation, an anti-radical industrial relations forum.

Backed by the craft unionists, W. D. Mahon of the street car employés defeated Charles P. Howard of the Typographical union for the vice presidency.

The convention decided to go to Tampa, Fla., for its meeting in November, 1936.

Conclusion of the elections left three resolutions the only important work before the convention:

1. To direct the executive council to draft an amendment to the United States constitution that would bring New Deal legislation within constitutional limits. 2. To take drastic action against communists within the federation, and [3] for the federation to organize an independent labor party.

RELIEF CHEATER IS SENTENCED TO 6 MONTHS IN A CELL

Rudolph Schwiegel, 46 years old, 2129 North Kedvale avenue, whose family received $1,034 in relief over a two year period while having an income of $3,219, was sentenced to six months in the Bridewell yesterday by Judge Eugene Holland in the South State street court. Schwiegel was also ordered to make restitution to the Illinois Emergency Relief commission

Evidence presented by G. B. Foley, special attorney for the IERC, showed that Schwiegel was getting relief for nine persons although two members of his family were receiving aid from other charitable agencies. A daughter, Elsie, was employed at $22 a week, and a son, Lee, at $33 a week, while they were on the IERC rolls.

At the same time, Schwiegel had an income of $56 a month from two rented apartments, and was paid for doing odd jobs, Mr. Foley charged.

ROPER PROPOSES NATIONAL CENSUS OF UNEMPLOYED

New York, Oct. 18.—[Special.]—A nation-wide census of the unemployed, to cost $14,000,000, employ 25,000 persons, and to become a permanent function of the census bureau along with its duty of taking a population census, will be proposed by Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper soon, he revealed here today.

His plan would call for a much more thorough and complex analysis of unemployment figures than the census which Hugh S. Johnson, retired WPA administrator, here, has been advocating.

Johnson proposed to count every unemployed person in the United States in twenty-four hours with only a month's preparation, using relief labor wholly. He contended it could be done as easily as the army draft census, which he directed, was accomplished.

Johnson's proposal has met constant opposition in cabinet circles because of the fear that the unemployment situation is worse than it is generally supposed and disclosure would shock the country and retard the return of prosperity.

DOG GUARDS DEAD MISTRESS.

OFFICIALS TELL WHY COLLECTION OF TAXES LAGS

Blame Obsolete System and Muddling Laws.

Antiquated taxing machinery and obstructive legislation by the Illinois general assembly are two of the principal reasons for the slow rate of tax collections in Cook county as compared to collections in other major centers of the United States, according to city and county officials and efficiency experts. They advanced these reasons yesterday after learning that nine other cities have collected an average of 90 per cent of the aggregate taxes levied in the last three years while collections in Cook county have amounted to only 68 per cent of the total imposed.

Robert B. Upham, city controler, said that recent legislation governing methods of paying delinquent taxes—one law gives the taxpayer the opportunity to have half his penalties waived—is a cause of delayed collections.

Among the Handicaps.

"People are uncertain about just what action may be taken in the future in regard to their back taxes," Upham said, "therefore they are in no hurry to pay. They surmise they may get even more relief by waiting.

"Tax strikers in recent years and the great number of tax objection suits also served to slow up payments. Still another reason was the 1928 reassessment. This reassessment placed high estimates on property and when the depression occurred, market values declined tremendously and people found themselves unable to pay on the previous high basis."

Douglas Sutherland, executive secretary of the Civic federation and bureau of public efficiency, declared that taxing machinery must be modernized immediately, else collections will continue to dribble in.

Urges Reorganization of Office.

"The office of the county treasurer [Joseph L. Gill] must be reorganized," he said, "and a strict, consistent program of collections must be put into effect. In the last two years taxing officials and the legislature have paid more attention to knocking off penalties than to actual collections. The courts have allowed objections to pile up."

George Hagenauer, chief auditor in the treasurer's office, said that the low percentage of collections in Cook county is not a fair index because the tax bills have been revised downward by considerable amounts and the taxes received are, therefore, a higher percentage of the actual tax bill.

"Large amounts have been lopped off the aggregate tax bill by the courts," Hagenauer stated, "as, for instance, in the 15 per cent reduction in the assessed value of 400,000 small homes and two flat buildings.

Properties Assessed Twice.

"A high percentage of the taxes outstanding were levied on vacant properties and these taxes never will be collected. Many duplicate assessments on personal property also made the tax extension seem higher than it proved to be.

"The state's attorney's office filed suits to collect $17,000,000 in delinquent personal property taxes but received only $2,500,000 in actual judgments. The courts knocked out most of the remaining suits."

Many taxpayers who have received their 1934 personal property bills are puzzled because the name of Robert M. Sweitzer, ousted county treasurer, appears on these bills. Treasurer Gill said yesterday that the bill forms were printed while Sweitzer was still in office. Checks in payment of taxes should be made out to Gill, he informed the public.

Gill announced last night that 1934 tax collections thus far total $6,150,584. The first bills were sent out Oct. 1. For a similar 17 day period—Dec. 1, 1934, when the first of the 1933 bills were sent out, to Dec. 18—the total collections were $3,014,454.

Hearing on Chicago River Lock to Be Held Nov. 15

A public hearing on the application of the Chicago Sanitary district to build a pollution control lock in the Chicago river about 500 feet east of Michigan avenue will be held in the new postoffice building at 10 a. m. on Nov. 15, the war department announced yesterday. Those wishing to be heard were advised by S. N. Karrick, acting district engineer, to submit their arguments in writing.

FEW MONTHS ON N. Y. ROLLS WORTH $15,000 A YEAR TO WALKER

New York, Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Friends and enemies speculated today on how much it would be worth to James J. Walker to get a city job—any kind of job he can hold for a month or so—when he returns to the United States from his sojourn in Europe.

An insurance actuary, with no feelings one way or the other, put the figure roughly at $200,000.

For it would cost James J. Walker, who will be 55 years old next June 19, just $219,000 in hard cash to buy an annuity which would net him $15,000 a year in income for the rest of his life.

The pension he will be entitled to, if he manages to get back on the municipal pay roll long enough to apply for retirement, is estimated at about $15,000 a year.

NATION'S CITIES CUT DEBTS AND OPERATING COST

Survey Shows General Retrenchment.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Financial reports of the nation's largest cities disclosed today that a majority had slashed their debts as well as their operating costs in 1934.

Of the forty-eight largest municipalities on a population basis, the census bureau has made public surveys of thirty-seven, with others being compiled. Of the 37, the per capita debt was shown to have dropped in 24, and the per capita cost of operation in 23.

The Omaha statistics reflected the largest debt reduction. Its obligations for each citizen stood at $110.01 last year against $123.09 in 1933, a drop of $13.08.

Chicago Ranks Sixth.

Toledo ranked second with a $10.03 reduction, Cincinnati third with $7.52; Portland, Ore., fourth with $7.42; San Antonio, Tex., fifth with $6.67, and Chicago sixth with $6.53.

Of the twelve whose debts increased [Washington has no funded debt] Hartford, Conn., led with a hike of $19.67, Buffalo was second with $9.33, Rochester third with $8.34, Columbus, O., fourth with $7, and St. Louis fifth with $6.71.

The increase at Rochester was attributed to bonds issued for emergency relief, and at Columbus to bonds for a PWA sewer project. The reports did not explain the increases at Hartford, Buffalo, and St. Louis.

Grand Rapids Cuts Costs.

Grand Rapids, Mich., reported its per capita cost of operation had dropped from $37.59 in 1933 to $28.18 last year, a saving of $9.41.

Dayton, O., was second with a $6.82 decrease; Toledo third with $6.51; Portland, Ore., third with $5.71; Columbus, O., fourth with $5.39, and Dallas fifth with $5.26.

Of those whose per capita operating costs increased, Rochester, N. Y., was first with $10.79, Washington second with $4.73, Cincinnati third with $4.48, Syracuse fourth with $3.84, and Balitimore fifth with $3.30.

San Antonio reported the lowest per capita expenditures, $14.21, with Birmingham, Ala., just behind with $15.29. Rochester reported the highest among the thirty-seven cities, $74.55, while Boston spent $74.05. Newark, N. J., had the highest per capita debt, $275.92, and Atlanta, Ga., the lowest, $45.42.

PROPOSAL TO CUT CIGARET LICENSE FEE IS APPROVED

Mayor Kelly's proposal to reduce the city cigaret sellers' license fee to $50 from $100 was approved yesterday by the city council committee on licenses, headed by Ald. Thomas P. Keane [31st] by a vote of 11 to 4. The city's present revenue from 6,000 annual licenses is $600,000 a year.

Many small merchants are prevented by the $100 fee from dealing in tobacco, Mayor Kelly wrote to the committee. He predicted that a lower fee might even increase the present revenue. George F. Lohman, deputy city collector, submitted figures tending to show that small dealers in the past have sold cigarets without licenses.

Maj. Gen. Greely Reported to Be 'Very Much Weaker'

THREATS WORRY VICTIMS AFTER ROBBER'S PAROLE

Maentanis' Quick Freedom Angers Lake Forest

Gov. Horner's parole board, in freeing Nick Maentanis after he served only three years and eight months of a one year to life penitentiary sentence for robbery, has aroused both the wrath and the fears of Lake Forest residents.

Maentanis and five companions, all armed, entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Mitchell, 901 Rosemary avenue, Lake Forest, on Nov. 21, 1931. A party was in progress and the robbers, after terrorizing a number of men and women guests, fled with jewelry valued at $150,000.

Chief of Police Frank Tiffany of Lake Forest, like State's Attorney Charles E. Mason of Lake county, declared that he was "amazed" at the action of the Horner parole board, which had given the Lake county authorities no notice that the parole of Maentanis was contemplated so soon.

People Fearful; Police Threaten.

Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. E. A. Cudahy, who were among those robbed, declared they had been threatened already with retaliation for their testimony that resulted in the conviction of the robbers.

"But if Maentanis comes back to this town," asserted Chief Tiffany, "he will be arrested or shot down on sight."

Crime investigating agencies in Chicago expressed no surprise at the parole. They had already pointed out more than a month ago that the merciful board, headed by W. C. Jones, was turning paroled convicts back into the Chicago area at the rate of 80 a month, and that a high percentage of the paroles turned out to be repeaters in crime. Between Oct. 1, 1934, and March 1, 1935, 205 indictments were returned in the Cook county courts against men already convicted once of crime.

Escapes Strengthen Underworld.

These figures do not take into consideration the record of prison escapes during the Horner administration. One of the most notorious of these escapes was carried out by Henry J. [Midget] Fernekes, robber and killer, who found little difficulty in strolling casually out of Joliet prison early in August while no one was watching him.

State's Attorney Mason and Chief Tiffany said that, regardless of the general policy of the parole board, they felt a grievous wrong had been done society in turning loose a criminal like Maentanis. Mr. Mason even declared that he had, either by oversight or by design, been deceived about the prison and parole status of Maentanis.

When the parole board announced that Mr. Mason had been notified last May that the parole was contemplated the state's attorney went to his correspondence files.

Last Letter 2½ Years Ago.

He asserted that the only letter he had bearing on the subject was one from Ellis E. Cox, secretary of the board, that was dated May 27, 1933. This document explained that Maentanis had been given an "eight year setting," that is, the board fixed his normal term at 8 years, from which he might earn time off for good behavior. He would have to serve five years and five months, even with maximum time off for good behavior, according to Cox's letter.

"At that time," said Mr. Mason, "I wrote the board I would fight against the parole. I had no inkling that Maentanis would be released at this time."

Mrs. Mitchell referred to the release as a travesty on justice.

"I have had several telephone calls stating that the robbers would all be out in a few years and that unless we aided in getting them paroles they would come after us again," she said. "I understood that all the men would serve at least seven years."

Mrs. Cudahy spoke in like vein and requested Chief Tiffany for additional protection, which was promised her.

Witnesses Sympathetic, at Least.

Yesterday it was disclosed that the only witnesses who appeared at the final hearing on the Maentanis parole case were John Maentanis, father, and George Maentanis, brother of the criminal. Both reside at 702 Sibley street. They gave the customary statements that Nick had been a good boy but had fallen into bad company.

Gov. Horner, asked to comment on the parole by his appointees, said Jones had informed him that the board twice this year had considered and turned down Maentanis' request for freedom. Rehearings on his petition were requested by two members of the parole board, who were not named.

The governor said, however, that he would have these members report to him on their reasons for pressing forward in behalf of the gunman.

Moreover, the governor disclosed, Jones told him that the release of Maentanis had been set for Dec. 15. On Sept. 16 Frank Whipp, then warden of the Joliet penitentiary, recommended that Maentanis be given an additional 30 day "industrial credit." This was allowed and the prisoner was given a job as trusty outside the prison walls.

In some way not disclosed in the intricate bookkeeping of the parole board Maentanis earned an extra 30 days of grace by working on the outside, so that he was freed on Oct. 15.

G-MEN'S GUNS ROAR GANGSTER'S DEATH FOR OLD 'MA' BARKER

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN,

Former confidential secretary in the Chicago bureau of the United States department of justice, in collaboration with JOSEPH ATOR.

ONCE more I saw a fighting clan gather in the G-men's headquarters. It was the evening of Jan. 8, in the present year. Months of tireless investigation had paved the way. Members of the Barker-Karpis gang, kidnapers of Edward G. Bremer, had been found hiding in Chicago. The G-men were ready to take them.

It was a scene similar to a dozen others I had witnessed, yet subtly different. Gone was the confusion, the nervous tension which had preceded earlier raids. These men had been proved under fire. Two years of battles with public enemies had taught them much. They formed a cohesive, efficient machine.

Time Changes Lineups.

Some familiar faces of other days were missing. Genial Carter Baum was gone, and the daring Sam Cowley. Most of all the men mourned Herman Hollis. Little Jay Newman had been promoted and sent to another office. Nor were these all. Some of the agents had been tried and found wanting. They were not the stuff of which G-men were made. There were new faces.

That night there was a new leader. E. J. Connelley had been called from Cincinnati, where he was agent in charge, and put in charge of the Barker-Karpis hunt throughout the nation. He was a man of about 40, a veteran of the service. In the battles with Ma Barker and her boys he was to demonstrate a calculated daring which was remarkable even among the G-men.

Call Veteran to Chicago.

There was another man who had been called to Chicago after the first forays against the Dillinger gang showed that Chicago was to be the center of the fight against the public enemies. He was Doc White, who, like C. B. Winstead, was a graduate of the Texas Rangers. He had been a department of justice agent for a number of years.

He was 55 years old. His easy, affable manner would never lead you to suspect that he was a veteran of a score of gunfights with outlaws and gangsters. Although he appeared on the pay roll as a mere agent, the other agents and his bosses looked on him as an unofficial lieutenant. A few days later his cool skill was to save the life of his leader, Connelley.

And among the missing was Melvin Purvis. The Dillinger hunt made him a hero with the public and strengthened his hold on his men. His reputation increased after he led the chase in which "Pretty Boy" Floyd was tracked down and killed. It apparently increased too much for the pleasure of his superiors in Washington.

Purvis' Superiors Act.

They saw to it that he got no assignments which would put him in the public eye. He spent most of his last six months in the service interviewing applicants for jobs as agents. So he was absent that January night.

For a week G-men had been watching an apartment at 3920 Pine Grove avenue, on the north side of Chicago. There two of the Barker-Karpis gangsters, Russell Gibson and Byron Bolton, were hiding with their women. This was the first objective of the raiders.

Bolton and the women had been living in the apartment for two months. A few days before Gibson had arrived, and on his arrival it was decided to spring the trap. Silently the G-men went to their posts. Not only were the front and rear entrances of the building covered, but gunners were posted where they could fire into the windows of the gang apartment. Connelley led the way to the apartment entrance. He rang the bell. Through the speaking tube he shouted:

"Come on down, one at a time. The place is surrounded."

Gibson Prepares Grimly.

Mrs. Clara Gibson, wife of the outlaw, was on the stairs at the time. She saw the G-men. Screaming, she ran back to the apartment, locked the door. Gibson was a dope user. He must have had a last "shot" that evening. Swiftly he donned a bullet proof vest. He seized a heavy automatic rifle. He did not intend to be taken alive, and he wasn't.

Stealthily he stole out the back door. He slipped down the stairs to the alley below. Doc White and other agents were waiting for him there. He fired one shot. Then the agents' rifles crashed. Their bullets ripped through his protective vest. He dropped in his tracks, dying.

Meanwhile, from nearby roofs, a volley of tear gas bombs made the apartment untenable. By mistake, the agents also fired into the apartment of an innocent neighbor of the gangsters. Bolton and the two women surrendered. They were whisked away for questioning.

Doc Barker Taken Quietly.

Meanwhile a second group of agents had gone to an apartment in another section of the city. They got their man without gunfire, so quietly that the arrest did not become known for ten days. He was Doc Barker, the eldest of Ma's brood of killers.

Volney Davis, one of the actual kidnapers of Bremer, had been captured the preceding year, had escaped, and was recaptured when the slight Purvis, disdaining weapons, had knocked him down on a west side street. Lesser fry had been picked up from time to time, but the arrests of Byron Bolton and Doc Barker really spelled doom for the gang.

Bolton had been a minor figure in the case. All he had done was to take care of Fred Goetz's wife while Goetz was away on the kidnaping raid. But of all the people Goetz talked to, he told Bolton the most. And Bolton quickly told all he knew to the G-men. At Doc Barker's trial in St. Paul he took the witness stand and gave a complete resumé of the plot.

How the Hideout Was Found.

An immediate result of Bolton's confession was the arrest of Harold Alderton. He it was who rented his apartment to the gang as Bremer's prison. Two weeks later, Bremer came to Chicago. The G-men had located the hideout. It is doubtful whether their months of searching for the sounds which Bremer described had as much to do with the discovery as did Bolton's confession.

But the discovery gave testimony to Bremer's accurate memory. Alderton's apartment was in Bensenville, northwest of Chicago. The cars which Bremer had heard switched were in the nearby yards of the Milwaukee railroad. The "factory whistle" was four blocks away on the railroad roundhouse. The fire siren was a few blocks away in the business section. It was tested every noon.

Within a block was the school where he had heard children playing. There were two churches in the neighborhood, and at one the bell was rung daily. Behind the house, in a garage, was a grocery truck which Bremer had heard early every morning.

A Letter That Led to Death.

Doc Barker wouldn't talk. He didn't have to. In his apartment the G-men found a letter which was to bring Ma Barker to her death. It was in her own handwriting. She spoke of a big white house near a lake. The envelop bore the postmark of Oklawaha, Fla.

Within an hour of this discovery, agents left Jacksonville for the little inland settlement of Oklawaha. Ma Barker and Fred, her favorite son, had been living there for two months. At intervals Harry Campbell and Bill Weaver and Karpis had visited them there, with their women. At the moment they had no visitors.

The agents did nothing to disturb them. Ma was already worried. She had read of the killing of Gibson in Chicago, the arrest of Bolton. And for ten days she had had no word from her son, Doc. Invariably when the boys were out on a bank robbery, their first thought after distancing pursuit had been to call their mother. Ma Barker feared something had happened to her boy. She was right.

Agents Fly Southward.

Word was flashed back to Chicago from the investigators at Oklawaha. That night Connelley, White, and others of the Chicago agents left by plane. With them went machine guns, tear gas guns, and those powerful rifles which had made Russell Gibson's bullet proof vest a mockery.

At dawn the next day, the morning of Jan. 16, the uneasy Ma Barker looked out the window. It was foggy. She saw dim shapes slipping from tree to tree, closing in on the house. She awakened her son. He got his machine gun, posted himself at an upper window.

Connelley walked to the door. He knocked. Ma Barker opened it an inch. Behind her she held another machine gun.

Given Chance to Surrender.

"You're surrounded, Mrs. Barker," said Connelley. "If you come out quietly you won't be hurt."

"To hell with you," the old woman screamed.

She slammed the door. From the window above Fred Barker cut down on Connelley with a machine gun. Bullets tore the G-man's clothing. But for a miracle—and the cool head of Doc White—he would have died in his tracks.

White was posted at the edge of the lawn, near the trees. He raised his rifle. A bullet sang past Fred Barker's ear. In a split second another dashed splinters in his eyes. Barker had to seek shelter or be killed. Connelley dashed to safety among the trees. The battle was on.

It raged for four hours, from 7 to 11 o'clock. Window panes were shivered by machine gun bursts. Through the uproar came the duller thud of the tear gas guns and the plop of their shells within the house. High powered rifles added a sharper note to the din.

Ma Riddled by Bullets.

Within the house Ma and Fred Barker fought on. They knew they would die. Their only wish was to take some of the hated G-men with them. Eyes streaming with tears from the gas, they appeared momentarily at windows, loosed rapid bursts from their machine guns. Business stopped in the little town. The residents crowded close to the firing line, endangering their lives to watch the deadly conflict.

Ma was the first to go. She fired her deadly gun, then dropped for shelter below the window. A rifle bullet ripped through the sheathing of the house. She was hit. There came another, and another, and another. The agents concentrated a fury of fire on the spot. Ma Barker died.

Her son ran out of machine gun ammunition. He seized a superautomatic pistol nearly as deadly. He lingered a moment too long before a window. A burst of machine gun slugs laid him low. There were a few more bursts of fire. Then the agents moved into the house. Death had moved in ahead of them.

Karpis Hears of Battle.

Karpis and Harry Campbell with their women were hiding in southern Florida when they learned from the newspapers the story of Ma Barker's end. They resumed their flight, turning northward. Their car broke down. They stole another one. Florida police telegraphed the license numbers of the stolen machine ahead of them.

In Atlantic City the local police spotted the car in a garage. Karpis and Campbell were traced from the garage to a hotel. With them were 21 year old Dolores Delaney, who was to bear Karpis' child in a few days, and Campbell's radio singer girl friend, Winona Burdette.

The Atlantic City police were game, but they weren't equipped to fight the Barker-Karpis gang. They went to the hotel room and found Campbell and Karpis.

Bullets Answer Challenge.

And come they did, spraying lead before them from machine guns. They forced the police back, dashed down a stairway. They dashed for the garage, Campbell grotesque in his long underwear. Behind them the police popped away with their pistols.

Their own car gone, the gunmen piled into another. Twice they circled the hotel trying to rescue the women. Dolòres Delaney had been wounded in the leg in the mêlée. Unfamiliar with the town, the gangsters twice were driven into dead end streets, but each time their deadly machine guns kept the police from closing in. They fled westward. During the night they kidnaped a physician and Campbell got a suit of clothes.

Last May the Bremer kidnaping defendants went on trial in St. Paul. Volney Davis and Doc Barker were given life sentences. "Boss" McLaughlin, the gang politician from Chicago who had helped change the ransom money, was sent away for five years. A number of lesser lights and gang women were also convicted.

Of the major members of the gang, Ma Barker, her beloved Fred, and Russell Gibson fell before the G-men. Davis and Doc Barker are in prison for life. Fred Goetz was murdered by the gang. Bill Weaver and Campbell and Karpis are still uncaught.

The trailing down of the Barker-Karpis gang was the last major campaign of the G-men which I was to witness. I left the federal service several months ago. But of this I am sure. The search for Alvin Karpis, public enemy No. 1, has not abated. One of these days they will close in on him.

THE END.

'WOMAN IN RED' WINS NEW DELAY; MAYBE 4 MONTHS

Mrs. Anna Sage, the "woman in red," who betrayed John Dillinger to death at the hands of federal agents, won a new delay yesterday in the government's effort to deport her to Rumania. Federal Judge John P. Barnes, who recently dismissed her petition for a writ of habeas corpus based on promises of amnesty for her aid to the government in the Dillinger case, granted her permission to carry an appeal from his ruling to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Attorney Thomas Johnson Jr. filed with the court an assignment of errors in which he charges that Judge Barnes was in error in holding that it was not within his province to hear evidence on Mrs. Sage's alleged deal with federal agents. It is regarded as likely that the case will not be heard before the February term of the Appeals court.

FLYING TRAPEZE BURGLARS ADMIT 50 OFFICE RAIDS

Three "flying trapeze" burglars, so-called because they use rope ladders in their crimes, were held by the Des Plaines street police yesterday. They have confessed breaking into more than fifty commission house offices.

They are Lawrence Chercho, 19 years old, 452 North Carpenter street, who has served in the Bridewell for burglary; Casimir Borysik, 15, of 1520 Erie street, awaiting trial in the Juvenile court on a charge of cashing stolen checks, and Robert Lazzara, 19, of 462 North May street.

The three were arrested on suspicion Thursday. They have admitted that it was their practice to lower themselves by rope ladders through the skylights of offices they intended to rob or to use the ladders to climb down from the windows of rooms above such offices.

NICE, FRIENDLY RAIDERS CLOSE DEV-LIN AGAIN

But Patrons Are Urged to Come Back Today.

tion of the patrons seemed to be annoyance on the part of some who felt sure they could have "gotten even on that next race."

Chatting and laughing, they collected their winnings, their hats and coats, and wandered outside. About this time it was discovered by many that Chief Laird and two deputy sherifs were standing near the front of the room.

This seemed to be a matter of little or no importance to any one.

Some twenty employés of the Dev-Lin began stacking up trays which had contained chips and currency. Others gathered up money from the various tables and cash drawers and carried it to the large safe in the front office.

Buses Furnished by Resort.

Outside patrons were leaving in their automobiles or in automobile buses furnished by the resort to take the patrons [at 25 cents each] to the Lincoln avenue car line. Some were calling to friends:

"Have you a ride home? Come along with us."

Chief Laird was an interested spectator, but Mr. Bill Johnson, reputed owner of the place and a well known figure about the Lawndale district in the field of politics and close friend of Sherif John Toman, had disappeared a few moments before. Chief Laird said he had not seen him.

"What about all that gambling money?" Laird was asked. "How much did they have in there?"

Evidence Goes Into Safe.

"What are you going to do with it?" persisted his questioner, who understood that money became evidence of gambling in such cases.

"I think they put most of it in that safe in there," said Laird.

"But aren't you going to confiscate it for evidence when this case gets into court?"

Samples Taken to Station.

In the meantime the four uniformed highway policemen had driven up in two squad cars, broad grins on their faces. They aided the two deputies in carefully selecting one roulette wheel, one slot machine, a stack of chips, and the cloth cover of one dice table to be taken to the Morton Grove station.

Nothing else was disturbed, Chief Laird explaining that "it would take a van" to carry all the paraphernalia, and promising that he would do something about getting a van in a day or so.

Twenty employés, including the manager, who had given the name of Mr. James Brown, were taken to the station to be booked.

Brown posted a $100 cash bond, and the employés cash bonds of $25 each. All will be arraigned Wednesday before Justice of the Peace Albert Sengstock, in Morton Grove.

HEAR CICERO WITNESSES

Thomas J. Stob, license officer for the town of Cicero, and Joseph Danek, Stob's predecessor, who is now a member of the Cicero liquor control commission, were the only witnesses heard by the grand jury yesterday in its investigation into vice and gambling conditions in the suburb.

Stob is reported to have testified that since he took office last May he has paid little attention to tavern licenses, but has concerned himself chiefly with licenses for stores and other places of business. Danek is said to have told the jurors that the taverns in Cicero are limited to 259.

BONDSMEN FIGHT OUT RIVALRY IN BATTLE OF FISTS

For a long time Mr. Robert R. Marcus has brooded. It used to be that his bail bond office at 1107 South State street, right up against the police headquarters building, had rather a monopoly on the business there.

Then came Irving Shraiberg and Harry Volin, also bondsmen, to establish their office at 1137 South State street, on the other side of the police building.

Last night Mr. Marcus heard that a good many persons had been arrested for gambling, and he hurried over to arrange their bonds.

At the door he met Shraiberg and Volin coming out, smiling. Realizing they had beat him to it, Marcus' anger boiled over. A right hook put Shraiberg down for the count, but Volin was made of sterner stuff.

It was a good fight, police say, until the two were separated. Being professional bondsmen, each could produce $25 cash bond on a charge of disorderly conduct. Shraiberg was not arrested.

EXPERT TERMS 2D MISER KELLY WILL A FORGERY

Judge Orders Brown Paper Mystery Investigated.

The purported will of James Thomas Kelly, West Madison street "flophouse miser," which was received by the Probate court on Thursday, was declared a forgery by a handwriting expert yesterday. The document, scrawled in ink on a small piece of brown wrapping paper, bequeathed Kelly's $140,000 estate to Mrs. Bertha Morgan of Shattuc, Ill., who was referred to as a third cousin of Kelly.

Kelly died last March. Another document presented to the court as the will of Kelly was found to be a forgery several months ago and six persons were sentenced to jail as a result.

Probate Judge O'Connell yesterday asked Don Peebles, attorney for the former public administrator, Halbert Crews, to investigate the wrapping paper document.

The Graphologist's Opinion.

The testament was examined in Peebles' office by Rudolph A. Salmon, a handwriting expert, who compared the scrawl with Kelly's known signatures on bank receipts. Crews has jurisdiction over the case because he was in the office when Kelly died. The present public administrator is Martin J. O'Brien.

"It is my opinion," Salmon said, "that Kelly did not write any part of the purported will. The note accompanying the document and the envelope in which it was sent all appear to have been written by the same person. I believe the name of one of the witnesses to the document also was written by this person."

The wrapping paper will was received through the mail on Thursday by the law firm of Winston, Strawn & Shaw in an envelope postmarked St. Louis. An accompanying note, signed "Charlie," explained that the writer had been given the document by Kelly before the latter's death with instructions to hold it for six months.

Peebles said that he would send investigators to Shattuc and to St. Louis, where Mrs. Morgan is now living. The mysterious "Charlie" also is being sought in St. Louis.

Surprise to St. Louisan.

In St. Louis Mrs. Morgan was surprised to learn of the purported will. She said she had a distant relative on her mother's side of the family by the name of James Thomas Kelly, but had never seen him. This Kelly, she said, was known as a "roving willie."

A year ago a transient, whom she knew only as Whitaker, stayed at her home, she related, and when he was leaving asked her to name a distant relative. She gave him Kelly's name and he took her name and address, according to Mrs. Morgan. One of the witnesses to the purported will was a J. L. Whitaker of Utica, N. Y.

The other witness was a Harry Brown of Centralia, Ill. A man by that name found in Centralia yesterday said he knew nothing of the will. Another Harry Brown died in Centralia six years ago.

It was disclosed yesterday that the government has filed a claim for $81,531 against the Kelly estate. This amount represents alleged unpaid income taxes for 1914 and for the years from 1917 to 1934.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Big Heart—Small Mind

Guinea Hen Police

October 18, 1935.

THE guinea hens on the Wheaton experimental farm have formed a sort of police force for the protection of a bunch of young guineas in the barnyard. The little fellows are only about a week old now, and the old guineas evidently figure they are too young to take care of themselves with cold weather so close at hand.

Guineas were supposed to have finished their hatching activities some time ago, but one hen decided to raise her family this season, winter or no winter. So now she has a family of a dozen week-old youngsters, with a police force of six other hens besides herself to take care of them.

I noticed the other day how the seven hens followed the young ones wherever they went. They wouldn't even let the chickens come near them, so if those young guineas don't live to a ripe old age it won't be because they haven't had enough attention.

The boys on the Wheaton farm have finished the job of drilling wheat, and the main items on the work schedule now are fall plowing and the moving of the swan house. Both of these jobs are partly finished.

About 35 acres of fall plowing had been completed when I was there the other day, but Carl was planning on plowing 30 or 35 more acres.

The two old swan houses are being moved to a new location on the west edge of the pond, and when the work is completed the structures will be joined together on a new concrete foundation and floor.

Indian summer brought such warm weather this year that it caused a sort of spring revival among many of the animals. Rawlings was telling me the other day that one of the neighbor's geese had started to lay, and it has been so warm that the snakes are still active.

Charley Deetschman, the guide on the Yorkville farm, is more careful about examining woodchuck dens since his experience of yesterday morning. We were walking over the farm when Charley noticed a den dug in the side of a hill. He pointed it out to me and said "woodchucks." I thought it looked a little different from an ordinary woodchuck den, so I held back while Charley went up and looked into the hole. A few seconds later he drew his head back and came scrambling down the side of the hill.

"Did I say woodchuck?" he asked me. His sense of smell had already told him that the den housed a skunk, hence his trip down the hill in a hurry.

The 12 Chester White sows and their young offspring are getting a new dish on their menu. Louis Thurow took a load of oats to Plano the other day and had it ground up with some buckwheat. I know the sows like this concoction, because I saw them go after it the other day.

SALES OF REAL ESTATE HIGHER IN CITY, SUBURBS

Realty Firm Reports Gain Over 1934.

BY AL CHASE.

With continued active inquiry for real estate in all parts of the city and suburbs, Baird & Warner, Inc., yesterday reported that their gross volume for nine months of 1935 in vacant and home sales has reached $2,000,000, compared with $1,250,000 for the same period last year.

According to Stewart B. Matthews, vice president in charge of sales, the sale of property in the Chicago area showed a 60 per cent dollar volume increase during the last quarter over the same three months of 1934.

Unit Sales Double.

The number of parcels of real estate sold during the first nine months of 1935 is reported to be more than double that for the same period last year.

Among a list of sales reported was the residence at 1021 Bluff road, Glencoe purchased by John J. Brossard a vice president of the Container Corporation of America, from Marjorie B. Reynolds. The house at 417 Sunset lane, Glencoe, was bought by William Munro McIntosh from George Osborne.

Plans have been completed and excavating will start next week for a one story and basement addition to the insulated wire plant of the Belden Manufacturing company, at 4647 West Van Buren street, to cost a reported $38,000. It will provide 10,000 square feet of additional space.

Take Bids for Homesteads.

Bids for the erection of fifty homes, with combination barns, chicken houses, and garages, for the Lake county federal subsistence homestead project, will be opened on Nov. 4, it was announced yesterday by George F. Consalves, manager. There will be 38 five room houses, 7 six room homes, and 5 four room units which will involve a total cost of between $100,000 and $150,000. Richard Powers is architect. In addition, three old homes are being remodeled. Each house will occupy a ten acre tract.

According to Gonsalves the bids will include the established labor scales in Lake county, which call for $1.10 per hour for skilled labor, 80 cents for semi-skilled, and 50 cents for unskilled.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN IS GIVEN DISCHARGE AFTER SEVENTY YEARS

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—George Meyer just has been honorably discharged from the Union army after seventy years of waiting.

Announcement came today from the Veterans of Foreign Wars, where a celebration is being planned. Meyer, now 86, started his civil war service at the age of 15. As a private in Company I, 12th Tennessee cavalry, Meyer was wounded. He returned to service and was sent to Fort Leavenworth, Kas., with his company.

When on guard duty one night he was seized by horse thieves. Abandoned, he feared a desertion charge if he returned, so he stayed away and began a life of occasional employment until he appealed to the war department for an honorable discharge and pension.

St. Mary's College to Have Own Indiana Postoffice

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—St. Mary's college and academy will have a postoffice to be known as Holy Cross, Ind., according to word received here. St. Mary's previously had used the Notre Dame postoffice. Sister Mary Nazarene, C. S. C., has been recommended for postmistress.

AUTHOR STRANGE FINAL WITNESS IN ADAMS SUIT

New York, Oct. 18.—[Special.]—The trial of John D. William's $200,000 breach of contract suit against Maude Adams, once one of Broadway's most beloved actresses, and others neared its close today when Supreme Court Justice Daniel V. McNamee dismissed the jury until Monday and told counsel before him that he would hear arguments on the points of law involved.

The last witness was Mrs. Harrison Tweed, more widely known as Michael Strange, author and actress. Miss Adams had testified that among the things theatrical she had done in recent years was to coach Miss Strange for the leading part in "L'Aiglon." It was more or less of a side remark, but counsel for Mr. Williams today called in Miss Strange to refute the statement and thus attack Miss Adams's credibility.

Miss Strange, who was once the wife of John Barrymore, said she had contemplated a rôle in "L'Aiglon." A friend, she said, suggested that she get in touch with Miss Adams, who had done the leading rôle in that play "very beautifully." This was seven years ago, the witness explained, and she and Miss Adams merely discussed the play. She was not coached by Miss Adams.

PLAN PROTEST ON STATE WAGE RULE IN BEAUTY SHOPS

A massmeeting of beauty shop owners will be held Monday evening in the Hotel Sherman, it was announced yesterday, to protest against state regulation of their industry by enforcement of the minimum wage law. Representatives of the industry from all over the state are expected to attend.

S. R. Rabinoff, general counsel for the Beauty Shop Employers of Illinois, termed the new law "another example of the New Deal as being perpetrated upon what is now a struggling industry."

"This unconstitutional law," Rabinoff said, "is as great a catastrophe for the employé as it is for the employer. Beauty shops are unable to pay the minimum wage of $16.50 a week and an army of beauty shop employés will be thrown out of employment. It is manifestly impossible to pay that wage to all classes of operators under the present scale of prices for beauty shop service."

ROB BALL PLAYER'S HOME.

Thomas Borsch, 6109 Seminole avenue, a semi-professional baseball player, reported to the police yesterday that burglars took a $150 diamond ring and $90 from his home Thursday night.

GUARD EJECTS A GIMBEL FROM GIMBEL STORE

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—James Naulty, 50, a detective in the Gimbel Brothers store, was held in $400 bail for a hearing next Friday on charges of assault and battery and disorderly conduct lodged by Richard Gimbel, former vice president of the firm.

Gimbel was not present at the hearing. A friend handed in a doctor's certificate saying he was too badly bruised to appear. Naulty said Gimbel kicked him. He said in putting Gimbel out he was acting on orders of the store management.

Gimbel was discharged as vice president by a vote of directors last May. He is still a stockholder.

"We can't run the business with Richard Gimbel around and we can't keep him out," said the lawyer.

COMMUNITY FUND WORKERS' PART IN CHARITY L[illegible]DED

Boston Attorney Talks at Campaign Luncheon.

The private charity campaign workers who do the "asking" perform a service as great as those who give," Oscar W. Haussermann, Boston attorney, declared yesterday in an address at the Palmer house to more than 600 Community Fund campaign workers. These workers met to hear him tell how he directed Boston's $3,200,000 welfare campaign last winter and to hear reports on the progress of their own efforts.

OSCAR W. HAUSSERMANN.

Clarence B. Randall, director of the trades and industries division of the Community Fund campaign, announced, following Mr. Haussermann's address, that $1,410,000 already has been pledged toward the goal of $3,200,000 sought by the Chicago Community fund for 147 private charity agencies of the city.

Praises American Ideal.

Declaring that private charities, supported by voluntary contributions rather than by taxation, represent the American ideal, Mr. Haussermann warned the workers that it is important to let the givers know that a constructive cause lies behind the campaign.

He declared that "our habit of free will giving" to social agencies "is one of the finest things about American life." He urged the workers to "follow through" with confidence and "feeling."

Three Groups Near Quota.

Reports on the progress of the campaign showed that the women's wear group has raised $10,460, or 99 per cent of its $10,500 quota, and that the packing group has raised $206,459, or 94 per cent of its $225,000 quota. The personal finance group reported it has raised $7,466, or 89 per cent of its $8,500 quota.

The next report luncheon will be on Oct. 28. The reports made at that time, Mr. Randall said, will either "make or break" the campaign.

WITNESS BREAKS LONG SILENCE AT MOONEY HEARING

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 18.—(AP)—A surprise witness, breaking 19 years of silence, testified today he was with Tom Mooney, convicted 1916 Preparedness day bomber, a mile from the scene of the deathly blast at the hour prosecution witnesses swore he was nearby.

It was the first time in Mooney's long years of battling for vindication that direct testimony had been produced in support of his and Mrs. Mooney's alibi — although photographs had been presented to bear out their contention.

The new witness, Charles A. Griffin, Seattle advertising man and former San Francisco court reporter, also testified Charles M. Fickert, the district attorney who prosecuted Mooney, blocked his attempt to tell his story in the original trial and encouraged him to leave the city.

Mooney's counsel hailed Griffins story as a double salvo in support of their time-worn cry of "frame-up."

Elderly Merchant Slugged in N. Wells Street Store

Edward Hodgson, 74 years old, who owns a second hand store at 1554 North Wells street, was found unconscious there yesterday with a cut in the back of his head. He was taken to the county hospital. Hodgson lives at 1829 North Park avenue, but his wife, Alice, told police he slept in the store occasionally, since several burglaries had occurred there. It is believed that he was slugged by prowlers.

Miss Andre, suing under her true name of Launa Anderson, charged that Norris misrepresented his ability to provide for her.

SPAIN ROCKED BY BRIBE SCANDAL; LEADERS ACCUSED

MADRID, Oct. 18.—(AP)—A sensational scandal in which several high government personages are accused of accepting a 2,000,000 peseta [about $275,000] bribe to swing a gambling concession in Spain to a Dutch syndicate rocked official circles tonight. Gambling has been forbidden in Spain since the fall of the monarchy. A charge was made formally to the government by the syndicate itself.

The scandal broke with the announcement by Premier Joaquin Chapaprieta that "very grave charges have been formally preferred against certain high personages" and that the cabinet, "after holding two secret sessions, has resolved to place the matter in the hands of the attorney general, by whom it would be thoroughly sifted." The premier did not disclose the names of those accused.

The syndicate charged that what it interpreted as tacit permission to open a gambling resort was given shortly after the money changed hands and that it opened the famous old casino in San Sebastian, only to be shut down the next day.

PREDICTS LEWIS WILL RUN AGAIN FOR THE SENATE

1930 Campaign Manager Discusses Prospects.

United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis "undoubtedly" will be a candidate for reëlection next year, his 1930 campaign manager, W. L. O'Connell, said yesterday. O'Connell emphasized that this was his own opinion, which was not backed by any expression from Senator Lewis.

Recent cablegrams from Mrs. Lewis, who is at her husband's bedside in Moscow, where he is recovering from an attack of pneumonia, carried word, O'Connell said, that the senator is improving steadily and that they expect to leave soon for Berlin and thence sail for the United States.

Urged to Seek Reëlection.

"A great many letters have been received at the senator's office here asking that he run for reëlection," O'Connell said. "I have no doubt that he will make the race but he has not told me that he would."

Efforts to reach Mr. O'Connell yesterday to inquire about the Lewis candidacy met with a singular lack of success for a time. He had gone to a summer cottage in Michigan but attachés of his office [he is a receiver for closed state banks] refused to reveal the location. He was found finally at Grand Junction, Mich.

Special Session Call Soon.

Gov. Horner said yesterday that he expected to convene the legislature in special session on Oct. 28. Between a dozen and twenty subjects will be included in the call, among them security legislation, revision of the motor trafic code, probably to include a drivers' license law, and the insurance code.

The governor is hoping that the session will not last longer than two or three weeks but many feel that this is a vain hope, considering the lengthy hearings in store for the insurance code alone.

EDWARD F. HUTTON TO WED FORMER WIFE OF BROWN GRIDIRON STAR

New York City, Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Edward F. Hutton, broker, soon will marry Mrs. Dorothy Metzger, a relative of her family admitted today. In three months a divorce decree granted to Mrs. Metzger today in Jersey City will become final.

Meanwhile, young Homer P. Metzger, to be supplanted by the middle-aged millionaire, has been comfortably settled in a job with the Zonite Products corporation. Hutton is chairman of the board of that firm.

Metzger, a former Brown university football star, joined the Zonite forces two months ago. He was assigned to the Chicago office.

HENRY LODGE JR. ENTERS RACE FOR U. S. SENATE SEAT

Beverly, Mass., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States senator, an office held for 30 years by his late grandfather, whose name he bears.

In his announcement last night Lodge said he had concluded that his "work as a newspaperman in Washington and my experience as a member of the legislature would enable me to be of service to the people of Massachusetts."

"The continued discrimination against our workers in Massachusetts by the authorities in Washington has got to stop," Lodge added, "and I intend as time goes on to take up the issues in detail."

One of the youngest men ever to aspire to such a high office from Massachusetts—he was 33 years old last July—Lodge has followed closely in the footsteps of his late grandfather.

Mayor and Courtney Help Install Head of Boys' Group

Mayor Kelly, State's Attorney Courtenay, and Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney, were present last night at the Boys' Brotherhood Republic, 1532 South Hamlin avenue, when new officers were installed. Mayor Kelly administered the oath of office to the new mayor of the Republic, Ben Cowall. Also present was Ralph Goodman, advertising man, who was the first mayor of the Boys' Brotherhood Republic 22 years ago.

FLEEING BANK BANDITS ELUDE POLICE NETWORK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Two overall-clad unmasked bandits who this morning robbed the Bank of Sun Prairie, about 10 miles east of Madison, of approximately $2,500 in cash, late today, apparently had succeeded in eluding the network of Southern Wisconsin authorities, Sheriff Lawrence Larson of Dane county said tonight.

No clews to the bandits' whereabouts have been received here since early afternoon when a car was reported seen traveling at a terrific speed at Columbus and later at Portage, both north of here, in Columbia county.

Authorities were inclined to believe the pair was the same that robbed a bank at Lake Mills, Wis., of about $900 on August 2.

The bandits forced four employés, Cashier A. A. Winand, Assistant Cashier H. R. Twiton, Bookkeeper Henry Huebel, and Miss Ruth Twiton, stenographer, and a customer, Charles Woelker, retired farmer, to lie down on the floor while they scooped up the money from the cash drawers.

HARRY PEARSONS FACES ANOTHER CONTEMPT CASE

Harry P. Pearsons, former mayor of Evanston, was ordered by Superior Judge Walter P. Steffen yesterday to show cause why he should not be cited for contempt of court. Pearsons is in arrears $1,095 in alimony payments to his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Schmitt Pearsons, 316 Ridge avenue, Evanston, under a separate maintenance decree entered three years ago and has ignored a subpena to appear in court, Mrs. Pearsons' attorney told Judge Steffen.

The contempt rule was made returnable next Wednesday. Pearsons has been guilty of contempt of court by Superior Judge Rudolph F. Desort for failure to pay $6,958 additional arrearage but is now appealing that case to the Illinois Appellate court.

HOUSEWIVES ASK MEAT BOYCOTT IN MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 18.—(AP)—A feminine force skirmished today against lamb chops at 10 cents each, bacon at 45 cents a pound, and kindred high meat prices as the first-day meat boycott maneuver developed into dispute over any gains.

Retail men said the projected boycott, engineered by the Women's League Against the High Cost of Living, showed no results.

A handful of pickets patroled downtown stores. Police took no action.

The league demands that packers, who soon will be prevailed upon personally in Chicago, cut meat prices 25 per cent.

MUDDLED NEUTRALITY.

When two or more nations go to war the President of the United States, under senate resolution 173, is required to prohibit the sale to them of arms, ammunition, and implements of war. Mr. Roosevelt asked that the law give him power, but also discretion. He wanted leeway, authority to apply or not to apply the embargo as he saw fit. Then he might adopt and support one belligerent and punish another. That issue in the long range was left unsettled. The present mandatory resolution will be reconsidered early next year when it ceases to be, in effect, a compromise for the moment.

Two or more nations go to war and the embargo must be laid against them. Another nation is drawn into the war and the American position then shifts. The President "may" apply the embargo. Here, apparently, he has discretion. If that had been the law in the world war a very pretty technical confusion could have arisen putting American neutrality in a hole at the beginning. Austria-Hungary and Serbia started off, Germany and Russia were in four days later, France six days, and Great Britain seven days afterward. Where would the "must" and the "may" have split apart? Where would the mandate end and discretion begin?

The question is technical and in the past. Now it may become very much alive. The embargo is mandatory against Italy and Ethiopia. It is apparently discretionary if Great Britain becomes involved against Italy or if the league nations join in. Mr. Roosevelt may do as he pleases. American neutrality measures are not only fakes in pretending to stop war commerce, which by their own limitations they do not, but they are dangerous fakes because they permit the worst kind of discrimination.

Robert Lansing's recently published autobiography will give its readers a shock. What Page, as ambassador to Great Britain, did to draw his nation into war has been exposed. He was not at ease until the United States was in. Lansing was secretary of state. He was under suspicion, but until his own words gave all the details of his purpose it wasn't known that he had worked systematically by suppression and emphasis to make war with Germany unavoidable.

Great Britain not only had the American ambassador, which was serious enough, but it had the American department of state, the head of which by his own confession was using his office to prepare the American people to accept war on the side of the British and the French as their manifest destiny. Lansing may have thought that he was patriotic and farsighted. His critics, now completely armed, doubt it.

It must be a shock to a peaceable democracy to learn that there can be conspiracy in their government against them. They are used as plastic material to be molded into the shape desired for concealed purposes. The neutrality law is a new instrument in the hands of government. The present one is a shifty fraud. When it is up for reconsideration it may be made worse. The pacifists egged the congressmen on, but the pacifists themselves were well betrayed. They have unloosed a new mischief.

PRISON ESCAPES.

United States Marshal McDonnell after investigating the escape from the federal building of the prisoner Ward has decided that there is "no reason to censure any deputies." Ward escaped by opening the door of the lockup cage, climbing out of a window into the office of District Attorney Igoe, making his way down a stairway and into the street. Marshal McDonnell feels that this was "unfortunate." Just another good break for a criminal and a bad break for the public.

In spite of this official's complacency, indeed it emphasizes our point, the frequent escapes of dangerous criminals from prisons and other places of detention deserve more attention than the casual reader of the press is likely to give them. In many cases they are the last resort of crime. Having tried all the other devices which our administration of criminal justice offers in the complicated technique of trials, from the corruption of juries up to the last technicality of review; having canvassed the possibilities of the parole system, of insanity hearings and of executive clemency, so-called, there remains to the convicted offender the brusque resort of escape.

Presumably a malefactor, duly tried, convicted, and imprisoned, is in safe keeping. Our penal institutions are expensive in building and maintenance. We are able to invent the most efficient mechanisms, automobiles and airplanes, the admiration of the world, the most efficient and reliable machinery in industry known to man. But it would seem we can't build a prison that will hold some prisoners, and they are usually criminals it is most essential for public safety to keep imprisoned.

Of course we can and do build such prisons. But as the poet says: "Stone walls do not a prison make nor iron bars a cage." The frequent escapes from American jails indicate inefficient management, and the inefficiency is not always innocent. Sloppy administration is the inevitable result of political morals. Even where money has not turned the key, indifference and stupidity have been put on guard in the routine of political spoilsmanship. The standards are of callous politics, not of public service or security.

QUEER FISH ARE QUEER FISH.

Revolt in the desert will not be inspired by the ordinary man of family, the normal suburbanite, or the average fellow who fusses about the way his shirts come out of the laundry and worries over his thinning hair. Extraordinary deeds require extraordinary chaps, and once they get going they don't conform to rule.

The English can make as much fuss over a snagged shirt, a corked wine, a splash from a puddle, or a neighbor's hen in the garden patch as any people alive, but with their public schools, their universities, and their empire service they will throw off such sports as Lawrence of Arabia, who as Private Shaw of the air force died of injuries received when he and his bicycle were hit by a truck. His death is followed by the wide circulation of his "Seven Pillars of Wisdom," the full story of the Feisal revolt in Hejaz, in which, if Lawrence becomes better known, he also becomes less explicable. He needs his Freud, who would want first to have a look at male pedagogy in the English schools.

The esthetic or ascetic revulsion from life is a vein running through humanity. It may be a thin thread in an individual or a broad stream through a group. It was more than a thread in Lawrence and it wasn't an inconsistency that the mixed pattern of Arab continence and grossness yielded to his understanding and did not make his morbidity worse. Readers of Lawrence may be struck by two incidents, of one of which he is himself partly conscious as to import, of the other not at all.

A Moroccan Moor in a small expedition shot an Arab of a distinguished tribe, an Ageyl, in an irrational dispute while they were gathering wood. Blood feuds had threatened to wreck the Arab revolt, and Lawrence, nearly dead with dysentery, fever, boils, heat, and hard camel riding, had a murderer on his hands and the most delicate of situations. He was too sick to be eloquent in appealing to moderation and considered judgment. The Arabs were tense and, worst of all, there were other Moroccans in the small force. Lawrence organized a sort of court martial, the guilty man confessed and was condemned. Some one then must execute sentence on him. Whoever did it would expose himself, his kin, and his tribe to possible retaliation from the Moors.

Lawrence decided that the executioner must be none other than himself. With the condemned man he managed to drag himself out of sight and behind a sand hill, where he made as gruesome a job as could be imagined. One shot brought the Moor down spouting blood from his chest and rolling about. Another hit him in the wrist and then Lawrence pressed the pistol to his neck under the chin and managed the coup de grace. A touch of sadist in that esthete?

Regardless of Arab finesse Lawrence's way was the only one the normal British commander would not have taken. His prisoner might have gone to superior authority manacled or he might have faced a mixed firing squad with half the guns unloaded. That other commander, however, would not have been sharing lice and rice with the sherifs and he would not have written the "Seven Pillars."

The other incident was in the blowing up of railroad track. Lawrence laid contact mines to be exploded when a locomotive ran over the spot. Fate would send the victim. In this case the trigger was not well placed. It did not establish contact. Consequently a train loaded with women and children being evacuated from a school in a danger zone was not blown to smithereens. Lawrence records that as an artist he was furious at the failure although spared some regrets. The trigger error was corrected and the explosion destroyed a trainload of laborers. Another mine near Mudorowara got a hospital train, "packed with refugees and sick men," typhus victims and women and children. The Turks could recognize frightfulness when it came their way.

Lawrence of Arabia was, as some men in strange adventures are bound to be, a queer fish.

Editorial of the Day

[Providence Evening Bulletin.]

We commend to all those who believe that competition is the life of trade and a tremendous stimulus to success the remarkable account of football in Rhodesia as told by Miss Mabel Shaw to the British and Foreign Bible society.

The Africans, it appears, have improved the game no end by subduing its fierce and often bloody rivalries to a kind of triumph of the human spirit over common humanity against the world, the flesh, and both goal tenders.

A goal, for instance, is not regarded in any mean partisan spirit, but, no matter which side makes it, as an occasion for general rejoicing. The game is stopped after each goal for a 15 minute celebration. Both sides are congratulated, the victors for furnishing such an inspiring example of manliness and the vanquished for offering the opportunity.

The better to promote good fellowship and the feeling that this is everybody's fight against the common foe—blind force or the Prince of Darkness or whoever he may be—the officials may call the game at any minute, thus leaving the good feeling that whichever side was behind at the whistle might not have been so had the game gone on an hour or so longer.

Football games in Rhodesia are not for weaklings. They last for four and five hours, depending largely, of course, on the number of intervals devoted to the general rejoicing.

And this makes the customer feel that no matter what he has paid to get in, he has not been cheated. Moreover, he leaves with no bitterness, but in an exalted frame of mind whichever side wins. The occasion, unless both sides have been so craven-hearted that they are a disgrace to humanity, has been one of triumph.

There was a time when American football as played in our higher institutions of learning sank to very low standards and took on the aspect of hired gladiatorial combat. Happily it has mended its ways and become comparatively respectable, though it still has a lot to pay on the stadia mortgages.

But if it ever sinks again we know where to look for the tonic of brotherly love and harmonious endeavor to restore it to a sound and pristine health.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

IT'S VERY DISQUIETING to read about all the bandits and burglars that enter homes and tie up whole families and flocks of butlers and cooks and maids and things by representing that they have been sent with a handsome present for somebody living there. Of course, the gentlemen are bidden to bring in the box—it's usually so big and heavy that it takes three or four bandits to carry it. Then once inside they produce guns, ropes, nasty tape to seal mouths tight shut and proceed to business. It's hard to decide on any line of action when strangers come to the door and seek entrance on one excuse or the other. As a general thing the strangers are merely honest gas inspectors who wish to look at the meter, or they are bringing a couple of quarts of pre-war whisky sent by a friend. It's very seldom that the mysterious package which admits strangers contains two quarts of fine old pre-war whisky—but one never knows. And how overcome with grief I would be if I found that my unfounded fears had caused me to shut and bar the door in the face of two quarts of fine old pre-war whisky.

But I've got to do something. I don't mind being thrown down and hog tied like a wild steer at a cowboys' rodeo show. In fact, I think it would interest me, and, after the bandit had leaped at me, thrown me for a goal, and then tied me all up, I would say to him: "What time did you do it in? One minute and seventeen seconds, you say. Pooh, I've seen a cow hand rope and hog tie a steer in fifteen seconds flat. You must be a beginner." It wouldn't be the roping and hog tying I would object to so much as the tape they put over my mouth. It's just ordinary tape such as you wrap on your tires when you get a puncture, and the bandits never have consideration enough to flavor it with wintergreen, or lemon, or vanilla, or something nice tasting. I know that I'd simply abominate having that nasty tape draped around my face.

So now if three or four pleasant looking gentlemen come to my door with a large, important looking box which they say is a valuable present sent to me by a number of prominent citizens as a slight tribute to my noble work for humanity I will nimbly step back and slam the door shut and bolt it. Then I'll shout through the keyhole and ask 'em to shove their birth certificates and their vaccination papers under the door. They'll probably argue and hint that the present is from the king of England, that the box has Scotch tags on it, and that it gurgles when they shake it around. That'll be tempting, but I'll tell them again through the keyhole that each and every one must have a letter from his pastor before I will admit him to the sacred precincts of my home. Of course, if they possess all the papers I've asked for, I'll know they're all right. But as a further precaution I'll yell at them through the door that they don't look strong enough to carry a big heavy box like that up the steps and I have just sent for a squad of large, healthy policemen to help 'em. All of which sounds like a good deal of trouble, but, as I said before, I hate to have that nasty, sticky tire tape plastered on my face.

FOR AUTUMN SHATTERS.

Down days of April weather
And many a lengthening day,
We walked and laughed together,
For then was much to say.

Today, for Autumn shatters
All Summer at one stroke,
Our minds on other matters,
We passed, and neither spoke.

PYGMALION

OUR FEDERAL DEFICIT for the new fiscal year beginning July 1 was over one thousand million dollars. Gosh! peace is horribly expensive. Maybe it would be better if we got into a war with somebody. Wars are said to be horribly extravagant things—but, say! have you tried to buy a fair sized piece of good salt pork lately?

AND YESTERDAY LIKEWISE both the President of these United States and the Vice President, to say nothing of twenty-one United States senators and twenty-seven members of the house of representatives, were all of 'em outside of the limits of any and all of our forty-eight sovereign states. And yet everything went along as fine as the day before—and they were outside of the U. S. that day, too. Why wouldn't it be a good idea to have our rulers take bigger and better vacations outside of the United States? We just seem to have an awful time when they all get together down in Washington, but when they depart for foreign shores then everything goes as smooth as silk. Maybe one of the national political parties will put something in their platform about it. Like this: "And we, the national convention of the G. O. P. (or the unterrified Democratic party), do solemnly promise the people of these United States that if our ticket is victorious in the coming election the President, the Vice President, and a large number of senators and representatives will clear out of the country for at least six months every year. And if that isn't long enough we'll make it two years or life." Anyhow, the idea is worth thinking about. Write to your congressman today!

COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN.

He sat in the band stand
On an upturned pail,
And pompously twisted
At the lion's tail.
He bowed to applause
When the beast lay dead,
But who chained the lion

STRETCHED LUNGS.

When we consider the tremendous job that the lungs are called on to perform and the quiet, modest way in which they function, we may well question why there is not more lung disease. The structures present the largest surface of the body to which the outside air is accessible, and the extreme delicacy of the air sacs renders this tissue unusually susceptible to poisonous gases, toxins from disease, and bacteria themselves.

Normal breathing, and hence an adequate supply of oxygen to the blood, depends upon maintaining the chambers of the lungs in such a condition that a proper exchange of gases—oxygen and carbon dioxide—can occur. Therefore, the air sacs must preserve their elastic character; that is, to be able to expand and contract with each breath.

Occasionally we overdistend the lungs. This is sometimes foolishly occasioned by unnecessary coughing, in which the exit of the air is shut off for a moment in order to produce a propelling effect in raising mucus. Thus violent coughing or great muscular effort, when the lungs are inflated, may, through pressure, bring about dilatation of the tissue inclosing the air spaces. Once stretched there is a marked loss of power of the cells to return to normal. When a considerable number of air sacs become permanently enlarged we recognize the condition described as emphysema.

The causes are not entirely clear. Many authorities believe that the increasing rigidity of the chest wall that occurs as age advances is a factor, while others think that there is a gradual loss of the collapsing power of the tissue, resulting in a type of chronic expansion. This means that as air leaves the lungs the sacs do not contract to their normal state. As this tendency increases there results a more or less permanent dilatation.

The symptoms are those of a chronic bronchitis. In fact, inflammatory changes along the bronchi and in the air sacs themselves usually precede or accompany the condition. There is a chronic cough, sometimes with severe paroxysms and profuse expectoration. The cough is explosive and because of its oft repeated character the patient's face may become deeply congested or even cyanotic [bluish]. There is generally great difficulty in breathing and the struggle for air is often pathetic. Not infrequently these patients are thought to be chronic asthmatics and a diagnosis of bronchial asthma is made. As a rule a careful X-ray examination will disclose the exact state of affairs.

The symptom is always annoying and may be serious if the circulation is embarrassed. We can understand that when lung tissue is overstretched the capillaries are damaged or obliterated, the whole resulting in improper functioning of the lungs. Less carbon dioxide is excreted and less oxygen is absorbed. This leads to labored breathing and cyanosis.

Careful management is imperative. Afflicted individuals should, if possible, live in an atmosphere free from dust and smoke. Some form of mild, regular exercise should be prescribed and the diet is important. No individual with chronic emphysema should attempt to eat a full meal or load up with fluids of any sort. Small, frequent feedings give great comfort. A chair similar to the old Morris chair should be provided for rest, and some patients prefer to sleep in this semi-reclining posture. Proper remedies for the cough should be prescribed, and in many cases potassium iodide is used with good effect. If the disease is severe and if the coughing paroxysms are accompanied by deep cyanosis, oxygen may be used occasionally with great relief.

Excellent results have followed the use of a firm abdominal binder that extends upward over the lower ribs. As a result coughing is reduced, the paroxysms are shortened, and there is far less exhaustion than when the chest and abdomen are not properly supported.

LOW BLOOD PRESSURE.

REPLY

Various conditions lead to low blood pressure. Treatment must be directed at the cause. However, in many cases, no particular treatment is necessary. The patient should be careful to keep the weight up to normal, get plenty of rest, and avoid headache remedies and hypnotics. We have a booklet on abnormal blood pressure that has a section on low blood pressure. This you can get by sending 10 cents and a stamped, addressed envelope.

OVERLAPPING TOE.

S. W. writes: What is the cause and cure of overlapping toe?

REPLY.

This condition may be brought about by shoes that are too small and that crowd the toes. Exercise the toes by training them to grasp a towel placed on the floor. Wear wider shoes.

NOISY PEDDLERS.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—[Friend of the People.]—Can peddlers sell their wares on the street in a residential district, going up and down the sidewalk hollering to the top of their voices, or do they have to go down the alley? Can they holler in the alley or do they have to use a bell or come to the door? We have peddlers coming down our street any time between early morning and late at night. Those who work nights are unable to get any sleep. A. K.

Officers assigned to this complaint report that they paid frequent visits to the location complained of and warned peddlers found there that arrests would be made if they continued crying their wares on the street. They further report that they were given the assurance of the peddlers whom they encountered that there would be no further cause for complaint, and on their repeated visits did not find them using the streets for peddling. Later officers reported they arrested a peddler in this vicinity using the streets to cry his wares at 4:20 p. m. This man was discharged in court with a warning. Officers have been instructed to continue to give the matter their attention.

PROPERTY PURCHASE.

Chicago Heights, Ill., Oct. 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I want to purchase a lot in a cemetery from a widow and her sons. 1. This widow's husband has been dead nine years and this lot is in his name, and has never been probated. The sons are married and their wives are living. 2. Could she give me a good legal title and deed? 3. Could you advise what action to go through so my husband and I could make this purchase and obtain clear title? The widow claims she can sell without probating. She said her other property she held jointly with her husband was sold. F. E. B.

1. This lapse of time would bar the claims of creditors. If you are sure that your deed is signed by all of the heirs and their spouses, we see no serious objection, especially in view of the fact that you presumably do not contemplate resale.

2. No. You should also have the signatures of the sons and their wives.

3. It is nearly always advisable for a purchaser of real estate to employ an attorney throughout, and we advise you to employ one now. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ASSETS OF ESTATE.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Would it be necessary to probate a will where there is no real estate? There are a few (1) bonds and (2) utility shares, but they are all made out in joint tenancy with right of survivorship. 3. What amount of life insurance is exempt from taxation? A. B.

1. If you can obtain possession of the bonds and they are in the common wording payable to bearer, we see no necessity for probate as to them.

2. If you mean common stocks registered in your name, then you should take up the question as to them with the transfer officer of the corporation.

3. Depends on the tax that you have in mind and on other facts not before us. We suggest that you take your question up with an insurance broker.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY HAROLD TATAM.

BUENOS AIRES.—Following a two months' deadlock, the Chaco peace conference is getting together again to make one more effort to induce Bolivia and Paraguay to recognize there is more virtue in "give and take" than in obstinate refusal to budge from their respective viewpoints.

Unless the conference succeeds in this task an eventual renewal of the Chaco war will likely occur despite the fact that the peace protocol was supposed to contain guarantees making a renewal of hostilities impossible.

The main points upon which the Bolivian and Paraguayan delegates are at loggerheads may be summed up as follows:

1. The peace protocol, which was signed by both nations, provided that the Chaco dispute should be submitted to arbitration in the event direct negotiations failed. But the Paraguayan and Bolivian ideas of what should be submitted to arbitration—in other words, what they have been fighting about—are as wide apart as the poles. Bolivia wants to arbitrate the possession of the entire Chaco as far as the Paraguay river, including the zone which years ago was awarded to Paraguay by President Rutherford Hayes of the United States in arbitrating a dispute between Argentina and Paraguay.

On the other hand, the Paraguayans refuse to include this zone in new arbitration proceedings, or any part of the Chaco which has been colonized by Paraguayans.

Both parties are standing pat on these claims.

2. The peace protocol charged the conference with the task of arranging "an exchange and repatriation of prisoners of war according to the usages of international law."

Paraguay, who holds many more prisoners of war than does Bolivia, has flatly refused to release an excess of around 28,000 captives until a treaty of peace is signed. Bolivia demands the immediate repatriation of all prisoners by both parties irrespective of their disproportion in numbers. Paraguay contends that "exchange and repatriation of prisoners" means an exchange of prisoners, man for man, and eventual repatriation of the remainder.

Bolivia declares it means the simultaneous release of all prisoners. The Paraguayans argue that, as they hold the flower of the Bolivian army prisoner, such a course would be tantamount to providing Bolivia with a brand new army—something they will never consent to do until a definite peace treaty has been signed.

The Paraguayans also contend that the "usages of international law" support their thesis, and in this they would seem to have the better of the argument, and on this ground they have rejected a plan proposed by Hugh Gibson, the United States delegate, because it provided for the repatriation of all prisoners "as soon as possible." Neither party will discuss any compromise.

3. The peace protocol delegated to the conference the job of fixing the frontier between Bolivia and Paraguay in the Chaco territory. The conference in a secret session heard the views of the opposing parties. These views were so divergent that they were never made public or even communicated to the interested nations.

In face of these apparently insurmountable obstacles, the probabilities of the Buenos Aires peace conference arranging a real settlement of the Chaco dispute seem remote. The conference has a tough job in hand, which is rendered all the harder by the post-war political campaigns raging in both Bolivia and Paraguay. In these campaigns the ultra-patriotic note is being sounded so loudly as to brand any suggestion of peace concessions as high treason.

Furthermore, the prevailing tension has not been relieved by Paraguayan agitation in favor of the creation of a new South American republic through the secession of the Bolivian provinces of Beni and Santa Cruz de la Sierra.

It seems probable that the peace conference, which is composed of delegates appointed by Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Peru, Uruguay, and the United States, will find no other course open than to wash its hands of the whole question just as all former Chaco mediators have done. And in this event, what assurance is there that this most insensate of all wars will not break out afresh?

THE NEW CRISIS IN SCHOOL FINANCES.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—I questioned the good faith of the board of education at the time the "economy program" was put into effect. At that time the Parents' Public School association supported the program. There were certain measures recommended which we approved only because of the financial situation that existed at the time. However, on the whole we felt the fundamentals had been preserved and that the educational opportunities of the children had been considered.

The elimination of Crane Junior college was not only approved but had been recommended, not because the Parents' Public School association does not approve of junior colleges but because Chicago in 1931 or in 1935 could not and cannot support such institutions. Crane was abolished. What has happened? Three junior colleges have been established to take its place. Is that keeping faith?

The board of education, to meet salaries of the teaching staf, mortgaged the heritage of the children of Chicago, the loop properties which, when rents were being paid, brought in more than $1,000,000 annually. Where does the board of education expect to obtain the money to meet current pay rolls when it has only taxes to rely on? Is the board of education going to have the courage of its convictions again and introduce another program of sound economy and then six months or a year later be misled by well meaning persons who sponsor enlarged curriculi and extracurricular activities, regardless of where the money is coming from to pay for them? Or is the board of education, with its knowledge of conditions and its convictions, going to sa: "We will provide as much education, of superior quality, as our income will pay for"?

When the people of Chicago are in a financial position to support junior colleges and extracurricular activities and say so by advocating and supporting an increase in taxes for this purpose, then let us have them.

The citizens of Chicago must realize the elementary school is the foundation upon which the education of their children is built. Our elementary schools have been weakened. The elementary school appropriation has been cut, but money was found and appropriated to establish three new junior colleges. These colleges can serve only a limited number and the educational results are questioned. Again I ask, is this keeping faith? JENNIE L. TYLER.

NAVAL CRUISES AND SPECIAL TRAINS.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—On page 9 of your paper of yesterday appeared an item from Washington headed, "Naval Cruises of Roosevelt Cost a Million." No reference was made in this item to the lavish use of special trains at the expense of the taxpayers in which our beloved President has so redundantly indulged since his inauguration and in connection with the vast majority of which there does not appear to have been one iota of excuse on the ground of public business. What have these cost the taxpayers? T. B.

HISTORY ANTICIPATING ITSELF.

Warren, Ill., Oct. 16.—In the museum at Springfield, Ill., there is a statuette depicting the Indians' last stand at Starved Rock, and on the base of this an account says "It happened 2,000 years ago." MRS. P. J. DALY.

BORAH VS. ROOSEVELT.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 6.—It is noticeable in the Ethiopian war that England, which has never fought any major war without plenty of allies, and always takes the lion's share of the spoils and claims victory is attributable only to her (as she did to us in 1917-'18, when without American intervention the central powers had the war won), is now backing down before Mussolini with the excuse she is not strong enough alone to fight him. England has found the U. S. A. learned its lesson in 1917-'18 in a war that was essentially only for English and French interests, and will not furnish England aid and American youth for her cannon fodder. Our U. S. treasury is not at England's disposal as it was under Wilson, the best Englishman ever in the White House (as England always fights and bleeds to her last ally).

For safety's sake we should elect Borah to the presidency in spite of his years. The English and other European statesmen are active in politics in their 80's and until death, so why not Borah, as he is the only worthwhile presidential timber the G. O. P. have? The rest are flops and it put up will surely reëlect Roosevelt. The incumbent at the White House is a protégé of the Wilson régime. In a war crisis we must have a man like Borah at the helm who we know is a 100 per cent American, as Wilson was 100 per cent English. GEORGE PARKER.

ANGLOPHILE.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—I have read THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for many years and am in sympathy with it most of the time, but I must protest at the mean slings at England. This morning's cartoon, lower section, is unspeakably bad.

At this time when friendship with England means so much to us why do we stir up animosity? In my opinion England has been wonderfully strong and helpful in this situation and to attribute low, selfish motives is not timely.

The "world's greatest land grabber" is a mean epithet. We did not like Italy's scoring us for past grabbing as justifying their attitude.

Please curb your cartoonist. MAY T. DEWHURST.

THE PRICE OF BETRAYAL.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—Italy broke her treaty with Germany in the world war and at the division of the spoils "received only the crums." Did England treat Benedict Arnold on equality with her other generals after her war with the American colonies? WILL NEWCOMB.

THE USE OF TAX TOKENS.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—The chain stores are now refusing to accept the sales tax tokens, as the other stores have done from the start, saying there was such a kick on the tokens. Well, what will this latest move do toward eliminating the kick and who gets the extra 3 cents plus on a dollar? If they started at 30 cents like the large stores it would be more fair, but at 15 cents it is extremely unfair to the people with small incomes. N. M. L.

SAFER FOR WOMEN.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—I am in favor of year-round daylight saving time. Reason? The streets of this city are not a safe place for women after dark and as I work until 5 o'clock and sometimes later, it is after 6 when I get home and it is then dark. The rest of the girls in our office agree with me. NORA TOUSSAINT.

THE FAULT OF BRITISH STATESMEN

JAPANESE VIEW ON NAVAL POWER IS GIVEN TO U. S.

Report Tokio Wants as Much as Britain.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Ambassador Hirosi Saito of Japan today delivered a memorandum to the state department setting forth Japan's views on the naval conference proposed for the end of this year to consider limitation on the expiration of the existing naval treaties. The text of the memorandum was not revealed.

The communication is said to be identical in text with that delivered to the British foreign office at London earlier in the day. The London note was reported to contain an expression from the Japanese cabinet on Great Britain's overtures toward a conference to replace the treaties abrogated by Japan.

Await British Reply.

The state department is not expected to reveal the text of the memorandum until Great Britain makes public the note it received. Officials said the government is bound by diplomatic courtesy not to disclose the note until Great Britain acts on the reply to its invitation.

Reports were current here that the Japanese communiques contain an effort to disrupt the united naval stand of America and Great Britain against an increase in Japan's fleet. It was reported that Japan will agree to attend a conference which would consider realignment of the 5-5-3 ratio of existing treaties which would give Japan a navy as large as that of the United States.

Toward this end, the notes are reported to state, Japan is prepared to admit that England should have a navy larger than that of Japan or the United States to protect a vast colonial empire. However, Japan will insist that the United States has no need for a navy equal to Great Britain's and should have a fleet no larger than that of Japan, according to reports.

Seek to Isolate U. S.

Officials said if the reports of the contents of the note are correct, Japan is seeking to win Great Britain to her side and to put the United States in the position of making an isolated stand against Japanese parity with the American fleet. It is known that such a course has been under consideration of the Japanese cabinet since Japan formally abrogated the existing treaties almost a year ago.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull refused to comment on Ambassador Saito's visit. He said the whole matter of the proposed naval conference will be developed from abroad in view of Great Britain's assumption of initiative toward bringing about a naval meeting.

ARMY TO STAGE AIR TROPHY RACE IN DETROIT TODAY

Selfridge Field, Mich., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—The army air corps' annual Mitchell trophy race—the only competition in which military pilots are allowed to fly service airplanes—will be held here tomorrow. This contest in which only flyers stationed with the first pursuit group are eligible to compete, will be the crowning event of a "visitors' day" and air show on this military post.

More than 100,000 persons from Detroit and surrounding cities are expected to gather on the field to watch ten picked airmen whip their tiny single seat fighters ten times around a 15 mile course. Last year the high speed record for this race was set by Capt. Fred C. Nelson with an average of 216.83 miles an hour. No pilot in the race was more than five miles an hour behind this speed, indicative of the fierce competition.

This year the flyers will pilot Boeing P26A fighters with a supercharged Wasp 550 horse power motor. The same type of ship and motor was flown last year, but the present motors have a direct fuel injection system installed which should increase the average speed slightly.

The Mitchell trophy race, instituted by former Gen. William Mitchell, is one of the most sporting of the year's flying competitions because each pilot will fly exactly the same type of ship and motor. Thus it resolves itself into a pure test of individual flying skill.

MRS. KATHARINE DIXON AGAR FILES SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. Katharine Dixon Agar filed suit for divorce in the Circuit court yesterday against Woodbury Stearns Agar Jr., 3750 Sheridan road, secretary of the Agar Food Products company, 310 North Green street. The bill charged desertion. The Agars' wedding on Oct. 27, 1928, was a society event. They separated June 13, 1933. Mrs. Agar asks the custody of their son, Woodbury Stearns Agar III., 6 years old. Mrs. Agar is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Dixon, 2410 Lake View avenue. Attorney Robert E. Cantwell Jr., counsel for Mrs. Agar, said the divorce bill will be heard Monday by Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan and will not be contested.

SATURDAY NEWS OF NEW BOOKS

Sinclair Lewis Uses Dictator for New Satire

"It Can't Happen Here" Has U. S. for Setting.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"It Can't Happen Here," by Sinclair Lewis. [Doubleday-Doran.] To be published next Monday.

"Dwight Morrow," by Harold Nicholson. [Harcourt-Brace.]

OF all of the satires which have come from the searing pen of Sinclair Lewis to upset the complacency or to stimulate the gray matter [when present] of readers, his latest, will burst upon the public on Monday with the loudest detonation.

It is to "Elmer Gantry" and "Babbitt" as a depth bomb is to a hand grenade. It is in the mood of those two diatribes rather than after the manner of the satiric, but not ironic "Main Street" and ironic rather than satiric "Dodsworth" and "Arrowsmith," and not at all in the sugared vinegar mood of "Ann Vickers" and "Work of Art."

All of Sinclair Lewis' best cunning has come back to him in "It Can't Happen Here," a stinging, violent, satirical imaginary picture of the next few months in American politics ending in dictatorship.

Sinclair Lewis, always at his best as pamphleteering novelist has become an imaginative pamphleteer in "It Can't Happen Here," the while, as novelist he tells the dramatic story of Doremus Jessup's honest yerning to keep his common, sensible head in a mad world. The book starts with a group of Vermonters at a Rotary club banquet in this year of our Lord, 1935. They are fastnesses of security, Fort Beulah, Vermont, and the Rotary club, and tales of terrorism abroad bring only statements of a fact too axiomatic to admit of argument, that such things can't happen here.

The book ends with dicatorship and a counterrevolution, natural evolutions from the nomination and election of Berzelius Windrip. The dictatorship is an improvement upon each and every one of the current dictatorships throughout the world [whether Fascist or communist] by the simple process of combining all of their illegalities and cruelties and stupidities and doubling the output of each.

And Berzelius Windrip is an improvement on all chauvinistic political demagogs by the same process of combining in his character and his utterances all of the soak the rich, $5,000 a year, public ownership, radio-led political league, down with the bankers, communists, Jews, the common man for the common people, inflation panaceas, burocratic proposals or actions of America's political history and doubling their intensity.

Nowhere in literary political caricature has any one appeared more brilliantly satirized than does the gentleman who in "It Can't Happen Here" is elected president of the United States by an overwhelming majority of the "right thinking" and sincere Americans in 1936. The extracts from Buzz Windrip's one literary effort, "Zero Hour," are superb satire in themselves. They are merely incidental as chapter headings. His recorded actions rival even his utterances.

That is, until the dictatership actually gets to working well. Then neither he nor what happens is so funny. Terror stalks the pages . . . packed into them incidents which may have happened in Germany, in Italy, in Turkey, in Russia where well within the memory of man it was being said that "it can't happen here" sickeningly happening in Vermont, where the quietest and most self-contained citizens of the United States dwell.

Doremus Jessup, editor of the Fort Beulah Daily Informer, a man of 60 years, all of them passionately upright, honest, dutiful toward his fellow men, becomes a victim of dictatorship, but never a victim of disloyalty to his own convictions, and about him there grows a strangely populated island of passionate tolerance and intolerant passion, that moves from high estate in the town to the lowest of estates in a concentration camp where he is glad to clean toilets and has managed to find a way to lie so that the steel rod welts on his back don't interfere with his sleep.

The story of Doremus Jessup mounts to high tragedy and native nobility, although it never ceases for one moment to be high satire. It is filled with such detail as was a little overwhelming in "Main Street," with the kind of minutæ which made "Babbitt" at times a catalog, but detail touched with such vividness and such satire that the reader will not miss a word.

Whether "It Can't Happen Here" is Sinclair Lewis' greatest novel or not I cannot say. It is too powerful a blow . . . the reader feels such a terrific impact that he doesn't stop to analyze what has hit him. It was written at white heat.

Literally locked against the world, Sinclair Lewis spent the summer months in his house in Vermont, writing feverishly. I have seen the first draft, later drafts, the finished manuscript of some of the chapters. It is the most minutely planned mss. I have ever looked at. The result has the passion of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," with vitriol instead of salt tears for its life blood. But whether it is great novel writing as well as great imaginative political satire I am still too stunned to know.

There are those, and many more than any of us suspect, who feel that if Dwight Morrow had not died four years ago this month our political problems of the next few years would be solved and he is regretfully mentioned as the certain savior of the situation for the Republicans and for the nation.

In Harold Nicholson's biography of him he emerges a man of rare character, honesty, uprightness, a poor boy who became one of the country's wealthy men through his own efforts . . . his life running the ideal course of America's popular figures. His own political career as senator was not necessarily one to make him an American political leader, but Mr. Nicholson declares that Dwight Morrow was learning, and, with his constitutional thoroughness and caution, waiting until he was master of a situation before he became its leader. His joining Morgan & Co. in 1914, his biographer declares, was the turning point in his life, because he then had an opportunity to become an international figure.

"Dwight Morrow" is a biography in the most correct, conventional pattern. It is politely eulogistic but it also politely states facts which are not so laudatory. Its chief interest to many, aside from its service as a careful record of the life of a man who might have been our next President, is as a study of an American in politics by an Englishman in politics.

It has not the grandeur of Mr. Nicholson's fine life of his father, "The Portrait of a Diplomatist."

Real 'Mr. Chips' Tells His Story in 'And Gladly Teach'

It is inevitable after the popularity of "Mr. Chips" that Bliss Perry's reminiscences, "And Gladly Teach" [Houghton Mifflin], breed the caption "Mr. Chips in Real Life." However, Bliss Perry has been throughout his teaching years a great teacher as well as a great man, and the record of his contacts has a vigor of the mind which the sentimental tale of the flaccid little Mr. Chips wholly lacked. "And Gladly Teach" is a stimulating book, about seventy-five well lived years.

Twin Series of Mrs. Perkins at 2 Million Mark

Specially Bound Volume Presented Author.

Yesterday afternoon Lucy Fitch Perkins of Evanston received from Carl B. Roden, librarian of the Chicago public library, a specially bound copy of her two millionth book to come off the press. It was "The Eskimo Twins," first published in 1914. There is no one who would not envy Mrs. Perkins her distinction [I doubt if there are more than two or three authors alive who can equal it] and none who begrudges it to her. For quietly, gently, but earnestly she has been for twenty-five years performing the humanizing task of making children conscious that other children, however far removed geographically, are their brothers.

She began the series with "The Japanese Twins" in the days when the Japanese scares were filling the air. It grew out of story telling hours with fifteen children. They used to call themselves the "poison squad" and constitute themselves test tubes for the books. Yesterday seven of them [the others geographically and regretfully absent] were present to prove that the "poison" was, after all, tonic.

How remarkable the selling mark reached by Mrs. Perkins' "Twins" series is you may judge from a list of the American best sellers from 1875 to 1933 compiled by Edward Weeks. On his list one book, "In His Steps," by Charles Monroe Sheldon, sold eight million copies, and Gene Stratton Porter's "Freckles" sold two million. No other single book by 1933 had reached the two million mark, although "Ben-Hur," by Gen Lew Wallace, had sold 1,950,000 copies "Tom Sawyer," by Mark Twain, had sold by 1933 one and a half million copies.

Mr. Weeks says in his list that textbooks and manuals don't count. Which reminds us that the only present day rival to Mrs. Perkins is the Boy Scouts' handbook, the five millionth copy of which was recently presented to the President of the United States. F. B.

Publish William Gillette's Drama 'Sherlock Holmes'

"Sherlock Holmes," the play which William Gillette adapted from the famous stories and made almost more famous had, oddly enough, never been published in the United States. Mr. Gillette has written a 1935 preface, Vincent Starrett has edited the text under the author's guidance and contributed a mellow introduction, and the volume also contains "Reminiscent Notes" by Frederic Dorr Steele, reprinted from the program of Mr. Gillette's farewell tour.

Passion Test of Poetry, Says Poet Stephens

"Others have larger, longer, more boring gifts. I write shortly," said James Stephens in preface to his famous fourteen line poem on the sea when he lectured at Northwestern university. The audience was sitting on, standing on, leaning against, and practically hanging from every plane surface of Harris hall listening to the very Irish voice of one of Ireland's great literary men. Illness has for the last few years curtailed his writing, but "The Crock of Gold" remains for many the most delightful book of a lifetime's reading.

He talked about poetry, after declaring that prose and verse are entirely different arts. . . . "If you meet a piece of prose and you can't read it rapidly, it is bad prose," he declared, "but poetry should never be read any way but slowly. Poetic statement must be intellectually understandable, provide emotion, musical values, and have a pace . . . a poem can get on with no thought, no emotion, no music, but it cannot get along without passion. . . . Every time poetry is achieved an ultimate statement has been made." . . . A little gnomelike man with the proverbial Irish wit shooting off sparklers which illuminate his very serious convictions about poetry.

Erskine Caldwell in person was the surprise of the year . . . a tall, warm-ruddy faced young man who looks like a shy football player, has a smile that glows and a legend written in his eyes for all to read that he is a good husband and a good father and loves his acres and tends them with zeal . . . nothing at all of the bitter, sordid, cruel about him . . . here to take a look at his play, "Tobacco Road," . . . has a new book coming on Monday, "Some American People" [McBride], his first book of nonfiction . . . impressions of people and places uprooted in the economic earthquake . . . nice, quiet, shy young man, but when he gets a pen in his hand lightning flashes from it.

Doubleday-Doran Open New Book Shop in Chicago Today

Today the Doubleday-Doran Bookshops open their new Chicago shop at 10 North Michigan avenue, and the mysteries behind the boarded front are revealed to be chromium striped black granite leading up to a scarlet vermilion door, certainly the first red door in Chicago's sedate book world, and on into a lofty shelved modernistic emporium.

And emporium it is, for practically every sort of book is there: Besides all of the new books of all publishers, novels and biographies and histories and poetry and books warranted to cure the world's political cancers, there is an impressive group of technical books on subtleties that are mere names to most of us and enough children's books to ration the offspring of all of Solomon's six hundred wives . . . and fine bindings . . . and everything.

And pleasantest of all, there is the smiling face of Ben Silbermann as manager, absent from Chicago for four years, which he has spent with the Doubleday-Doran shops in New York and Detroit, but before that the owner of his own shops on Chicago avenue and Monroe street and earlier with Mr. Kroch.

And to round out the circle, Kroch's Bookstores are taking over the Doubleday Doran bookshop in Mandel Brothers, thus adding to their already widespread and impressive influence in Chicago.

On Wednesday, from 2 p. m. to 6 p. m., Nicholas Wreden, author of "The Unmaking of a Russian," will autograph copies of his book in the new Doubleday-Doran shop.

THE NEW FORD V·8 FOR 1936

__Why do we say The New Ford V-8 for 1936?__

What is __new__ about it?

Of course, the __newest engine__ in the low-price car field is still the V-8 engine. Since Ford made it available to all car users (keeping it as economical as cars with fewer cylinders) the Ford V-8 has been __the newest engine__ on the market, and remains the newest for 1936.

You may buy a car on minor "talking points"—some specially advertised feature "with the car thrown in"—but, after all, it is __the engine__ you buy when you buy a car. Hence we put the engine first.

__*Other new points about the car make a long list.*__

__Its lines are much more beautiful.__ The hood is longer and sweeps forward over the distinctive new radiator grille, giving the car a length and grace that are instantly impressive. The fenders are larger, with a wide flare. Horns are concealed behind circular grilles beneath the headlamps. New steel wheels.

Ford upholstery—always of sterling quality and excellent taste—is rich and enduring. The appointments of the car have a new touch of refinement. There is no question about the increased __beauty__ of the Ford V-8 for 1936.

__*In more practical matters, many improvements have been made*—Steering__ is made easier by a new steering gear ratio. __The cooling system__ circulates 5½ gallons of water through a new, larger radiator. Natural thermo-syphon action is assisted by two centrifugal water pumps. New louvres permit a rapid air-flow around the engine.

__*The two qualities you want in brakes*__—Brakes that __stop__ the car with __ease__ and __certainty.__ Ford Super-Safety Brakes of the long-tested, fool-proof, mechanical design.

__*Safety—as always*__—in the electrically welded __genuine__ steel body. __Safety Glass__ all around at no extra cost. Hundreds have written grateful letters because this glass has protected the safety of their families.

__*A car you can drive without strain all day,*__ if you like, in city or country. Steady, holds the road, responds to the driver's touch like a well-trained horse. You don't have to "push" or "fight" the Ford V-8—driver and car easily get on terms of good understanding with each other.

__An engine has much to do with the roominess of a car.__ Very much indeed. A long engine uses up car space. The compact V-8 engine permits much of the ordinary engine space to be used by passengers.

__It really is a great car in every way,__ this 1936 Ford V-8—the finest, safest, most dependable Ford car ever built. Now on display by Ford dealers.

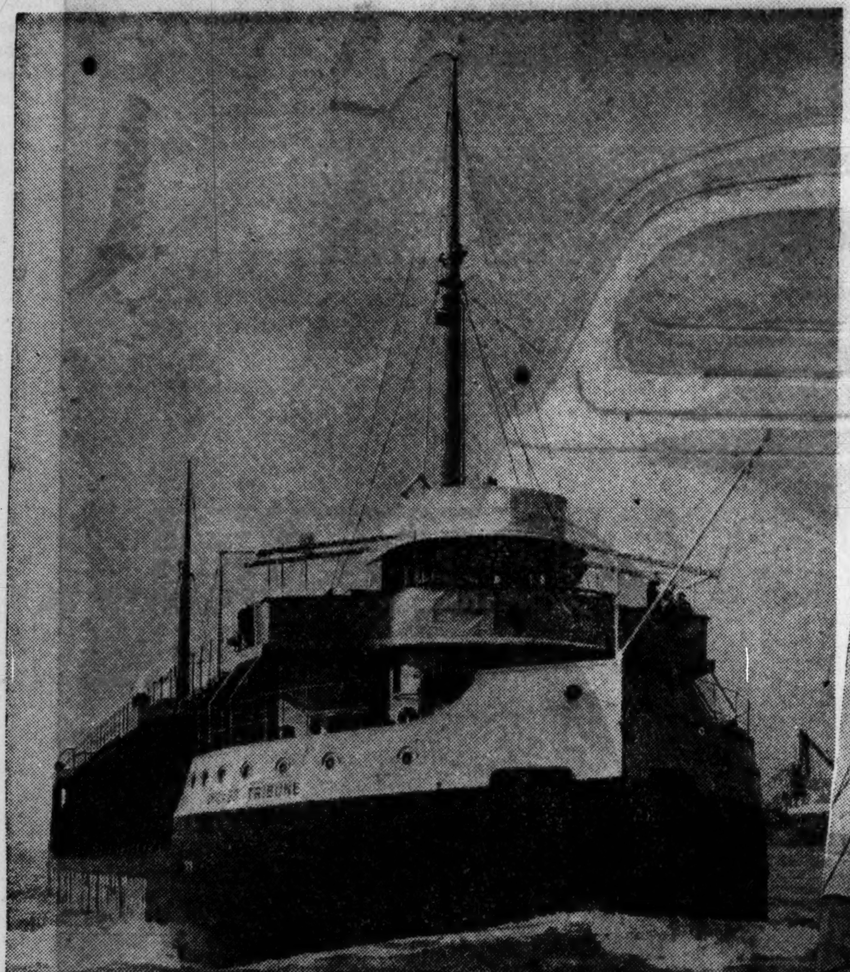
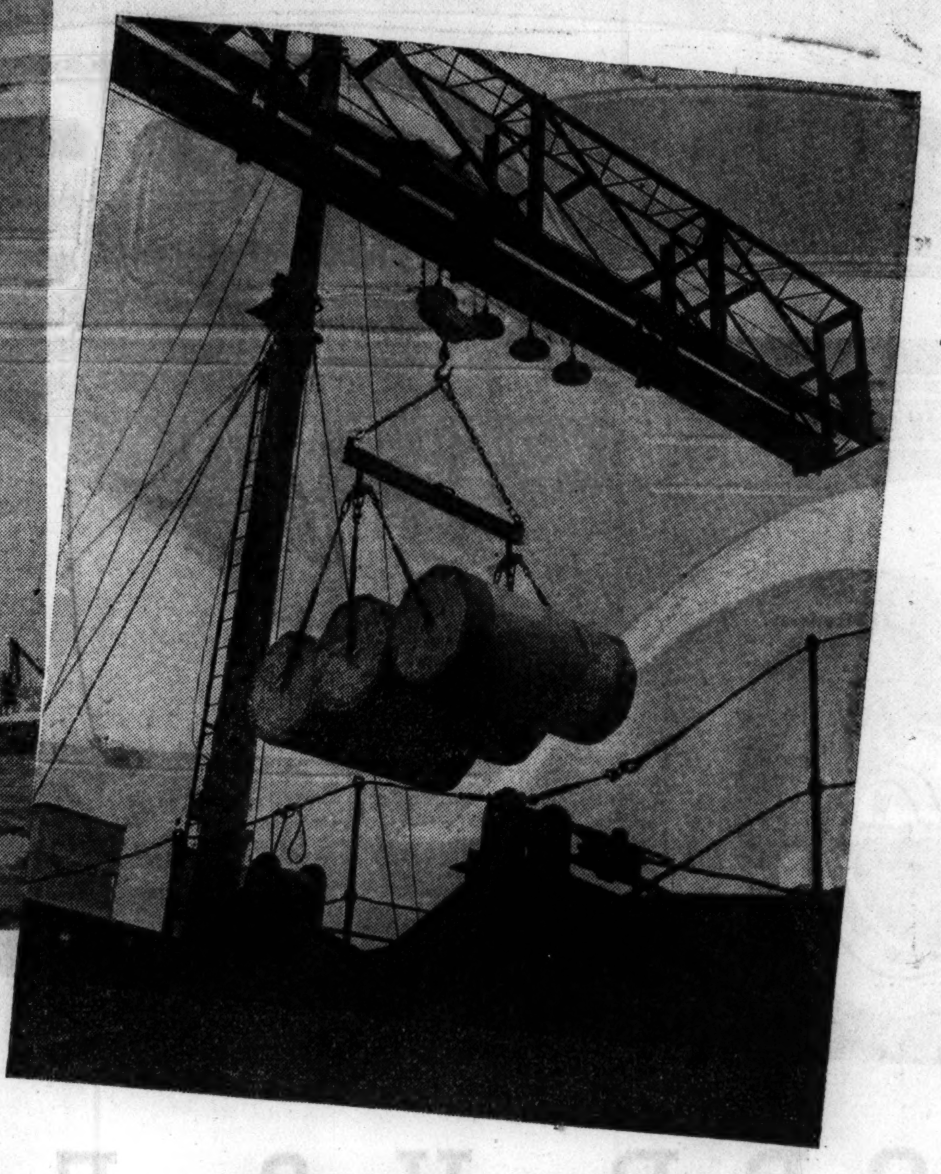
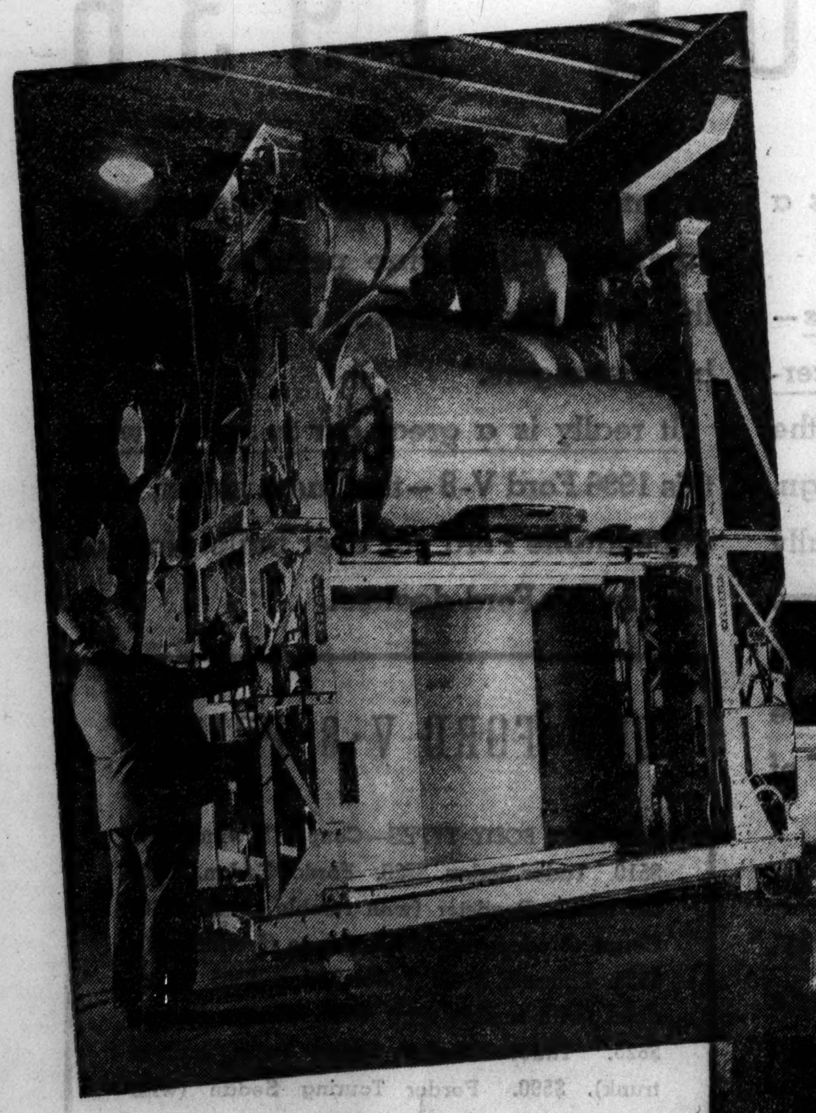
How THE TRIBUNE CAN PAY THE HIGHEST WAGES AND YET CHARGE THE LOWEST ADVERTISING RATES!



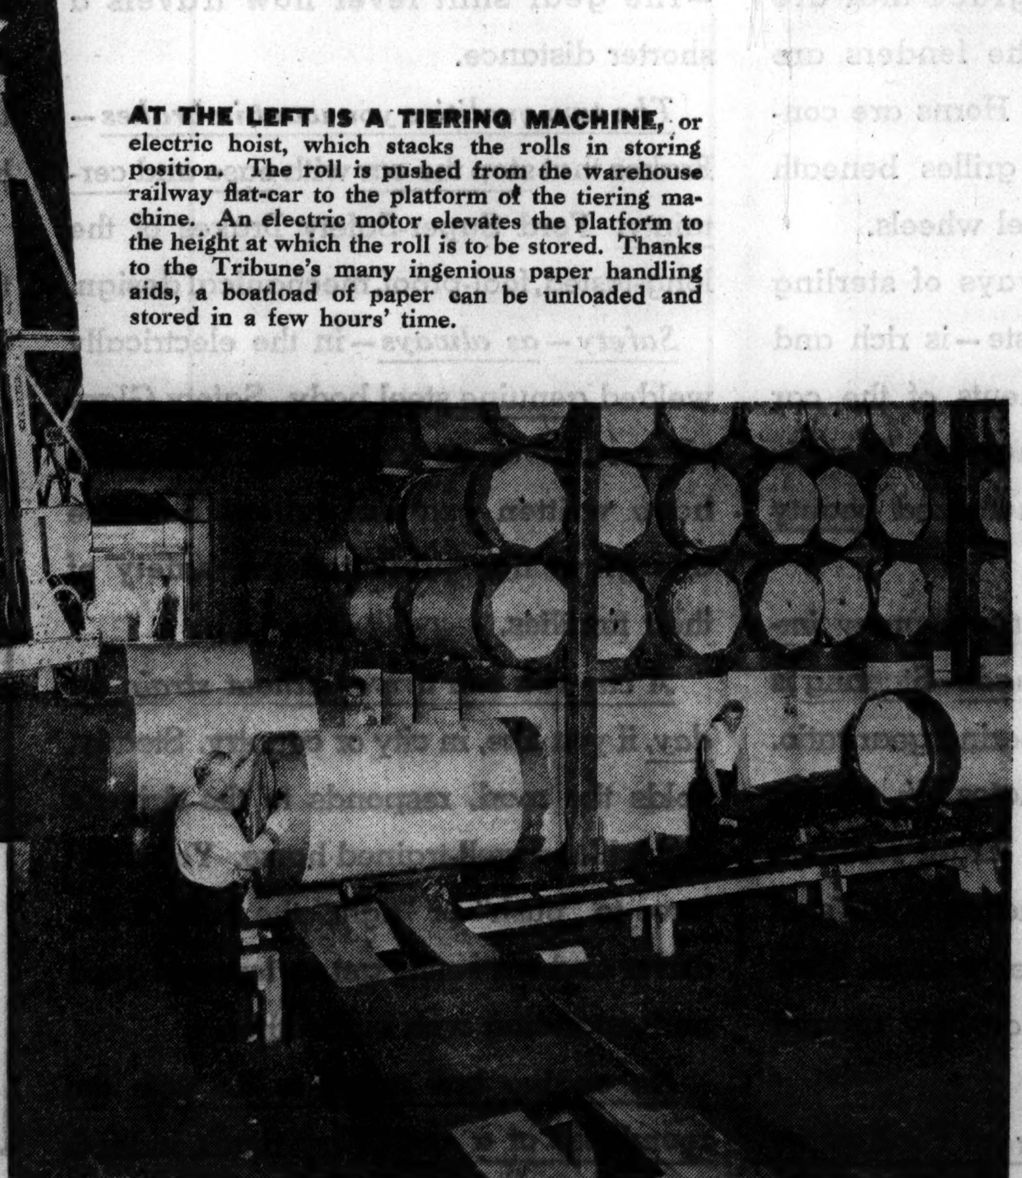
THIS IS THE M. S. CHICAGO TRIBUNE, designed and built by this newspaper to cut the costs of transporting newsprint paper. She is the flagship of the Tribune fleet, which contributes large savings in the transportation of pulpwood logs from timberlands to paper mill and finished paper from mill to the Tribune plant.



IN ORDER THAT THE BULKY ROLLS of newsprint paper could be unloaded from Tribune ships quickly and with minimum exertion on the part of men, special cranes were devised and installed at the Tribune dock on the Chicago river. Note how the tackle grips three rolls at a time and lifts them from the hold to the dock.



AT THE LEFT IS A TIERING MACHINE, or electric hoist, which stacks the rolls in storing position. The roll is pushed from the warehouse railway flat-car to the platform of the tiering machine. An electric motor elevates the platform to the height at which the roll is to be stored. Thanks to the Tribune's many ingenious paper handling aids, a boatload of paper can be unloaded and stored in a few hours' time.



STORING A SHIPLOAD OF PAPER in the Tribune warehouse requires no backbreaking work. The crane swings the paper onto a runway connecting with a narrow-gauge railway system which branches to all parts of the warehouse. Small flat-cars, each carrying one roll of paper, are sped by gravity to the location in the warehouse where the roll is to be stacked and stored.

THESE pictures show how the Tribune saves money and muscle in transporting and handling the more than 100,000 tons of newsprint paper it uses annually.

Until recent years newsprint paper was not considered suitable freight to take full advantage of the economies of water transportation.

The shape and weight of the rolls of paper allowed but relatively few of them to be stored in the hold of the conventional freighter, and because of their perishability they could not be carried on deck. Adequate equipment for loading and unloading the bulky rolls did not exist.

SINCE the Great Lakes connect the Tribune paper mill at Thorold and the Tribune plant at Chicago, the advantages of water transportation stimulated Tribune marine engineers to design a suitable ship.

The result was the Motorship Chicago Tribune, shown in the picture at the left. She was designed and built for the sole purpose of carrying newsprint paper. Her capacious hold and unique superstructure give her a capacity of 3,200 tons of paper—more than a week's supply for Tribune presses.

At the same time, special cranes were built to load and unload her cargo without damage. To facilitate the storing of the paper after it was unloaded, a special gravity railway system was laid down in the Tribune's Chicago warehouse. Mechanical tiering equipment for hoisting the rolls into storage position was also installed.

THIS economical system of transporting and handling paper is another of the reasons why the Tribune can pay the highest wages and yet deliver to advertisers as much as 56% more circulation per dollar than any other Chicago daily newspaper.

TELLS SURGICAL CURE FOR HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Crile Holds Trouble Lies in Gland Nerves.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 18.—(AP)—High blood pressure, one of the maladies attributed to the increased tempo of modern life, apparently is yielding to the surgeon's scalpel.

Speaking before one of the closing sessions of the annual meeting of the Interstate Post-graduate Medical association, Dr. George Crile said that denervation operations performed on eighty-two of his patients for high blood pressure had obtained remarkably favorable results.

The noted Cleveland surgeon pointed out, however, that his work in this field had not been carried on long enough to enable him to say that the cures effected surgically were permanent. The first of the operations was performed about three and a half years ago, he said.

Blames Nerves, Not Glands.

Contrary to the belief formerly held, Dr. Crile said, the substance which causes malignant hypertension is manufactured in the sympathetic nerve system leading to the thyroid or adrenal glands rather than in the glands themselves.

Dr. Crile's technique in treating such cases surgically consists in clipping some of the sympathetic nerves supplying the glands and thus preventing them from sending the activating substance into the blood stream.

A formula could be prepared, the speaker said, showing a definite relationship between the weight of the adrenal glands and associated nerves and longevity.

The greater the weight of adrenals and their nervous system the greater the energy expended and the shorter the life of the subject is likely to be, he said, explaining that such persons are "burned out" by the excessive quantity of the "explosive" substance manufactured by the adrenal glands.

Advises Against Pain Killers.

Dr. Elliott C. Cutler, professor of surgery at Harvard, spoke on "headaches," and advised doctors not to give pain killing drugs because "a pain is man's greatest protection against the environment in which he lives."

"To use such drugs is merely to cover up the pain," he said, "to make the patient comfortable temporarily and the doctor popular."

The characteristic morning headaches of patients with heart disease, he said, frequently can be avoided if the patient learns to sleep sitting up or at least on high pillows.

2 ELDERLY SHOP KEEPERS BEATEN; ROBBED OF $200

Police of the Albany Park district last night were seeking two gunmen who bound, beat, and robbed an elderly brother and sister in their school supply store at 3594 Milwaukee avenue. The victims are Miss Emily Gravius, 72 years old, and her brother, Charles, 75 years old.

They gave the two shabbily dressed bandits $200, three gold watches, and a revolver, but the intruders appeared convinced that there was more money concealed about the little shop. Despite the pleas of the victims that they had given all they had, the men beat and kicked them in a vain effort to make them reveal the hiding place of still more cash and valuables.

U. S. Dismisses Revenue Charges Against 2 Here

United States Commissioner Walker yesterday dismissed charges of violation of the internal revenue law filed recently against A. E. Dike, manager of the sugar department of the Callerman Brokerage company, and C. H. Kirkland, Chicago manager for the Corn Products Sales company. The two were named with nine others in warrants charging failure to report sales of sugar and other supplies which found their way into bootleg channels. It is expected that the entire matter will be presented later to the federal grand jury.

Four Gunmen Seize $10,000 Truck of Silk Stockings

Four gunmen kidnaped Charles Hendricks, 30 years old, early yesterday, hijacked his truck of silk stockings valued at $10,000, and held him prisoner for four hours before releasing him, he reported to the Homewood county highway police. Hendricks, a driver for the Chicago Heights Trucking company, was on his way to Chicago from Kankakee. He reported that the hijackers forced him to the side of the road at 159th street and Western avenue.

SOUNDS THREATS AGAINST OYSTER SELLERS OF ZION

Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of the Christian Catholic church of Zion, threatened court action yesterday against the sale of "tabooed" merchandise in the community. He warned merchants that he would carry the case "all the way to the Supreme court, if necessary" if they did not quit selling oysters, pork, lard, cigarets, and patent medicines.

This merchandise is proscribed under under the terms of leases granted by the late John Alexander Dowie, founder of Zion, Voliva said. Several of the merchants contended that Voliva has violated the spirit of the leases in selling consecrated lands in Zion, and said they would continue to sell the proscribed products.

Voliva, though recently shorn of his civil power by the federal courts, still controls the church and maintains he has title to the city.

Mayor William Edwards of Zion, foe of Voliva, said yesterday he would offer a new zoning bill Monday to designate all Sheridan road in the village as a business district. Voliva recently lost his fight in the Lake county Circuit court to restrain the Grace missionary church from operating because he charged its building projected in front of the building line as fixed in the ordinance.

TRADES BATHTUB FOR NEW WIFE; GETS A JAIL CELL

Harry Bradford, 41 years old, who exchanged a bath tub and running water for a new wife, was in a cell at the Sheffield avenue police station last night charged with acquiring one wife too many. The complainant was wife No. 1, Mrs. Cora Bradford, 1114 Wrightwood avenue.

Bradford married Cora some years ago, he said, and a year ago met Margaret Rakus, 24 years old, a waitress from Farmington, Ill. Later he met her father Ignatz, who said, according to Bradford, that he would be allowed to marry Margaret if he would install a modern bathtub in the Rakus home at Farmington.

Bradford did so, he said, and married Margaret last July 3. A few days ago Bradford decided to go back to Cora, he said, and phoned her that he was coming home. Cora, however, knew about Margaret, so two policemen met Bradford at his homecoming. He is charged with bigamy and, incidentally, with passing about sixteen bad checks during the last few months.

Seniors Honor Dr. Furch for Foot Surgery Work

A committee of senior students of the Northwestern Institute of Foot Surgery, 19 South Wabash avenue, yesterday presented Dr. Frank Furch, founder and dean of the institute, with a plaque in recognition of his work. Last week four trustees of the institute gained an injunction from Circuit Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski, restraining Dr. Furch from swearing and displaying his temper before the students, on the ground that such actions were tending to drive students from the school.

Veterans of Foreign Wars Install New Post Tonight

Thread from Red Sweater Traps Rockford Thieves

ACT TO COLLECT $120,000 BEER TAX OWED BY CAPONE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—The treasury department today agreed to try to collect $120,000 in taxes which the department of justice claims Al Capone and 14 of his gang associates owe on beer made and sold illegally under prohibition.

Capone, now serving a ten year sentence in the federal prison on Alcatraz Island, near San Francisco, for income tax evasion, and members of his old criminal syndicate manufactured 20,000 barrels of beer on which they did not pay the federal tax of $6 a barrel, the justice department claims. Admitting that 20,000 barrels is only a fraction of the Capone gang's full output, Justice department lawyers say they have not sufficient evidence to prove brewing of more than 20,000 barrels.

The claim was dug up by the justice department a month ago and announced at that time. The treasury today accepted the claim for collection. It may be the first of several similar actions.

Chandler, Chicago, whose right to sit as a member of a Presbyterian church court, to try Dr. J. Palmer, wife of the president of the Chicago Theological seminary, are also listed as members of the group from Chicago.

MRS. HORACE DODGE FIGHTS ATTEMPT TO TAKE SUIT TO DETROIT

New York, Oct. 18.—(AP)—Counsel for Mrs. Muriel S. Dodge, wife of Horace E. Dodge, Detroit speedboat manufacturer, told a court today it would be "most unfair" if she had to carry her dispute with her estranged husband into the Michigan courts.

Mrs. Dodge has sued to establish the rights of herself and two children to a six million dollar trust fund created in 1932 by Dodge's mother, Mrs. Anna Dodge Dillman.

Mrs. Dodge's attorney told the court that the defendants were attempting to have the action transferred to Michigan.

Meridian, Miss., Oct. 18.—(AP)—One child was killed, four persons seriously injured and ten other pupils slightly hurt today when a Laurel Hill school bus with 30 passengers en route to the state fair at Jackson turned over twice and crashed into a tree. The child killed was Emma Jean Hammond, 15. Those seriously injured were Mrs. Ada Sharp and Mrs. Maggie Phillips, Vertis Watts and Sylvester Spears, all of Laurel Hill.

STUDENTS TRAP OWN MONKEYS; BUCK TEACHER

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Even university students can "bring 'em back alive" when Frank Buck shows them how.

Richard Huxley and Frank Manley returned to the University of Minnesota this fall with two jungle monkeys, captured after the Buck manner on the Malay Peninsula.

The boys, on a world tour last summer, were on a freighter anchored off the Malay coast when Frank Buck came aboard with a cargo of baboons, tigers, elephants, and snakes.

When he explained how easy it was, the pair got a bag of bananas, stepped into the jungle and returned with "Toots" and "Saxlog," two small monkeys who share the students' lodgings at the Psi Upsilon fraternity here.

HEARING WEEK TO OPEN OVER U. S. TOMORROW

Focusing public attention on the work of rehabilitating those with hearing defects will be the chief objective of National Hearing week, according to the Chicago League for the Hard of Hearing. Hearing week is to open tomorrow and Mayor Kelly has called upon Chicagoans to participate in observing it.

Prevention of hearing defects, as well as training for those afflicted, will be stressed during the week, said Ada Mattson, executive secretary of the league.

Educational campaigns will urge parents to pay particular attention to their children's hearing, and free lip classes and advisory services are to benefit those whose hearing is faulty.

ESTIMATE 30,000 OUT NOW IN MINE STRIKE IN WALES

CARDIFF, Wales, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The whole Tredegar valley of South Wales was tense with excitement today in the wake of a decision of 1,500 miners to throw their lot with strikers at the Nine Mile Point coal pits. Seventy-nine miners have been at the bottom of the coal workings for six days, refusing to come to the surface until they have written assurance from the owners not to employ imported labor. It is estimated 30,000 miners are now on strike.

At Treharris miners presented themselves last night for the night shift but the management said it must refuse admittance as it had discovered the men intended to remain at the pit bottom, idle, if lowered into the workings.

Nearly 1,000 miners marched from Newport to Newbridge to prevent men from going down into the North and South Crumlin pits. Extra police were rushed to the district, but the atmosphere of tension was allayed when marchers persuaded their comrades to join the strike instead of starting work. When a crowd near Nelson hurled a volley of stones at a train carrying men from the Merthyr colliery, a police officer was struck and injured.

SOUNDPROOF FLOOR FAILS TO KEEP VOICE OF TIBBETT IN ROOM

New York, Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Lawrence Tibbett, singing free of charge, has been distressing his auditors so much lately that he installed in his 15x25 foot library on the 14th floor of a fifty family apartment house a two layered, sound proof floor of felt and shredded limestone.

But it doesn't work. The auditors—neighbors—said today that the mighty voice charges clear through the sound proofing, and one of them added: "It is terrible."

It is the folks downstairs who suffer most acutely. They have apartments on the 12th floor, directly below the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Tibbett on the floor called the 14th because 13 is unlucky.

"I don't know whether he sings in the bath tub," Charles A. Cass said today, "but when he is working up an opera he makes the place vibrate."

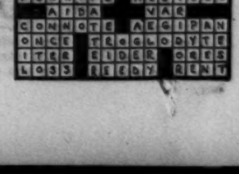
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



LEADERS HONOR GEN. FOREMAN IN ARMORY RITES

State and Nation Join in Tributes to Soldier.

Milton J. Foreman was buried yesterday with military honors befitting his career of forty years in the state's military department and his past commandership, as major general, of the Illinois National Guard. Military leaders and state and city notables attended his funeral in the 122d Field Artillery armory at 234 East Chicago avenue, and many followed as his body was borne away on an artillery caisson. He was buried in Rosehill cemetery. Gen. Foreman died in his home at 1367 North State street on Wednesday. He was 72 years old.

Governor and Mayor Attend.

Eulogies were then delivered by Gov. Horner, Mayor Kelly, National Commander Ray Murphy of the American Legion, and Col. Samuel Lawton, commander of the 122d, Gen. Foreman's old regiment.

After reading Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar" and the 23d Psalm, Rabbi Hirschberg gave his eulogy and closed with the Hebrew prayer which was the only strictly religious portion of the armory service.

In his talk he briefly reviewed Gen. Foreman's career—his service to the city as an alderman for twelve years, during which he was a figure in traction legislation; his work as a lawyer and his long service in the National Guard.

Called "Splendidly American."

Dr. Hirschberg also paid tribute to Gen. Foreman's devotion to his mother, now dead, and his four sisters.

Gov. Horner in his talk said:

"In his determination to thoroughly educate himself, to succeed in earning a livelihood, to become an excellent lawyer, to be a proficient soldier—and in all these determinations in which he was tremendously successful—there is something splendidly American. We do not gather here solely to lament the death of Gen. Foreman. We assemble also to celebrate the triumphs of his life; to lay upon his bier a wreath of sincere gratitude for all he meant to us and has done for us."

Mayor Kelly said that Gen. Foreman "truly typified the 'I Will' spirit of Chicago." "I looked forward to his almost daily visits to my office and the discussions of current problems in which we always engaged," the mayor said. "We were to have met in such a conference the day he died. I shall never forget him."

National Commander Murphy recalled that he was Gen. Foreman's second lieutenant during the Mexican border campaign in 1916. "He was gruff and stern, and yet I came to know that he was a kindly man," Murphy said.

Maj. Gen. McCoy Attends.

Maj. Gen. Frank McCoy, commander of the 6th corps army area, represented the army at the services. The state military department was represented by Adjt. Gen. Carlos E. Black and Brig. Gen. R. J. Shand. Another old friend present was Brig. Gen. John J. Garrity. The pallbearers were officers who served under Gen. Foreman.

Others attending the service included Federal Judge Sullivan, Corporation Counsel Hodes, Attorney William H. Sexton, State Treasurer Stelle, Dr. H. N. Bundesen, president of the city board of health; Henry Barrett Chamberlin, Samuel Insull, Secretary of State Hughes, United States Senator Dieterich, and former Senator Deneen.

The caisson carried the casket to the south end of Lincoln park where it was transported to a herse as a fifteen gun salute was fired and taken to the cemetery.

MAJ. GEN. SIBERT IN GIVEN BURIAL IN ARLINGTON

Washington, D. C., Oct. 18.—(AP)—A soldier's burial was given today to Maj. Gen. William L. Sibert, retired, a distinguished army engineer and co-builder of the Panama canal, who died recently at Bowling Green, Ky.

The entire garrison of Fort Myer, Va., consisting of approximately 2,000 mounted and foot troops, participated in a military funeral ceremony at the chapel at the fort and at the grave side in Arlington National cemetery.

Chaplain Julian E. Yates, who conducted the services, consigned the body to the grave as a squad fired a major general's salute of thirteen volleys and a bugler sounded taps.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: The Fall Girl

HAROLD TEEN—THE BUCKET BRIGADE

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

This may be the season to produce several new feminine radio stars. Autumn schedules have started off with a half dozen of the favorites of last year missing. The Boswell sisters, first of the nationally known harmony teams, are sticking to vaudeville. Jane Froman and Gertrude Niesen have made several guest appearances, but are not committed for regular series. Nothing is heard about Annette Hanshaw this year. Ruth Etting has announced that she is retiring before Christmas to make a trip around the world.

Now it develops that Gladys Swarthout, a great favorite last year, will not be back on that NBC 7:30 Monday evening spot. It seems that Miss Swarthout's salary demands have just about trebled since she went to Hollywood last spring to make "Rose of the Rancho." She may be heard occasionally on those Beauty Box operettas on Friday evenings.

Handsome Baritone Nelson Eddy and Tenor Richard Crooks have been engaged by their former sponsor to headline the NBC Monday evening program beginning Nov. 4. Margaret Speaks, soprano, who has done a fine job carrying on during the summer months for this sponsor, will continue with the program throughout the winter.

Fortunes in radio change swiftly. Many of last year's favorites are elsewhere this season. And Fritzi Scheff, the original "Kiss Me Again" girl of Victor Herbert, who a year ago was about to be put out of her quarters because she could not pay her rent, on next Tuesday will become the headliner of the "Lavender and Old Lace" series on CBS. Lucy Monroe, Frank Munn, and Gus Haenschen's orchestra will continue on the program.

Radio's orchestra leaders, responding to a movement launched by Richard Himber, will observe the first week in November as Victor Herbert Memorial week. On Nov. 1 Himber and his Champions will play selections from Herbert's "Babes in Toyland" on their sponsored program. Among the Chicago orchestra leaders who will pay musical tribute to Herbert are Horace Heidt, George Olsen, Orville Knapp, Shep Fields, Seymour Simons, Herbie Kay, Billy Mills, and Len Keller. Memorial plaques of Herbert are to be hung during this week in the New York headquarters of the networks.

Helen Bartush, 10564 Michigan avenue, and Paul Pence, 61 East Cedar street, were named yesterday as winners of an audition for singers sponsored by the Chicago City Opera company and the National Broadcasting company. They will appear in one of the opera company's presentations during the season opening on Nov. 2 and in a radio broadcast at a date not yet selected. Five other audition participants, Gladys Reid, 837 Galt avenue; Beverly Kirk, 1042 Lake Shore drive; Mrs. Lucille Fletcher Hart, 701 North Michigan avenue; Mrs. Thelma Jensen, 1434 Sedgwick street, and Howard Berhalter, 1423 North Clark street, will appear in choral rôles with the opera company.

Joe Louis will make his first radio appearance since the night he knocked out Max Baer at 12:15 p. m. today over WBBM on the Chicago park district program. Brent Wrenn will ask the questions.

Guy Stillson, Telegraph Company Official, Dies

Guy Stillson, 47 years old, assistant superintendent of the Postal Telegraph company in Chicago, died of a heart attack in his home at 3036 Logan boulevard yesterday. He had been with the company since 1904 and in Chicago since 1913. His widow, Cecilia, and a son and daughter survive. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday in the chapel at 2341 Milwaukee avenue. Burial will be in Acacia cemetery.

Moses Gunn, 96, Dies; Last Vet of Carter G. A. R. Post

La Salle, Ill., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Moses Gunn, 96, last surviving member of Carter post, G. A. R., of La Salle, died today.

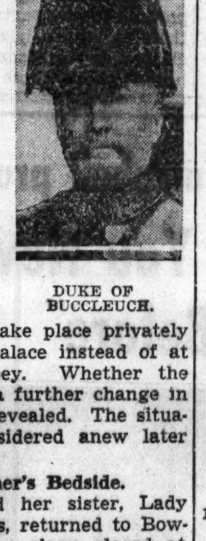
FATHER OF GIRL BRITISH PRINCE WILL WED DIES

Duke of Buccleuch Was 71 Years Old.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 19 [Saturday].—The duke of Buccleuch, father of Lady Alice Montagu-Douglas-Scott, fiancée of the duke of Gloucester, third son of King George, died at his home at Bowhill, Selkirk, Scotland, shortly after midnight this morning after a long illness.



DUKE OF BUCCLEUCH.

The death was preceded by an announcement that the wedding of the duke of Gloucester and Lady Alice, set for Nov. 6, will take place privately at Buckingham palace instead of at Westminster Abbey. Whether the death will cause a further change in plans is not yet revealed. The situation will be considered anew later today.

Fly to Father's Bedside.

Lady Alice and her sister, Lady Margaret Hawkins, returned to Bowhill yesterday in a plane placed at their disposal by the prince of Wales. With the duchess of Buccleuch and other members of the family, they were at the duke's bedside when he died.

The duke was 71 years old and head of an historic Scottish family. He possessed many titles. In addition to two dukedoms he held a marquessate, five earldoms, three viscountcies, and five baronies. He also had considerable landed interests, owning nearly 500,000 acres.

Was Seventh Duke.

He succeeded his father in 1914 as the 7th duke of Buccleuch and the 9th duke of Queensberry. He was an enthusiastic agriculturist and sportsman and represented the Roxburgh division in parliament from 1895 to 1906.

He leaves his wife, three sons and five daughters. He will be succeeded by his eldest son, the earl of Dalkeith, a member of parliament for Roxburgh since 1923.

JURORS PUZZLED BY DEATH OF MAN INJURED IN FIGHT

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict stating that the members were unable to determine whether the death of Charles Chase Prescott Jr., 32 years old, 5906 North Hermitage avenue, was "accidental or otherwise." Prescott, claim agent for a dairy company, was found dead in his home last Monday. Investigation disclosed that he had been in a fight last Saturday night at the Chateau ballroom, 3810 Broadway, and had suffered a head injury there.

Testimony at the inquest showed that Prescott had been taken to the American hospital for treatment. Miss Capola Ritter, of the hospital staf, who first said she was a physician, but later admitted she was not licensed to practice medicine, said she examined the injured man and allowed him to go home in the belief that he was not seriously hurt.

The Town Hall police released Walter Stoian, 22 years old, 1300 Eddy street, who had been held as a suspect. He admitted to the police that he had a fist fight with Prescott in the ballroom, but declined to testify at the inquest.

New Wills Filed

WILLIAM B. BUCKIE, died Oct. 8. Estate, $35,000, to two sons. R. S. Buckie and William Buckie, Jr., sons, and Joseph A. Ryan, executors.

FRANK AMES HANCOCK, died Oct. 1. Estate, $5,000, to two daughters, Helen and Frances Daniels, also named executors.

FANNY STAPLETON, died Oct. 4. Estate, $13,000, to four nieces. Willard A. Peuse, executor.

Prof. A. J. Carlson, head of the department of physiology at the University of Chicago, returned yesterday after a trip that led through Russia, Siberia, and China.

In Moscow Prof. Carlson attended the physiological congress, at which appeared many distinguished scientists. He said that, speaking strictly from the scientific standpoint, the soviet government appeared to put no more political pressure on its professors than "any other dictatorship."

"I have no views about the Russian political structure," he said, "and I suppose a good comrade in Russia gets better treatment than a rebel, but the scientists seemed to be allowed to carry on their work in their own way. Some of the physiologists of that country are doing excellent research work."

R. L. Eskridge Water Colors on Exhibition

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Robert Lee Eskridge is back in town after an absence of several years and an exhibit of his recent water colors in the Quest gallery, Fine Arts building, is his gay greeting to Chicago. He paints with a rare skill in a vivid manner. His pictures have a sparkle and a charm; they are dashing and imaginative even when built upon as solemn a base as the mining industry of Pennsylvania, the latest field in which he has wielded his brush.

Mr. Eskridge says going to Pennsylvania is like going home because he was born there. However, those of us who have enjoyed his paintings of Tahiti and points tropical will say he does not need to be born in a place to make it his. His Tahiti and now his Hawaii paintings are rich in atmosphere and are intensely personal interpretations of those colorful countries.

Pennsylvania has lent its grimness as kindly to his humor. The "Lee's Mine" is as crisp and fresh a bit of countryside as one could find anywhere. It is a beautifully painted scene.

The several flower studies are decorative and exquisitely composed. The "Huckleberries" has a marvelous rhythm. "Gardenia" is deliciously delicate in its white nuances and "Orchids" is a gorgeous display.

The foreign landscapes, "Mauna Loa," "The Kona Coast," "Kailina," and the others are picturesque and judiciously casual. They are fluent and spontaneous notes of attractive spots.

The sketch for one of the two enormous murals, 19 by 30 feet, Mr. Eskridge painted in the sports pavilion of Ala Moana, Hawaii, is fascinating. Millard Sheets, noted American artist, considers these murals the finest American work of contemporary times.

A second exhibit ranking in importance with that of Mr. Eskridge is lithographs of old Chicago by Howard Raftery in the Roullier galleries, Fine Arts building. Both exhibits opened yesterday. Mr. Raftery has an intensely interesting show.

Chicago lives its youth over again, its youth of 1892-1912, with horse cabs yielding to taxis and bicycles yielding to motors. He shows a substantial Chicago, the houses not beautiful but solid. One modern house, that of Walter S. Brewster, stands out in contrast to the fortified castles of thirty years ago.

Howard Raftery is a supreme master of his craft. His drawing is magnificent. The quality of his lithographs is so pronounced one can almost handle it, like stroking the back of a Persian. All Chicagoans will enjoy his prints. It is an exhibition of unusual distinction.

Jean Stevens Is Engaged to J. O. Heyworth

Wedding Is Planned for Winter Season.

BY JUDITH CASS.

MISS JEAN STEVENS' engagement to be married to James O. Heyworth Jr. was announced yesterday by her mother, Mrs. Clyde G. Stevens of Astor street. Miss Stevens attended the Walker school in Simsbury, Conn., and then studied for a year at the Goodman Dramatic school before making her debut seven years ago.

Mr. Heyworth, the only son of Mrs. James O. Heyworth of Lake Forest, is a Yale graduate, class of 1932. He spent a year touring the world after finishing college, and since then has been engaged in business in Chicago. He and Miss Stevens plan to be married this winter.

Ralph Bard to Wed California Girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Bard of Highland Park and their daughter, Miss Janet Bard, will be leaving for California next week to attend the wedding of Ralph A. Bard Jr. and Miss Nonabel Metzger, which will take place early in November. It was yesterday in their home in Fresno, Cal., that Mr. and Mrs. William Ernest Metzger announced the engagement of their daughter to young Mr. Bard.

Miss Metzger, a member of Phi Beta Kappa, was graduated last year from Leland Stanford university with highest honors in the department of journalism. She was offered a position immediately by a Japanese newspaper and sailed for Japan, where she spent three months traveling through Japan, Korea, and Manchukuo, writing a daily column on an American's impressions of these three countries. Mr. Bard, who met her in San Francisco, where he has been engaged in business for the last 18 months, was graduated from the Berkshire school and from Princeton university in 1933. He and his bride will make their home in San Francisco.

Triangle Club Show Dec. 23.

The most changeable organization in the world, the Princeton Triangle club, has decided finally to present its show in Chicago on Monday night, Dec. 23, at the Auditorium theater. By the adjective we do not mean to disparage the club, which is one of the most charming of organizations withal, and which is dear to the heart of every Princeton man. Annually the club brings to Chicago one of the most entertaining features of the winter's entertainment.

It is, however, uncertain in its cross-country schedule, and often has caused a mixup in the dates of debutante parties because, of course, it is necessary that there be no dinner-dance on that night.

It is necessary, however, to have a ball on that evening where the Trianglers may meet Chicago's young and lovely girls . . . for it has been the custom to invite the Trianglers to the debutante ball the night of their appearance here, and thereby give that ball "the tops" in stag lines for the season.

Monday night, Dec. 23, is the date chosen by Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson and Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Welling for the debut supper-dance at the Casino of their daughters, Miss Nancy Ryerson and Miss Harriet Welling. Mr. Ryerson is a graduate of Yale, while the other host,

THE small daughter of the Louis G. Caldwells of Washington already has made frequent trips to Europe with her parents and has been taken through many art galleries where she became familiar with some of the great religious paintings. Upon returning to Washington she begged permission to attend church with a little Catholic friend. She promised she would be quiet, and behave just as Mary, her little friend, behaved, and she was permitted to go. She was sitting decorously beside Mary when she noticed a large painting of the Savior over the altar. Her childish tones could be heard throughout the church as she said excitedly:

WHEN Mrs. Walter Field McLallen and Mrs. Irving Osborne Jr. went down to the Stevens hotel lobby the other day in connection with business for St. Luke's fashion show, for the benefit of the hospital, they were accompanied by Brewster Perry. Three unusually attractive girls passed by, and young Mr. Perry, commenting that they were the prettiest he had seen, approached them with the idea of selling them tickets for a feature of the snow. He gave them a comprehensive talk about St. Luke's, telling them what a fine institution it was and what a lot of charity work it does, and quoting facts and figures.

"What an impressive sales talk," commented Mrs. McLallen when he returned to their side. "Who were the pretty girls?"

"Nurses from St. Luke's," answered Mr. Perry.

WOMEN who work on various committees for benefit functions frequently have been heard to say that it's a dog's life. A few evenings ago Mrs. Harry Fischer, who is responsible for the decorations for tonight's Ballyhoo ball at the Drake hotel, for the benefit of Beverly Hills Infant Welfare society, was deep in thought over the matter at the dinner table, and did not hear her small son, although he addressed her three times.

"Daddy, I think mother's got distemper," he finally commented to his father.

Camera Takes You on Jaunt Into Ethiopia

"WINGS OVER ETHIOPIA."
Produced by Swiss-Praesens Film company.
Presented by Adolph Zukor.
Released through Paramount.
Directed by L. Wechsler.
Chief pilot, Walter Mittelholzer.
Presented at the Garrick theater.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

"Wings Over Ethiopia." Not the brooding wings of angels, but the lively ones of an exploring airplane.

As the sky bird created by human ingenuity soars over the country Mr. Mussolini wants to boss, the voice of a lecturer tells you about this part of the globe and the people who inhabit it.

The picture starts with a map showing locations. After a brief stop at Addis Ababa, where you meet Haile Selassie and court, you vicariously wing your way to the interior and are made familiar with habitats and customs of the simple black folks who populate that country.

So appallingly simple and childlike! You simply can't conceive of them as engaged in modern warfare! Pitted against modern armies with modern means of waging battle!

Marriage rites—you learn that each married woman is allowed five lovers!—native dances, christening ceremonials, disciplinary measures—how the average native man and woman spend the average twenty-four hour day—are among the sights seen in the interior. You are then wafted back to the capital where you watch the sad-eyed emperior review his troops. After which he tells you what he thinks about things. His translated words conclude the movie. There are no scenes whatsoever of the present conflict between Ethiopia and Italy.

"Wings Over Ethiopia" is interesting. It is instructive. And it is timely enough to be "box office," despite the fact that it is sane sensation.

St. Louis Hostesses to Assign Escorts; Vote 'On Time' Rule

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Overriding a small group of revolutionists who wanted to be "modern girls," St. Louis debutantes today agreed to take the "dates" they get and like them.

With a wave of "ayes" that all but smothered the scattered boos, debutantes, second year girls and matrons voted to continue the "date fixing" policy in use here for years, by which hostesses assign escorts for debutantes to the more formal functions.

There were those who wanted to try their own luck and leave "dating" to personal choice. Others wanted to "compromise" by leaving dating optional with the proviso that an escort be guaranteed if the worst came.

The women, while they were at it, recharted the city's social course, narrowing it in places. For example: "There will be no more cocktail parties on the eve of dinner-dances and balls and all parties will start at the appointed hour."

The reforms were voted by "the council," an organization designed to correct "evils and abuses of the St. Louis social system."

A White Hat Adds Dash to Winter Clothes

Gives That Out-of-Season Touch of Swank.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

One glance at the new white tops and you're lost, even though you already own a half dozen becoming hats . . . they're just about the most irresistable temptations the mad hatters have offered in weeks. They're just what you need for dark clothes, for super smart black wool suits and slim coated ensembles.

These hats are slick for dining and dancing and the theater because they have that out of season look that causes all the shopping rush for something different.

You'll find grand collections of stunning military cap-hats to slant dangerously over one side, exposing the other half of your coiffure. There's one such an affair with a double bow white and jade green swinging at the dipped side.

A velvety looking velour has a pom pom of brown fur with a long curled feeler shooting up and out. Another velour has two jeweled clips that anchor a couple of wisps of blackish brown veils where the roll up brim meets the shallow crown. Sleek shining panne velvet makes another high hat with an upright cockade at the side.

Another shop features all white hats made in cap styles with abbreviated visors gone feminine with a shadow of a black veil or two huge flowers for a headlight. Tiny tricornes also are effectively coquettish in all white with either a black, deep brown or colored veil over the front.

With silver fox furs, with a dull black wool suit or street ensemble, with dull black afternoon dresses, with velveteens in black, these white tops are the answer to the problem of what to wear for dramatic contrast and sharp, telling accent. They are the smartest headgear in the shops.

Marie Marvingt, Noted French Flyer, Is Guest in City

Mlle. Marie Marvingt, white haired holder of the first pilot's license issued to a woman, dated 1910, is in Chicago as guest speaker before various French and aëronautical groups.

Known as the "universal sportswoman" and the "bride of danger," Mlle. Marvingt lectured during the last week at the Alliance Française. Monday night she will be a special guest at a joint meeting of the Chicago chapter of the National Aëronautic association and the Chicago unit of the Women's National Aëronautical association at the Palmer house.

Mlle. Marvingt says she has made 2,000 landings without a single crash, but she now pilots a plane only to "try out improvements." During the last month she has made a study of aerial travel and manufacturing plants in the United States, both of which she pronounced "magnifique."

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

How'd you like to contemplate an aristocrat of bath glorifiers today? It's our idea of a heavenly accessory—a bath oil in the rich, exquisitely beautiful scent of one of the most elegant perfumes in the world, the faintly oriental, altogether luxurious perfume that was originally created for use on fur.

The perfume created such a stir in the great world of luxury and chic that its scent has been transferred to a whole slew of charming products—sachets, powders, rouges, and lipsticks, all appropriately swank.

This bath oil is [much as we hate the expression] simply divine. Eight or ten drops to the tub of water will be more bath beauty than you ever dreamed of. It's a good idea to sprinkle the oil in before running your bath, but near the spot where the hot water running from the faucet will strike the oil and diffuse its marvelous fragrance.

Thank heaven they thought to put a sprinkler top on the bottle. It wouldn't do to be wasteful of this perfumed oil. You can measure your drops each time—and when you figure out how lovely it is, and how sparingly used, it isn't extravagant after all.

You'll be smitten with the bottle, anyway. It's a beautifully tailored two ounce affair in a modified hour glass design with a fat ivory ball top.

Aside from its appeal as a glamorous touch to the business of getting yourself clean this oil serves some practical purposes. With it the Chicago water will be kinder to that sensitive, dry skin of yours. And the haunting fragrance of a marvelous scent will cling to your flesh for hours afterward.

BORDER BREED

By William MacLeod Raine

SYNOPSIS.

Young Dan Clifford is driving a mule team carrying freight when he meets and befriends 17 year old Milly Sutherland. She and a young brother and sister are en route to Los Pinos, wild border town of the untamed west. Their father died on the way. In Los Pinos Dan, through Polly Doble, gets Milly work washing and Ah Sin, a Chinaman, to help her. Jasper Ford, gambler and killer, forces his attentions on Milly. Dan publicly humiliates him. Ford challenges Dan to a duel. Dan can't shoot. Sam Jones, of the rangers, advises Dan to choose Bowie knives as weapons and he'll circulate reports of his prowess at slashing. Ford backs out. Sam gives Dan shooting instructions. Dan wins another victory over a friend of Ford's named Le Page. Milly gets another job teaching school. Dan and his teamsters, String Beans and Yorky, leave for the salt lakes. When they return to Los Pinos an attachment is put on the wagonloads of salt. It is claimed the salt lakes, long public property, have been taken up by one Zack Black, representing the gamblers. Dan dumps the salt in the muddy road. A Mexican, Chavez, suspected of intentions to take salt from the lakes, is arrested. Ford has him bailed out, but holds him hostage. Dan kidnaps Ford and forces him to order Chavez's release. Ford again challenges Dan. In the encounter Dan is shot, but by Le Page, who is killed by Ford. Dan's friends believe Ford arranged the shooting and killed Le Page to prevent his talking. Black, Lou Stone, and a group of gamblers are besieged at the salt lakes by Mexicans. Dan and Sam Jones act as peacemakers and accomplish their rescue, but they are forced to give up all claim to the salt deposits. Ford hears that Jonathan Edwards Hart, a famous killer, who was sent to prison 16 years before because of Ford's testimony, has arrived in Los Pinos.

INSTALMENT XXX.
AN OLD FEUD REVIVED.

Ford was nervous. He was staking his life against one who used to have the reputation of being the swiftest and most deadly shot in the Lone Star state.

From the rear Ford moved along the north wall of the Brewster. He looked at his watch. Five minutes past twelve. He stooped and made a business of pulling his trousers farther down his boot legs. When he rose his watch told him it was eight minutes past the hour.

Up the street walked Dan Clifford. Ford frowned. He did not want his mind distracted now at the moment when he had to concentrate on one enemy.

Dan said with that cool, insolent aplomb that was so irritating, "Good morning, Mr. Ford. How is the Salt Lakes Development company getting along?"

The gambler waved him aside without answering.

"Ford swore him into the penitentiary," the paper said.

Ford kept his eyes on Dan. "That so?" he said. "Then I'll see him later. My business is not important. It will wait."

But Dan noticed that Ford had taken the news with a deep breath of relief, that Derby was in a state of great excitement, and that he had been startled to discover that an outsider had heard his words.

It occurred to Dan that it might be a good idea to go to the Doble house and find out discreetly who had just arrived there from the Brewster bar in time for dinner.

Dan found Polly Doble busy. She was superintending the serving of dinner. But she took time to listen to his question.

"Who walked up from the Brewster bar and reached here about two or three minutes ago?"

"What are you up to now?" she wanted to know.

"Nothing. I'm just curious. A few minutes since I heard a man say that some one had just left the Brewster to come here for dinner. I wondered who he was."

"Why should you care, young fellow?"

He told her the incident at the door of the saloon, half expecting her to break into a loud guffaw of ridicule. But to his surprise she took it seriously.

"You know something about this I don't," he charged.

"Keep out of it," Polly said explosively. "This is none of your business."

"If you don't want to tell me I'll find out somewhere else," he said with an impudent grin. "Adios, amiga."

Polly slapped a ladleful of potatoes in a dish. "Wait. I'll tell you." She gave the dish to a Mexican girl and led him to the back door where they would not be heard. "The man who walked up from the Brewster and got here five minutes ago must have been Jonathon Edwards Hart."

"Upstairs—in room five."

"What is he doing in Los Pinos?"

"He didn't tell me, but I've heard he means to practice law. Have you any objections?"

"I should say I hadn't. It's all right with me if he wants to start an April fool's joke factory." His thought reverted to the object of his coming. "I must have been mistaken. My notion was that Ford and Derby were looking for some one."

"I shouldn't wonder," Mrs. Doble said significantly.

"But they can't mean to have trouble with Hart."

"Why can't they? If they know he has come here to get Ford."

"But why would he do that? Hart got out of prison only a few weeks ago. They can't have met since then. Ford hasn't been out of town."

"They met years ago. I read a long story in a St. Louis paper when Hart was pardoned by the governor. It told about the time he was tried. Ford swore him into the penitentiary, the paper said. There's no doubt that is where Jonathon Edwards Hart belonged, either there or on the gallows, but when he was sentenced he swore in open court that he would kill Ford if ever he got out."

"Great Cæsar's ghost!" ejaculated Dan. "He has come to rub Ford out."

"How do you know he has, Dan Clifford?" Mrs. Doble demanded.

"If that's the way of it he ought to be told that Ford means trouble," Dan said.

"Suppose he knows already."

"Then it won't do any harm for me to mention it."

"I thought in this country a fellow was supposed to keep out of other men's difficulties," Mrs. Doble mentioned acidly.

"That's right. I'll sure keep out. I'm just going to mention kind of casual that Ford is in town."

"You may be right," Dan admitted amiably.

"All right," Polly said vehemently, half persuaded he was right. "But try and use what horse sense God gave you, if any."

Dan stayed to eat dinner, but he did not at once take a seat at the long table where the boarders dined. He wanted to sit down next to Hart.

A fair man of about forty walked into the dining room. He was tall, slender, with a hawk nose and fierce, quick eyes.

Young Clifford took the seat next to him. There were several men at the table Dan knew. He fell into talk with them. Adroitly he led the conversation to the salt lakes controversy. The name of Ford was mentioned. The stranger showed no interest, but when Dan used the gambler's first name the fierce eyes beneath the bushy brows stabbed a look at him.

Mr. Welling, is a member of the class of '03 at Princeton. There also is a tea-dance that afternoon which Mr. and Mrs. George A. Kelly will give to present their daughter, Miss Patricia Forsythe Kelly, and should the Kellys feel the need of a few more young men in the stag line it is known that no Princetonian ever has been too tired to go on with the show after an afternoon spent waltzing and fox trotting.

The show has not been named as yet, but Robert MacPherson Wood of Highland Park, who last year was a great success as the "leading lady," will have a part. And Brooks Baldwin, whose musical score last year has been hummed by half the nation since, is writing the music.

Edwin M. Ashcraft III., Seymour Morris, and Frederick H. Scott Jr. are members of the Chicago committee for the Triangle show.

Party Tomorrow for Ethel Husband.

Mrs. Robert Stevenson has been so busy moving into the house at 1520 Astor street that she and her husband will call home henceforth that she hasn't found time to make any plans for her daughter, Ethel Husband's, debut, but she thinks she may wait until the Christmas holiday.

A party for the charming young girl, who was graduated from the Concord academy last June, will be given tomorrow, however, by Mrs. Laird Bell, who is asking a number of young people to luncheon in the Bells' hospitable home in Tower road, Hubbard Woods. The Bells have a debutante in the family, too, Margaret, who was introduced at a dinner-dance in the early fall, but she is not at home, for she is a student at Bryn Mawr college.

Mrs. L. H. McCormick Will Return Soon.

Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick probably will be back in Chicago very soon, for she is due to land in New York tomorrow after having spent the summer abroad. She visited her nine brothers and sisters in England, her eldest son, Edward, and his family, who also live in England, and her middle son, Leander, and his wife, who have a schloss in the Austrian Tyrol. Her youngest son, Alister, and his wife, who live in Santa Barbara, have been abroad all summer, also.

Mrs. McCormick will find that her handsome old house at 631 Rush street has undergone great changes since she left it, for it is now in the hands of painters and decorators who are getting it ready to be opened as Pierre's Continental Casino on Nov. 6. The beautiful ballroom on the fourth floor, which was the scene of so many lovely parties during the years the McCormick family lived in the house, will be used as the main dining and dancing room and various others of the many rooms will be luncheon and cocktail lounges, etc.

Harvest Home Party at Chicago Golf Club.

The Chicago Golf club will hold its Harvest Home party tonight. During the day a handicap tournament will be played, and at the dinner-dance tonight the club championship prizes will be awarded. Among those who are entertaining guests tonight are the Horace O. Wetmores, the Albert J. Pardridges, the George M. Silverthornes, the Raymond J. Hurleys, the John Van Nortwicks, the Herbert P. Zimmermans, and W. Scott Linn.

The Arts club is giving a reception this afternoon from 4:30 to 6 o'clock for Kirsten Flagstad and Lauritz Melchior, who will give a joint recital of arias and duets from Wagner operas tomorrow afternoon in Orchestra hall.

At the annual meeting of the Woman's Aid society of the Passavant Memorial hospital Mrs. Joseph G. Coleman was reëlected honorary president and Mrs. Walter R. Kirk, active president. Miss Muriel Winston is the new assistant treasurer and the other officers all were reëlected.

Longmeadow Hunt Will Meet Today.

Members of the Longmeadow hunt will be up bright and early this morning preparing for an all-day hunt—the second one the organization has had—which will start at 10:30 o'clock this morning. They will hunt west to the Des Plaines river, and in the forest preserve until noon, when they will stable their horses on John Manthe's farm.

The nonhunters will pick up their husbands or wives at the farm and motor them to the Wheeling inn for luncheon. After the meal the hunters will return to the farm and ride back to the home stables, a distance of 17 miles. Clark Lawrence is M. F. H. of the Longmeadow hunt.

Walter Huston, the star of "Dodsworth," and Mrs. Huston will be given a tea tomorrow from 5 to 7 o'clock at the Casino by Dr. and Mrs. Loyal Davis.

At the Tavern club's second Tally-ho breakfast tomorrow Coe Glade, Eleanor La Mance, Margery Maxwell, Marion Claire, Mari Barova, John Pane-Gasser, and Paul Longone will be especial guests. The kidney pie and the "bloaters," recognizable to the non-Britishers present as herrings, were so popular last Sunday that they are to be a permanent feature of future breakfasts.

Mrs. Freeman Hinckley is arriving tomorrow and will be at her apartment at 209 Lake Shore drive for about two weeks before returning to Brookline, Mass., for the winter. Mrs. Hinckley's daughter, Miss Eleanor McClurg, is at Miss Masters' school at Dobbs Ferry, and her younger daughter, Barbara, is attending school in Boston.

Mrs. Benjamin J. Rosenthal is expected at home in a day or two after a visit in France with her son-in-law and daughter, M. and Mme. Raymond Tartiere, at Dammarie, Les-Lys.

Sell Outs Get to Be a Habit at Gallo Opera

THE CAST.

Gilda	Lucille Meusel
Duke of Mantua	Dimitri Onofrei
Rigoletto	Mostyn Thomas
Sparafucile	Harold Kravitt
Maddalena	Florence Wylde
Monterone	Natale Cervi
Conte di Ceprano	Egidio Morelato
Contessa di Ceprano	Charlotte Bruno
Conductor	Carlo Peroni

BY HAZEL MOORE.

The phenomenal public response to Mr. Gallo's San Carlo Opera at the Auditorium continues. "Rigoletto" scored a turn-away last night, which was less news than the continental attitude of the audience. Spontaneous applause greeted the entrance of each favorite singer, an especial burst for Onofrei as the duke, another for Mostyn Thomas as Rigoletto and a third for Lucille Meusel as Gilda. Onofrei's "Questa o Quella" was the signal for another round of applause, and so it continued, with Chicago's newly opera-wise public recognizing and finding good each familiar bit of Verdi's tuneful score.

"Rigoletto" is one of the operas for which the Gallo company is well equipped. With a cast practically made to order, chorus, orchestra and Conductor Peroni all in the mood, the performance moved with a pace and precision good to witness.

The versatile Onofrei, who lightly changes the holy armour of Lohengrin for the tights of the philandering duke, sang beautifully with an appealing warmth of tone. Mostyn Thomas found a major opportunity to exhibit his fine voice as the hunchback jester, and deserved the applause following the Vendetta scene.

Little Lucille Meusel is a fine example of what Mr. Gallo is doing for the young American singer. Gifted with a coloratura voice of great beauty, Miss Meusel desired work and a lot of work. This she found with the San Carlo Opera company. After a season of finding herself in routined work, she is now one of Gallo's valued artists. The "Caro Nome" was charmingly sung, and she was a poised and pretty figure as Gilda.

The male chorus merited the applause for the famous "Zitti, Zitti" chorus, and Conductor Peroni injected just the right spirit into the old score. Harold Kravitt as Sparafucile made a hit with his low noted Spar-a-fu-ci-le, in the second act, and Charlotte Bruno and Florence Wylde contributed their share as the countess and Maddalena.

Mary McCormic will make her first appearance of the season in "Faust" in today's matinée.

Miss McCall to Be Bride in East Today

A wedding of interest to Chicagoans that will take place today in Greenwich, Conn., is that of Miss Margaret McCall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sumner T. McCall of Greenwich and Chicago, to Alexander L. Dommerich Jr. of Greenwich. The ceremony will take place in the North Coscob church, followed by a reception at the Greenwich Country club.

Miss Charlotte McCall, a sister of the bride, will be maid of honor, and two other sisters, Miss Anne and Miss Esther McCall, and Miss Eleanor and Miss Jean Dommerich, sisters of the bridegroom, will be bridesmaids.

Two interesting weddings will take place on the north shore today, one this afternoon when Miss Mary Elizabeth Townsend will become the bride of William L. Reed at 4 o'clock in the First Methodist Episcopal church in Evanston, and one this evening at 8:30 o'clock when Miss Ann Bradford and William Whaley will repeat their wedding vows in St. Mark's church in Evanston.

Dr. Ernest F. Tittle will officiate at the Townsend-Reed nuptials, and immediately following the ceremony the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Townsend of Wilmette, will give a reception at the Westmoreland Country club.

Mr. Reed is the son of Mrs. William L. Reed of Winnetka. He will take his bride to the Virginia Hot Springs on their wedding trip.

Miss Bradford, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester T. Bradford of Evanston, and Mr. Whaley, son of Col. and Mrs. Arthur M. Whaley of Washington, D. C., will have several attendants. Mrs. Scott C. Greene, a sister of the bride, will be her matron of honor, and Miss Kathleen Whaley, the bridegroom's sister, and Miss Betty Gallowhur of New York will be bridesmaids.

A niece of the bride, Ann Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Johnson of Evanston, will be flower girl, and two 5 year old boys, nephews of the bride, will lead the bridal procession. They are Scott Bradford Johnson and William Bradford Green.

Gilbert Swanson of Fayetteville, Ark., will serve Mr. Whaley as best man. After a reception in the home of the bride's parents at 1632 Wesley avenue, Mr. Whaley and his bride will leave on a motor trip east. They will make their home at 831 East 49th street in Chicago.

Theater Party.

Mrs. Louis Perlman is chairman of the midnight theater party to be held tonight at the Adelphi theater, 7074 North Clark street, under the auspices of the Women of Mizpah.

BY MARY MEADE.

"When a recipe calls for ½ cup of butter, in substituting half lard does one use the same quantity of lard or reduce the quantity? In other words, should one use ¼ cup butter and ¼ cup lard? It seems to me that doing so makes the cake too rich," writes Mrs. W. H. C. of Galesburg, Ill.

The general rule in substituting lard in a cake recipe calling for butter is to omit 3 tablespoons for each cup of shortening called for, because of the high water content in butter. Mrs. C. is correct in believing that a cup-for-cup substitution would make the cake too rich if the quantity of shortening were enough to make the difference appreciable. When only a fourth cup of shortening is being substituted the importance of decreasing the amount isn't quite so important, but here, nevertheless, would be the amounts: ¼ cup of butter and ¼ cup minus 2⅛ teaspoons of lard.

While we're on the subject of lard for butter substitutions here's another point it's well to remember. Because lard is unsalted the amount of salt in a cake recipe should be doubled when it is used in place of butter. If no salt has been specified in the original recipe it usually is safe to add ¼ teaspoon for every cup of flour.

"Do you have a recipe for Chinese noodles?" queries Miss R. L. M. of Cicero, Ill.

For the tiny, crisply fried noodles used as a bed for chow meins [and frequently for ordinary western hemisphere dishes] here's an easy-to-follow pattern:

Fried Noodles.

1 egg
1 tablespoon water
½ teaspoon salt
1¼ cups bread flour [approximately]

First beat the egg until fluffy and lemon colored. Add the water and salt. Stir in the flour slowly until a heavy dough is formed as thick as pastry.

Roll this out on a floured board in a thin sheet and let stand in a warm place to dry partly for a half hour. Now roll up the sheet and cut with a sharp knife across the roll, forming extremely narrow strips. Let these dry again for several minutes, then drop them into hot fat [385 degrees F.] and fry until golden brown. Drain on crumpled, unglazed paper.

"Candies made from dried fruits or honey" are requested by Mr. C. M. of Evanston.

We've selected this particular confection from the several we sent Mr. M. as particularly deserving of general acclaim.

Coco-cot Sweets.

¾ cup moist shredded coconut
¾ cup dried apricots
½ cup nut meats
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Put the coconut, apricots [which have been steamed for 5 minutes], and the nut meats through a coarse food chopper. Add the orange and lemon rind and lemon juice and knead mixture until blended. If the candy is too dry to work add a small amount of orange juice. Shape into small round balls and let stand in a cool place for a short time to become firm and dry.

According to CULBERTSON

THE BAXTER-SELASSIE COUP.

An entirely new bridge play, so original it seems worthy of being passed on, has been offered by Meriwether L. Baxter Jr. of West Hartford, Conn. He modestly calls it the Baxter-Selassie coup and generously gives all credit for its discovery to his mother and grandmother who, he says, employ it with great success. Or, perhaps, he's just trying to shunt the responsibility. The situation, for which you must be on the alert, is as follows:

West.	Dummy.	East.
K10		Ax
	Declarer.
	QJxxxx

"A low card is led from dummy," Mr. Baxter writes, "and East, who believes 'a trick is a trick,' puts on the ace. Any ordinary declarer would now play low, but not this one. He quickly turns to West, starts a heated discussion on the Ethiopian crisis, and suddenly planks down the queen. West, seeing the lady and knowing one should 'always cover an honor with an honor,' puts on his king while he's still trying to pronounce 'Haile Selassie' and 'Addis Ababa.' By his brilliant play South thus loses only one trick in the suit. Simple, isn't it?"

Very. "Simple" is the word.

Mr. Baxter writes on: "You may use this extraordinary play in your next book without charge." I refuse to be outdone. I will not wait for the next book. I present it to you all now, at the same price.

When to Hold Up.

In today's hand proper no trump bidding and the correct way to play a no trump hand are illustrated. An opening bid of one no trump shows 4-3-3-3 distribution. Therefore, the responding hand with a strong six card suit usually should raise the no trump rather than show his suit, for he knows the small cards of his suit will win tricks at no trump. In playing a no trump hand [or any hand] declarer should think only of his contract and not try for extra tricks until the contract is assured.

The bidding [both sides vulnerable]:

East.	South.	West.	North.
Pass	1 N T	Pass	3 N T [Final bid]

Opening lead, club 5 by West.

North did not bother to show his diamond suit. Knowing that South had at least three, he felt sure that his hand could produce five or six tricks at no trump. Since South's bid shows four honor tricks, the nine tricks needed for game were in sight, and North immediately bid the game. In the play, West opened a club and East played the jack. South played the six, not winning. He could see that he must finesse for the king of diamonds into East's hand, and he hoped that when East got the lead he would have no club left to lead. By ducking the first club trick and winning the second, West brought this situation about. He lost the diamond finesse, but East had to lead a spade or a heart, either of which suits South controled with the ace.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Is it necessary to bid any hand which contains a biddable suit and three honor tricks?

Answer: No. A hand with three bare honor tricks and only a four card biddable suit occasionally may be passed. An example is ♠ A 4 3, ♥ 7 6 2, ♦ A K 4 2, ♣ 9 6 5. With any added values, or with any distribution other than 4-3-3-3, it is better to make an opening bid on even so weak a hand as this.

Eyes Reveal Many Traits of Character

BY HUGO WESTERBERG.

OTTO KRUGER.

That depends on the nature and purpose of your meeting. If the occasion is social it does not matter where you begin, but for the sake of courtesy you might look at the eyes. These organs have been called the windows of the soul, but the windows are made to look out through and not to look into. They are also intended to let light into the room. Their construction, therefore, will tell the owner's attitude toward information offered.

When the upper eyelids partly cover the eyes you must expect a certain disinclination to accept any statement without examination. When most of the eye is clear and open, the owner has a tendency to believe without evidence.

Your next interest should be whether the person has a liking for you.

Otto Kruger, the movie actor, must be an unusually agreeable man in private life. He has the prominently outward curved nose that prevents people, of any station, taking undue liberties with him. The tip is fairly rounded and hangs down over the upper lip. This indicates a strong tendency to mind his own business and only a sympathetic interest in that of others.

He would never do anything hurtful to them, but would display a marked feeling of responsibility for the welfare of those coöperating with him. On the other hand he would resist any attempt to encroach upon his rights, preserving, however, his complacent manners and a friendly understanding.

Denying Child Unwholesome Fun Not Enough

Parent Must Provide an Interesting Activity.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Do your children go to the movies too much?

Do they listen to the radio too much?

Do they read funnies and fiction too much?

If so, do something about it.

"Don't drift and don't follow the line of least resistance," is advice that is often given, and it's good advice too.

Forbidding the children to do the things you don't want them to do is not the answer. It isn't going to work to say in a rather wholesale manner—

"No, Beth, you cannot go to the movies," or "Son turn off that radio!" or "Geraldine, stop reading those trashy books," or "You can't spend all your time in the streets"—and expect to make a hit with the children. You can't just flatly and suddenly deny the children all their accustomed pleasures and pursuits, and provide nothing to fill the gap. All you're doing then is to leave empty holes in their day.

If you want them to give up what you consider unwholesome activities—if you want them to stop doing something you think a waste of time—you must substitute something vital and interesting for it. You must plan so that there won't be just a blank space where the motion picture or the radio or the trashy book was. You must see that your boy or girl has other interesting things to do, especially things which don't consist of just listening or watching. It's self-activity they need, with only occasional listening or watching, and then to things that are worth listening to or looking at.

The child who can do things himself is not going to be content to have things constantly done to him or for him, for entertainment.

You are doing great service to your child, and the man he is to be, when you have shown him the resources that lie within himself. Family life and home interests naturally bring this about for many children. Their leisure is always rich. But this is not true with all families.

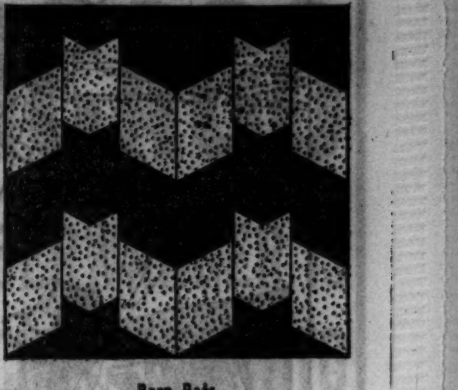
'Barn Bats' Quilt Is Innovation in Pieced Block Field



Barn Bats.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Barn Bats" is an innovation created as a change from the usual run of pieced quilt patterns appearing in this column. The coverlet is made in stripes rather than square blocks. An entire quilt made from this pattern is thoroughly striking and not in the slightest bizarre. A combination of brown and yellow is one which is a prime favorite for a man's room, and one which any man would choose because the zigzag design does not suggest feminine daintiness.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

AS ALIKE AS TWO PEAS—

The Carolina Homespun of the Hand-Looms—And the Carolina Homespun of Today

All the stamina and ruggedness that the hand-looms of the mountaineers wove into the first homespun, which enabled it to cope with the strenuous strain of a rough-and-tumble backwoods life, are qualities of which today's homespun can also boast. This Carolina homespun woven especially for us is second to no fabric in wearing ability. At the same time it has a "polish" that many imported suitings might well envy. A "polish" that is attributed to its colorings and patterns as well as its famous weave.

NOTRE DAME MEETS PITT; PURDUE AT CHICAGO

HORTON SMITH WHIPS PICARD; ARMOUR WINS

Runyan and Sarazen Advance.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 18.—The guests at that strange party, the national professional golf tournament, became somewhat finnicky, and ultimately rude today as the paid hands of the game settled down to the first round of match play at the Twin Hills Golf club.

Several of the boys began to make faces at the people sitting next to them, and before the day was over there were only 32 sitting at table. Among the missing was Walter Hagen, who had introduced himself yesterday by winning the qualifying medal. The 42 year old Detroit veteran was paired with 24 year old Johnny Revolta of Milwaukee. Revolta eliminated Hagen by a score of 1 up.

Smith Beats Picard.

Still another absentee was Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., who battled Horton Smith of Oak Park to the 18th green before he lost 1 up.

Very much present tonight, however, was Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., who won the title last year. Paul eliminated Louis Chiapetta of Jackson Shores, Mich., 5 and 3.

Runyan was joined in the second round by Gene Sarazen, who forced George Christ of Rochester, N. Y., to go home a 4 and 3 loser. Sarazen has dominated this tournament three times before, but if he's going to do it again he'll have to put Runyan out in the semi-finals, for they're in the same side of the bracket.

Play Second Round Today.

Two eighteen hole matches were scheduled for today but P. G. A. officials decided to postpone the second round until tomorrow. This will prolong the tournament until next Wednesday. After tomorrow's single eighteen hole round all of the matches will be at 36 holes.

Of the 32 matches played today, five went to the 17th hole, eleven to the 18th, one to the 19th, and still another to the 20th.

The congestion was caused by unfinished business resulting from yesterday's 36 hole qualifying round, when more than a score of players were called in because of darkness.

Playoff is Necessary.

These were forced to arrive early this morning to complete anywhere from six to four holes on their qualifying play. By the time all were in, the qualifying limit was 154, requiring a playoff among ten of the contestants. Bill Jellife of Los Angeles, Len Mattson of St. Paul, and Steve Holloway of Loudonville, N. Y., won the three places open by scoring birdies on the tenth hole, where the playoff was decided. Among the seven who lost out was Johnny Farrell of Short Hills, N. J., former open champion. Craig Wood of Deal, N. J., runner up to Runyan last year, failed even to reach the playoff, finishing with 156.

The Chicago delegation was reduced to six, but every one of them is capable of going to the finish. These include Horton Smith; Tommy Armour, who had to fight to the 18th to win from Willie Klein of East Williston, N. Y.; Denny Shute, 4 and 3 conqueror of Gene Kunes, the Canadian open champion; Dick Metz, who coasted over Ralph Stonehouse of Indianapolis, 5 and 3; Eddie Loos, a 2 up winner over Ted Turner of Clementon, N. J., one of the favored dark horses, and Ky Laffoon, who rallied to beat Paul Erath of Turtle Creek, Pa., 1 up.

Parks Beats Cooper.

None of the four Chicagoans eliminated went out without a fight. Harry Cooper lost to Sam Parks Jr. of Pittsburgh, the National Open champion, 1 up; Frank Walsh was put out by the same margin by Alvin [Butch] Krueger, the Beloit baseball player; Jimmy Foulis lost, 3 and 1, to Eddie Schultz of Troy, N. Y., and Al Zimmerman of Portland, Ore., defeated Eddie Williams, 2 and 1.

Hagen and Revolta attracted the largest gallery of the day despite the fact that it was only shortly after 9 a. m. when they teed off. The first hole was halved in par and Hagen earned a half at the second by chipping back to within a yard after having overshot the green. Walter went one down on the third, however, when he missed a short putt. The next two were halved, but Revolta was two up leaving the sixth, where Hagen squirted one into a bad lie in the bottom of a ravine and then clipped the trees coming out. Revolta went three up on the next hole, dropping a great 40 foot putt for a deuce, which Walter couldn't match.

Hagen Gains on Revolta.

The Haig then decided to go to work and by the time they had reached the turn the veteran was only one down. He took the eighth when Johnny

Minnesota Likes Its Gophers; Flocks to Tulane Game Today

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 18.—Tulane's football team, still hailed in prose and poesy as the Green Wave, though it hasn't been making such a big splash since the Rose Bowl game of New Year's day, 1932, is up here to win a football game from Minnesota's great Gophers tomorrow and also to set a Minnesota attendance record for nonconference competition.

A crowd of 40,000 at least is expected. Such worthy gate attractions as Stanford, Pittsburgh, and Nebraska never have been able to put more than 30,000 in Memorial stadium. Tomorrow's gathering may be even bigger than 40,000. A temperature reading of 67 degrees is forecast for game time. And that is something, if you know your Minneapolis at this season of the year.

Old Home Week.

One reason for the interest in the contest is the fact that folks hereabouts are growing increasingly proud because the Gophers haven't been defeated since Wisconsin upset them in 1932. Since that time they have played some magnificent football, including their five straight Big Ten triumphs last year for the indisputed championship.

There is another reason for Tulane's popularity here. Though Tulane is in New Orleans, 1,500 miles from here, the institution's football team long has been looked upon as a sort of Minnesota auxiliary. With the exception of one year, Tulane has had a Minnesota alumnus as head coach since 1915.

Clark Shaughnessy, now Maroon boss, became Tulane's coach and except for one year held the job until 1926. Bernie Bierman, present coach of the Gophers, who had been assistant coach under Shaughnessy, succeeded to the main coaching position and continued until 1932, when he came to Minnesota, his alma mater. He was succeeded by Tulane's present coach, Ted Cox, who had been Bierman's assistant.

Purdue Is Next.

Coach Cox enjoys a degree of fame here as a Gopher player. He captained the team in 1924—the year that the Gophers rose out of mediocrity to stop Red Grange, for the first time, and lick the Illini, 20 to 7. Up here they still gurgle about that game under the slightest encouragement. The team captained by Cox helped dedicate the stadium which is to accommodate tomorrow's record turnout.

Much as they would like to be nice to the lads from the deep south,

Columbus, O., Oct. 18.—Just how good is this Ohio State football machine which last week turned out 85 points against Drake? Northwestern's Wildcats will endeavor to furnish the answer tomorrow before 40,000 in the horseshoe shaped stadium. It may be an unpleasant task for the Wildcats, who upon arrival here this morning, were bluntly informed they would be sent home with their claws trimmed and their hides punctured by touchdowns.

Ohio's viewpoint is that Northwestern is merely a warmup for a really important future date with a team from Notre Dame. Seemingly, the Ohioans haven't heard that the Wildcats lost to Purdue, an eleven of considerable consequence, by only one touchdown. And the Ohio group, probably unconsciously inflated by the 85 points against Drake, hasn't stopped to figure that its fame thus far rests on easy victories over teams of secondary rating.

Admit Having Everything.

The Ohioans, if you talk to them, can easily convince you that their supreme confidence is based on something more than those 85 points over Drake. They admit having an excellent line, especially strong at the ends. They have from three to five good backs for each of the four positions. There are at least two good replacements for each line post. And every boy among this army knows his stuff, because Coach Francis Schmidt, in drilling them during the week, drops one after the other into the first string lineup.

This explains why the Scarlet machine kept on rolling effectively last Saturday even after more than 40 different youths had been employed.

The Wildcats don't have this same manpower. Neither do they have eleven men who can equal the power of Ohio's best eleven. The Purple line, from tackle to tackle, is good enough, at least that was the impression gained from the experience with Purdue. The ends aren't considered any too skilled, and this may be an important factor.

Purple Weak on Passes.

Another thing about the Purple is their pass attack. They are weak there. But they do have a couple of fancy running backs in Don Heap and Bob Swisher, who, with a little help from the blockers, might go places.

According to admission of Coach Schmidt after he had chased his gang through an extensive signal drill this evening, Bill Dye will start at quarter for the Buckeyes. Stanley Pincura, supposedly the first choice for this place, will appear only if the Wildcats prove far tougher than anticipated. Dye is the child of the Ohio squad. He weighs only 142 pounds, but he is well versed in plays, which is an accomplishment under the tricky Schmidt. He also is an accurate tosser on long passes.

The wily Schmidt also has one Nick Wasylik available for quarter back if the situation gets around to the point where he can gamble.

Watch Those Lines! Pitt Tackles Notre Dame Today

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 18.—Notre Dame and Pittsburgh, much as two heavyweight title contenders whose paths now meet after weeks of knockout victories over preliminary boys, stepped briskly through final calisthenics this afternoon preparatory to tomorrow's conflict from which one or the other will emerge a definite challenger for the nation's highest football honors. Each is perfectly conditioned, supremely confident, and eager for the battle for which both have pointed since mid-September.

Forty thousand, perhaps more, will throng to the Notre Dame stadium tomorrow to see this clash of gridiron titans. Forty thousand will establish a four year record for attendance, surpassed only by the crowd which watched the Trojans of Southern California rally in desperation to defeat Notre Dame, 16 to 14, in 1931 in one of the most thrilling climaxes of football history.

The Weather? Swell.

Prediction of excellent weather, a crisp, cool October afternoon, with clear skies, is a forecast appreciated certainly by spectators and joyously welcomed by combatants. Last night's drenching rain, from which the stadium sod was protected by its mammoth blanket, only broke the spell of enervating Indian summer; it did not force alteration of battle plans based on swift, slashing sorties by driving backs, or raids by air.

Pittsburgh's Panthers tonight are bivouacked nearby at Niles, Mich. To this camp these boys, who have soundly trounced Notre Dame for three consecutive seasons, returned after their reconnoiter of tomorrow's battlefield.

Tonight the beleagured sons of Notre Dame watched and listened as their schoolmates expressed confidence in work and song. Mounting flames from huge pyres of wood cast wavering streaks of crimson light over those who paid their respects to Notre Dame tradition and urged supreme effort against the invaders.

Notre Dame or Pittsburgh? Will the Panthers again prove their surging might? Or, will the Irish, with revived spirit, strike Pitt's line devastating blows reminiscent of the last days of Rockne when Capt. A new Pittsburgh team, anchored by the experience of Randour and La Rue, veteran half backs, reënforced by the power of Frank Patrick, sophomore full back, has bowled over three foes, Waynesburg, Washington and Jefferson, and West Virginia. Its

Kipke Violates Rules; Picks Michigan to Beat Wisconsin

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Oct. 18.—Roundy Coughlin, lackadaisical philosopher from around these flaming autumn tinted shores of Lake Mendota, took the rostrum tonight at a big pep meeting on the University of Wisconsin campus and propounded some unusual observations about tomorrow's football game with Michigan.

"Ladies and gentlemen and candidates for the prom king and queen," orated Roundy, "I am representing the university tonight at this meeting, not Prexy Glenn Frank. I speak better English and you can understand me."

[Great applause.]

"Gov. La Follette asked me what was the greatest system in football. I said, governor, get them touchdowns. He says you are elected."

[Another roar of applause.]

Funniest Coach in America.

"Harry Kipke picks his Michigan team to beat Wisconsin," went on Roundy after the hubbub had subsided. "That makes Kipke the funniest coach in America. He is breaking the coaches' union rules there by picking his own team."

"Down with Kipke!" wildly shrieks the crowd.

Roundy silences them with a lifted hand. He speaks again:

"Our own Doc Spears picks Michigan to win. That makes Doc's average 1.000 per cent. He ain't picked Wisconsin since he came here."

This was too much for the pent up energies of the loyal Badger rooters. But they streamed upon the field. A long line of snake dancers encircled Roundy.

Once more he raised his hand and called for silence. Then he concluded his epoch making speech.

Ah, Some One Fears Michigan.

"Michigan feels funny tonight. They got some one fearing them. Wisconsin fears everybody, even the bill collector. I've asked the prom king who he thought would win. The king stroked his curly hair and said, 'Ain't she a honey!' That puts the co-eds out in front."

Thus ended Roundy, and those at the pep meeting marched toward town, where as hilarious a crowd had assembled as ever gathered in the days when Wisconsin's Badgers and Michigan's Wolverines were fighting for championships.

Coach Kipke had brought the Wolverines into town shortly after the noon hour for the eighteenth battle between the two ancient rivals, and his boys were not long off the train before he had them on their way to Camp Randall field, where they displayed unusual pep in their final limbering up drill. Coach Spears had the Badgers on the field soon after the Wolverines had departed and his players, too, appeared to be in extra fine fettle.

Wagering Favors Wolverines.

Here in Wisconsin they call this fight between Wisconsin and Michigan the battle of the Giants. Both teams are the heavyweights in the Western conference ranks. The thousands here awaiting the game do not expect to see many thrilling long runs for touchdowns nor do they anticipate a great deal of scoring.

But they do believe a spectacle somewhat like an earthquake will be enacted when the young giants from Michigan collide head-on with the youthful man mountains of Wisconsin.

In the wagering Michigan's giants are the favorites and the odds are around 7 to 5.

BY HARVEY WOODRUFF.

Purdue fears Chicago in their 41st gridiron struggle at Stagg field this afternoon with the same complacent satisfaction that Stagg feared Purdue in the three decade period from 1898 to 1925. In their last seven annual contests victory has rested with the Old Gold and Black.

This complacency, somewhat pronounced on the part of the squad and emphasized by alumni in attendance at their annual football banquet at the University club last night, is a source of worry to Coach Noble Kizer and his assistants who would prefer members of the squad at least to have genuine fear of Jay Berwanger and the Maroons who will assist him in their effort to perforate the Purdue winning streak.

Just Like Old Days.

Out on the Midway undergraduates and alumni are pepping things up in a manner contrasting with the usual calm prevailing there. The annual freshman-sophomore class rush yesterday afternoon was followed by a student massmeeting and parade at night. The occasion was reminiscent of the days 'way back when the Maroons had more frequent cause to celebrate.

Victory for Chicago against Purdue will make the season a success for the Midwayites no matter what later befalls. Chicago's young men have no visions of sharing in a tie for the Big Ten title, as have these stalwarts from Purdue. They have not replacements to stand a bruising season. But they are practically at full strength for this encounter and the present only commands their full attention. Thus, psychologically, they are in responsive mood.

New Backs Replace Stars.

Those favoring Purdue have reason for confidence in comparative records, whatever they are worth. Beginning the season with heavy losses from graduation, Coach Kizer went to work building a line to hold his rivals. It was hardly thought possible successors to Backs Duane Purvis and Jim Carter could be found in one season. Into the picture jumped Cecil Isbell, 185 pound sophomore back from Texas, and Tom McGannon, 178 pound sophomore cricket from Evansville, Ind., who carried back a Purple punt for the winning touchdown against Northwestern.

Now the Boilermaker back field is rated relatively better than its line, which may be an injustice to those hard working forwards. Northwestern gained ground through the forward wall, but a week later it was this line which held scoreless the vaunted Fordham attack, coupled with keen secondary defense against passes and laterals.

Purdue's Record Looks Good.

So Purdue's triumphs over Northwestern and Fordham, an upset to eastern critics, look more impressive than Chicago's defeat by Nebraska and victories over Carroll and Western State Teachers, tuneup contests. Nebraska coaches admitted their 4 to 1 touchdown count against the Maroons did not truly represent relative strength, as the Maroons faded toward the end of the game.

Boilermaker reserve power may figure in the result this afternoon, as it has several times in the last seven years when the Maroons made valiant first half stands only to fade before superior man power in the last two quarters.

Memory of last year's 26 to 20 thriller of open play and passes has spurred demand for tickets so Chicago expects its best crowd of the season, including more than 3,000 Boilermaker sympathizers.

These partisans wish that Isbell and Full Back Drake, a Chicagoan, were in the lineup, but Coach Kizer, coming in advance of the team to speak at the alumni banquet, said this was unlikely. On the other hand, Wright and Decker, their standins, were fully capable against Fordham.

Each Team Starts 10 Veterans.

As starting lineups were announced last night, each eleven will have 10 letter men or reserves from last year in the lineups. Newcomers are Bob Fitzgerald, with sticky fingers for catching passes in Ned Bartlett's place at right half for Chicago, and McGannon at left half for Purdue. Weight in the line is about equal, with Maroons slightly heftier in the back field.

REVOLTA BEATS HAGEN, 1 UP, IN P. G. A. TOURNEY

Horton Smith Eliminates Picard; Armour Wins.

They scored halves on the 10th and 11th, Revolta earning both of his with fine recoveries from traps. Johnny went two up again on the 12th when Hagen found a trap with his second and didn't escape with his first try. The thirteenth went to a handsome brassie shot by Hagen after Revolta was short with his approach. The dogged Revolta clung to his one up lead from there to the finish despite visits to traps and overshot greens on nearly every hole.

Hagen Misses Chance.

In the meantime Hagen was missing short and medium putts for wins. On the 18th, after Johnny had put his second in the short trap, it seemed that the old boy might square the match with an iron to the green. Instead, he took a stout swing with a spoon and, in attempting to cut it, sent it far over the green and roadway. He was allowed to take it out in the parallel fairway, but dubbed his approach from there and could not better Revolta's five for a half.

The Smith-Picard battle, from the standpoint of match play, was the best of the day. The two tall boys of the tournament were sent out on the back nine first, teeing off on No. 10. Henry fired three birdies at Horton within the first six holes, dropping putts of from six to fifteen feet for them. They gave him a none too comfortable lead of one up at the turn, for he missed both the second and the ninth greens.

Smith Wins on 18th.

He was two up on No. 11, where Smith found a bunker, but Horton birdied the 14th with a niblick to within a yard of the cup. Picard was in the rough at the 17th, and the match was square. Smith took the 18th and the match when Picard pushed his tee shot to the right and poured his second into a trap, Smith's iron second dropping 12 feet from the cup.

The Krueger-Walsh match was a battle all the way, the Chicago Irishman coming within an ace of squaring the match. Krueger was one up at the turn by the grace of a pair of birdies at the second and sixth, while Walsh dropped a 15 footer for one at the third. Frank was in the ditch at the first and three putted the eighth. Butch took three putts on the fifth and missed the ninth green.

Walsh was in trouble at the 12th, but Butch three putted the 14th. Krueger went two up at the 16th, where Walsh took a six, but Frank was still saving his best shot of the day. On the 17th Krueger laid him a dead stymie, but the Walsh niblick hurdled that for a birdie three. It was one up and one to go, but Butch made sure of his half on the 18th and the match with it.

Armour Has Trouble.

Armour had a struggle all the way through the first nine of his match with Klein, taking 40 to go out, and being two down at the turn. Coming home Tom was three down after the 10th, but rallied to square the match at the 16th. They halved the 17th, and Klein lost the 18th and the match to a fine spoon shot and a six iron approach by Tommy, who then dropped a six foot putt for his four, while Willie was getting a break when his wild second struck a spectator, which kept the ball from going into a gully 100 feet deep. He could do no better than a five on his recovery.

WILDCATS DROP PAUL STEWART, BASEBALL COACH

Paul Stewart, for eight years baseball coach at Northwestern university, yesterday was released from the position. The move was in line with Northwestern's retrenchment policy. It is expected one of the other varsity sports coaches at the Evanston institution will take over the baseball team next spring.

Stewart was graduated from the University of Illinois, and was captain of the Illinois baseball team in 1923. He will become associated with an athletic goods concern.

Paddock Ends Football Feud with Jones

Long Beach, Cal., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Coach Howard Jones of the University of Southern California and Charles Paddock, former sprint star, smoked the peace pipe today.

After the Lions club luncheon speeches were over the Trojan coach and the former Southern California runner agreed they didn't mean all of the harsh things they had said about each other in the public print.

What Paddock wrote in a newspaper column several days ago: ". . . Jones must begin to show results again. . . . If he does not do it, then he does not deserve to remain for an indefinite period as head coach of what once was the Thundering Herd. Jones' teams are bogging down again just as they did at Yale, at Ohio State, at Iowa, and at Duke."

What Paddock said today: "I feel sure Coach Jones will continue to make good as a football coach. There is no bitterness in my words. I am sure Jones will not have the wolves in pursuit long."

What Jones said originally in reply to Paddock: "In as much as Charles Paddock never played football and knows nothing about the intricacies and fundamentals of the game, I am willing to overlook his criticism."

What Jones said today: "The little things Charlie said here will be an inspiration to me. I'm going back to the football field, not with the idea of proving he is wrong, but to try to win games. I'll even try to put in a few deceptive plays to satisfy Paddock."

Indiana and Cincinnati to Clash Today

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—After engaging in a light drill 36 Indiana university football players left this afternoon for Cincinnati, where they will meet the tough University of Cincinnati eleven, undefeated and unscored on this season, tomorrow afternoon.

The sophomores are Norton, Filchock, Heistand, Livingston, Kenderine and Sirtosky. Vern Huffman who appeared at the start of the season to have cinched the quarter back job, is not slated to start, but probably will relieve one of the sophomore backs during the game.

Players making the trip were:

BEARS WARNED AGAINST GIVING DODGERS BREAKS

Brooklyn Quick to Turn Chances Into Points.

The 1935 professional football season, which the world's series and schedules makers kept away from Chicago for four weeks, opens tomorrow at Wrigley Field with the Bears meeting the Brooklyn Dodgers. While the former champions are meeting the reorganized Dodgers, the Cardinals, now leading the National league, will seek to remain undefeated at Pittsburgh.

Opening of the home season has attracted unusual attention this year because Brooklyn has shown itself to be a powerful team and the Bears have established themselves as a formidable outfit before appearing before the home folks.

Dodgers Are Dangerous.

Brooklyn's greatest accomplishment to date is its 12 to 10 victory over Detroit, the team which tied the Cardinals, 10 to 10. Coached by Paul Schissler, the Dodgers have shaken off all evidences of the indifference and raggedness which characterized their play last season. Freshmen in the league, recruited from the campuses by Schissler last Summer, have increased the team's speed and resourcefulness.

"The Dodgers," Coach George Halas told the Bears after yesterday's practice, "are not a great team. But they are a match for any squad in this league and have proved it. They can beat any team they face if they get a break or two and they are improving. Nothing but our best football will beat them. Above all, don't give 'em a break. With the possible exception of the Cardinals, they are the best ball hawks in the league. Detroit gave them two breaks on fumbles, and they won a ball game on them."

Nagurski Still Out.

The Bears have about given up hope for the return of Bronko Nagurski, their smashing full back, and gone ahead with plans for the championship fight without him. His ailment has been diagnozed as arthritis.

Jack Manders has been doing the heavy duty at full back with Gene Ronzani, plunging right half back, giving him relief. Ronzani's place at half back has been assigned to Reds Pollock, one of the finds of the season, who led last week's triumph at Philadelphia with three touchdowns.

Madigan Denies He Plans to Quit Job at St. Mary's

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Denials of stories that Edward P. [Slip] Madigan, football coach of St. Mary's college, might sever that connection after this season were made today by both the coach and Brother Albert, president of the college.

The reports were occasioned by the financial situation created by the default of the major portion of a $1,500,000 bond issue. Madigan has not denied that friction developed when James E. Butler took charge of athletic activities as representative of the bondholders.

Madigan's contract has two years to run.

NAVY ATTRACTS RECORD CROWD AT YALE TODAY

60,000 to See Middies, Elis Renew Rivalry.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Before 60,000 fans, the largest crowd in the bowl in four years, Yale will meet Navy tomorrow in the resumption of their football rivalry after an intermission of thirty-four years.

The Navy squad of thirty-five players, a half-dozen coaches, and several officials arrived today. The players ran through a secret drill in the bowl. The Yale team practiced first, but with open gates, before a large crowd.

Coach Ducky Pond of Yale refused to make any prophecies. "If the starting eleven can hold up, we ought to be able to give them a run for their money," he declared. "The team has a lot of spirit, as much as any I've ever seen, and Kim Whitehead is a great leader. I am hoping the pass defense will be bolstered."

"We realize that to beat Yale, we'll have to battle the pass attack and stop Frank and Hessberg," Tom Hamilton, Navy coach asserted. "I find more cause for nightmares in these two threats than in any other single factor."

HARVARD MEETS ARMY.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Harvard's football squad, which meets Army here tomorrow, arrived today for an hour's workout, then left for Storm King school at Cornwall, where the players will be quartered for the night.

Watch Those Lines! Irish Battle Pitt

strength has not been challenged; its possibilities are unmeasured.

In this same span of competition, Notre Dame has beaten Kansas, confidentaly rallied to whip Carnegie Tech, and run down the hapless Badgers of Wisconsin. Paced by hard hitting half backs, protected by experienced flank men, Notre Dame has given positive proof of steady improvement. It has rallied from misfortune and while John Michuta, veteran tackle, and Mike Layden, best of the right half backs, will not play tomorrow, their absence serves as inspiration to those on whom duty will fall.

Tech March Stands Out.

Most significant of Notre Dame's achievements this year was that driving, relentless parade of 93 yards against Carnegie Tech. With the aid of only one forward pass, Notre Dame advanced in surging smashes which felled all opposition until the goal had been reached. This is football, the kind of football that brings victory.

"I believe the boys can do it."

This is the opinion of Elmer Layden, famed member of Notre Dame's Four Horsemen, who was summoned back to his alma mater a year ago to revive lethargic gridiron forces. Layden does not discount Pitt's strength nor pass over Notre Dame's weakness. Candidly he has recognized a Notre Dame triumph barring mechanical misplay or misfortune attributed to luck.

Dr. John Sutherland, laconic Scot, one time great guard for Pitt, who smiled when Notre Dame won and then had recompense in recent years, did not venture an opinion. But Jock Sutherland actually visions victory. He cannot understand why Notre Dame's line, recently put together and then reformed because of injury, cannot be breached. There lies Pitts' opportunity.

Plenty of Backs.

If Notre Dame wins victory should come after a free scoring fight, or so it seems. If Notre Dame wins the heroes of that triumph well may be William Shakespeare, left half back, and Fred Corideo, full back.

Notre Dame has a plethora of backs. To others may come scoring chances, but Irish fans are banking on the sure work of Carideo and the flying feet of Shakespeare. Carideo has won his position by persistence, shaking off younger rivals, and the veteran Don Elser, who has been handicapped by an injured ankle. Shakespeare is the team's best kicker. He is difficult to stop, and with adequate relief from Andy Pilney, who also has shown improvement, it may be Shakespeare who strikes the first blow at the Panthers.

Pittsburgh has scored 45 points in three years; Notre Dame has scored none. This is the goad which stirs the Irish. And this is simple reason why Notre Dame wants a victory tomorrow.

Pass and Long Run Win for De Paul, 14-3

Dayton, O., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—After spotting Dayton university three points in the first half, the De Paul university eleven of Chicago counted two touchdowns tonight to win, 14 to 3.

Early in the second quarter an exchange of punts gave Dayton the ball on De Paul's 39 yard line. Dayton drove to the 15 yard line and when the Chicagoans held, Pete Zierolf, right tackle, dropped back and booted the ball through the uprights for three points.

March 72 Yards.

De Paul did not threaten until late in the second period when Fay entered the game and began to toss passes. He completed several, but Dayton stopped the drive on its 26 yard line. De Paul traveled 72 yards for its first touchdown early in the third quarter with Willie Phillips doing most of the ball carrying. Stopped on Dayton's 27 yard line Phillips dropped back and tossed a long pass over the center to Mullner, the right end, and he caught the ball on the goal line for a touchdown.

Dayton threatened in the fourth quarter when a passing attack took the ball to De Paul's 35 yard line, but there the Demons regained the ball and on the second play from scrimmage Loess cut inside of right end and back over center, racing 67 yards for a touchdown.

Dayton Leads in First Downs.

Dayton led in first downs, 11 to 8, but De Paul gained 167 yards from scrimmage as compared to 157 for the Flyers. De Paul completed four of 11 passes for 69 yards while Dayton completed five of 16 for 49 yards.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Scoring three minutes after St. Louis university had tied the count in the fourth quarter, Marquette's Golden Avalanche defeated the Billikens, 20 to 13, before 10,000 tonight. The Billikens scored first on a long pass from Nunn to Wood in the first quarter but missed the kick. Marquette came right back and took the lead on Art Guepe's 32 yard romp to the end zone and Cuff's extra point from placement.

That Makes Three Straight.

It was Marquette's third straight victory.

A pass, Buivid to Cuff, gave Marquette another touchdown in the second quarter. The Billikens threatened several times in the third and finally tied the count in the fourth on Drone's run around right end and Harris' kick.

Forward Pass Wins.

Buivid passed to Art Guepe for a first down on the 4 yard line, and then on fourth down flipped one to Skippy McMahon in the corner for the winning points. Mierzwa added the extra point.

THE GREAT DIZZY REFUSES TO HURL AS 200 SIT, WAIT

Dizzy did the same thing at Chattanooga yesterday when the crowd failed to come up to his expectations.

Marshall and Lane Tech Win in Prep League

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.

Marshall, 14; Farragut, 0.
Lane Tech, 12; Sullivan, 0.
Chicago Latin, 33; Harvard, 13.

Marshall High school took first place in the west section of the Chicago Public High School Football league by handing Farragut its first defeat, 14 to 0, at Mills stadium yesterday.

In the other City league game, Lane Tech moved into a tie for first place with Schurz in the north section, beating Sullivan, 12 to 0, at Lane field.

The combination of Sol Katz and Bernie Lynn proved too much for Farragut. The first touchdown was chalked up in the second quarter when Lynn hurled a 20 yard pass to Katz in the end zone. Late in the fourth period Lynn passed fifteen yards to Katz, who ran ten yards for a touchdown.

Prochaska and Marcucci enabled Lane to triumph over Sullivan. The victors got off to a good start in the first quarter when they worked the ball down midfield to the ten yard line. A pass, Prochaska to Storlie, placed the ball on the seven yard marker, and the former then plunged across the goal.

MINNESOTA AND TULANE PLAY BEFORE 40,000

the Gophers have no idea that the Green Wave is going to soak them any. Minnesota attaches reveal that the plan is to roll up a pretty good score early in the game, preferably with a minimum of bruising contact, then to let the regulars escape for a rest before the impending Northwestern game.

Last week Minnesota played Nebraska with 18 men, and while they won, they took an awful thumping to do it. Center Dale Rennebohm, for instance, lost 16 pounds, and none of the players who went more than half the game lost fewer than five pounds.

Regulars to Start.

Coach Bierman pursued a leisurely program with his battered regulars throughout this week, but tomorrow he will ask them to step in for a quick lead with promise of withdrawals as soon as the margin is considered safe.

On this basis the Gophers will send forth Capt. Seidel at quarter back, Roscoe, star of the Nebraska game, and Le Voir at the halves, and Beise at full back. It is indicated that this quartet will start a lot of tricky stuff the minute Minnesota gains possession of the ball.

Gopher scouts have brought word that Capt. Barney Mintz and John Andrews, sophomore full back, are the Tulane gents who will bear the most watching.

OAT DESTROYERS OF RACING RUN TRUE TO FORM

Group of Also Rans Folds Up as Usual.

BY BRUCE DENNIS.

They certainly ran to form at Sportsman's park yesterday. Five horses did exactly what was expected of them, and yet none of the canny customers who sized up these steeds carried away a nickel from the pari-mutuel betting windows.

For the horses that ran true to advance expectation were the oats burning, hay destroying nags that show up at every track, from spring to fall, and never seem to get within neighing distance of the finish line before the race is over.

What 1935 Records!

Sorting out the entries on the seven race program, the 6,000 fans came upon the names and 1935 records of these horses:

Race.	Horse.	Starts	Won	2d	3d
First race	Dark Rascal	7	0	0	0
Second race	Miss Sensation	9	0	0	0
Third race	Miss Blanche	5	0	0	0
Fifth race	Giggy Boy	2	0	0	0

Milk wagon drivers in the crowd yelled, "We'll be seeing you," as these scalawags paraded to the post. Glue factory superintendents made a note of them under future business. Farmers who lined the rail envisioned them in a more suitable setting—hauling a plow down on the east forty.

Dark Rascal Folds Up.

Dark Rascal was not one to disappoint his public. He was as good as third soon after the start of the first race, but gracefully folded up and finished eighth in the nine horse field at odds of 72½ to 1. Miss Sensation almost upset things in the second race when she started out as if she were going to gallop away with the purse. On the stretch turn, however, Miss Sensation remembered her previous record and bolted for the outside fence. Five horses swept by her and she wound up in sixth place.

Miss Blanche, the nominee for ignominy in the third, could high hat the others on also ran row, for she once actually won a race—a year ago at Sportsman's Park. But since then Miss Blanche has developed a modesty that makes her step aside for any and all rivals. She ran last yesterday, beaten 15 lengths.

Yes Polly a Gallant Seventh.

Yes Polly, a 2 year old in Ald. J. J. Coughlin's barn, which finished third in a race Oct. 7 but never came that close to victory before or since, stumbled home a gallant seventh in the fourth event.

Five year old Giggy Boy, loser of his only two starts by 33 and 20 lengths, respectively, kept his record clear in the fifth race when he was absolutely last for the whole trip and was trailing by more than 31 lengths when the 6½ furlong dash was over.

While all these horses so keenly diagnosed by the fans were chasing the other horses around, the favorites, on which the money was wagered, weren't doing so well.

In the first race the veteran Johnny Leyland scored with Dance Princess, which paid $35.40. The second went to Geraldine M., worth $17.60 for $2. A public choice ran home in the third when Service Man led all the way and paid $4.80. He completed a daily double that was good for $41.60. In the fourth Lovely Spy was rushed up in the stretch by the young apprentice rider, George Green, to take the decision by a nose. She returned $28.

Best Race to Pan Toy.

The fifth and best race was captured by Pan Toy, a stranger to half mile tracks. He overtook the early leader, Bonnie Marita, to win by 1¾ lengths. Pan Toy was ridden by Jocky Tex Anderson. Bonnie Marita, quoted at 8 to 1 when the betting opened, was knocked down almost to 2 to 1 in an attempted betting coup, but even Jocky Leyland's hustling ride couldn't get her home. Pan Toy paid $12.20.

O'Mahoney to Meet Chicago Irish at Fete

The local wrestling spotlight, which has been focused on the comings and goings of Chief Little Wolf for the last few days, today will have its beams directed once more on Danno Aloysious O'Mahoney of Ballydehob, County Cork, Ireland, head of the heavyweight division. O'Mahoney and his entourage will arrive from the east this morning for the purpose of putting on two dress rehersals at Madison Square loop gymnasium, 227 West Madison street, the first this afternoon and the other on the morrow, for another title defense at Chicago Stadium Monday. Danno, who threw Jim Browning at Toronto, Ont., Thursday, will have as his opponent this time the aforesaid Little Wolf, who received his early training as a wrestler on the Haskell institute football team in 1926 and 1927.

Wolf, who met Ray Steele at Cleveland Wednesday and Floyd Marshall at Detroit last night, will be back on the practice mat at Trafton's gymnasium this afternoon.

After he concludes drills tomorrow O'Mahoney will be the guest of honor at a reception in a loop restaurant on Clark street. Matchmakers James C. Mullen and Nate Lewis have sent invitations to 2,000 Chicago residents of Irish descent. Leaders of Irish Fellowship clubs and societies here are included among those invited.

Milt Aron, Dubuque, Ia., junior welterweight, will face Marty McHale, rugged Cleveland fighter, and Jackie Sherman, promising Detroit welterweight, is paired with Tommy Habel, Chicago, in two matches at five rounds each at Marigold Gardens Monday. Four rounders on the program, topped by a ten round scrap involving Frank Battaglia and Johnny Phagan, match Bobby O'Dowd with Duke Calloway and Harold Brown with Mickey O'Shea. Ernie Peterson and Jim Landis will be opponents in a wrestling attraction.

NORTH CENTRAL TO CLASH WITH EUREKA TODAY

North Central will go after its second Little Nineteen conference victory at Naperville this afternoon when the Cardinals meet Eureka college. Well pleased with the power his squad has shown on offense, Coach Fisher put his men through stiff defensive drills for the greater part of the week.

Eureka lost to Carthage last week, 10 to 7, while North Central was winning from Wheaton, 16 to 0. Co-Capt. Al Dittman, half back, and Cy Dotlich, regular end, are both expected to see action for the first time this year. With these two available, North Central will be able to put its full strength on the field for the first time since the season opened.

W. and J. Beats Marietta, 34 to 0, in Heavy Fog

Marietta, O., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Washington and Jefferson defeated Marietta college, 34 to 0, here today. Marietta never had a chance. A heavy fog settled on the field in the last half, confusing both players and spectators. The ball, on high kicks and passes, frequently was invisible.

MUDHEN HUNTERS GET READY FOR OPENING MONDAY

U. S. Duck Stamps Will Not Be Required.

BY BOB BECKER.

Mudhen hunters who are figuring on opening the season Monday, the first day of the 1935 waterfowl and snipe hunting season, do not need United States duck stamps if they are going to hunt nothing but mudhens. According to the report from the biological survey, the ruling on the law states:

"The migratory bird hunting stamp, which may be purchased at postoffices for $1, is required to be carried on the person of any individual over 16 years of age who is engaged in hunting wild ducks, wild geese, or brant." Under this ruling [the same as last year] a woodcock hunter, mudhen hunter, or snipe shooter will not be required to possess a duck stamp. In other words, the waterfowl hunter pays the freight.

It'll Be New, at Least.

As printed in this department some days ago, opening day will not only see thousands of cords of wood floating around in the form of wooden decoys, now that live decoys are forbidden, but many duck blinds probably will sound like radio broadcasting stations since the craze for phonograph records of ducks calling has caught the fancy of hunters.

Under the federal ruling it is legal to use a phonograph and a record of man-made duck calls. It is illegal to use a record of live birds calling.

Limit on Coots Is 15 a Day.

There is some confusion in hunter's minds about the bag limits this year, due to the government's use of the terms "in the aggregate." For example, one may shoot ten ducks in a day and, in addition, a mess of coots. [The limit on coots is 15 per day.]

Another illustration of bag limits is this: One might be so lucky as to get four geese some morning. That's the bag and possession limit. However, it still is possible to hunt ducks under the law, because the "in the aggregate" phrase permits a limit of ten ducks per day, plus geese. But one cannot shoot ten teal and then ten mallards in one day. Ten ducks of any kind is the daily bag limit.

GERALDINE M., hustled to contention early, took command when MISS SENSATION bolted, continued under clever rating, and held sway to the end. SWIFT SHARES LEAD PACKING GROUP HIGHER Motors, Specialties Rise; Others Dull.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 18.—Packing stocks, low priced motors, and a few specialties and miscellaneous industrials found the market outlook still cheerful and registered advances, but otherwise the share trade was dull and generally devoid of interest. At the close net declines outnumbered gains.

The Swift dividend gave the cue to the packing house stocks. Swift ran up more than 2 points, and Wilson and Armour were both active, their preferreds rising more than a point each. The Armour earnings statement, due shortly, is expected to provide further evidence in confirmation of reports that the higher meat prices are bringing large profits to the packing companies.

Farm Implements Climb.

Farm implements had one of their rare good days, with Deere and Case climbing about 3 points each. International Harvester also looked up rather smartly.

A number of preferred stocks and specialties rose 1 to 3 points. In the list were American Power and Light preferreds, Commercial Credit, Commercial Investment Trust, Mengel preferred, Morrell, Neisner, Reynolds Metal, Gypsum, Industrial Alcohol, and Westinghouse. Western Union dipped and then rose about 2 points from its low.

Packard and Studebaker led the motor group. Some heavy buying of Packard occurred at times, one sale of 20,000 shares at 6 being separated on the ticker tape by only a dot from another sale of 20,000 at 6. As observers commented, a 40,000 share block in any stock at any price isn't seen every day these times.

Many Groups Little Changed.

Little change was recorded in the utilities, rubbers, foods, oils, and merchants. Steels were firm.

Business news continued to favor the upside. Although the carloadings report showed a substantial increase, the carrier group failed to get much help from the fact. Prices in the division were a bit more desultory of movement than those of some other sections, and the net changes were generally without significance. Constructive forces worked the inflation factor without appreciable result.

There was no disposition to minimize the seriousness of the growing international tension, but brokers said continuances rather than alarm appeared to be the prevailing attitude.

BANKING GROUP SELLS STOCK OF SYLVANIA CORP.

New York, Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Hallgarten & Co., Lehman Bros., and Goldman, Sachs & Co. have placed privately 100,000 shares of the Sylvania Industrial corporation no par capital stock at $26.50 per share.

The bankers state these shares were purchased from a stockholder who acquired them prior to the passage of the securities act of 1933 and who has certified that he does not control, is not controled by, and is not under common control with the Sylvania corporation.

The Sylvania Industrial corporation, incorporated in Virginia in 1932, manufactures and sells transparent cellulose wrapping material and other products. The company has no funded debt or preferred stock, and its no par capital stock outstanding amounts to 420,002 shares after deducting 1,255 shares of stock in the treasury.

CUBA PURCHASES 7,743,000 OUNCES SILVER FOR COINS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Out of the secrecy surrounding the treasury's silver operations came an announcement today that the Cuban government had acquired approximately 7,743,000 ounces of bullion. The state department disclosed that the Cuban purchase had been handled by the Export-Import bank, which granted sufficient credits [approximately $6,000,000] to finance the deal.

Whether the metal came from the treasury's stock was not made clear. The treasury has arranged to have the metal minted into 10,000,000 standard pesos at the Philadelphia mint.

State department officials said that Cuba needed to increase its circulation medium as a result of improved economic conditions.

CIGARET OUTPUT SETS NEW RECORD FOR SEPTEMBER

Washington, D. C., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Cigaret production in the United States during September was the largest for that month on record, although declining from August, the bureau of internal revenue announced today. Output was 10,744,083,390, compared with 11,974,831,167 in August and 10,294,498,800 in September, 1934.

Large cigar production amounted to 430,958,624 in September, the largest for that month since 1931, and comparing with 422,281,685 in the preceding month, and 394,861,780 in September last year. Manufactured tobacco output was 26,178,774 pounds, against 27,110,032 in August and 24,439,279 in 1934. The figures are based upon the sale of revenue stamps.

Mr. Gay Gets Brokers Here Feeling Glad

BY HOWARD WOOD.

As La Salle street brokers yesterday were recovering from the trance into which the coming to Chicago of leaders of the New York Stock exchange had thrown them they began to mull over the reasons for this widely heralded visit.

At the dinner given Thursday night by the Chicago Association of Stock Exchange Firms some 700 brokers had jammed the main dining room of the Union League club to listen to and applaud speeches by Charles R. Gay, president of the New York Stock exchange, and his associates. Stock and bond men from all over the middle west were represented in the crowd, which was so large that overflow tables had to be set up on another floor.

* *

The experience of Mr. Gay's predecessors at banquets in Chicago in recent years has not been particularly happy. Last year Richard Whitney, then president of the New York Stock exchange, made a speech here in defense of his profession and his particular exchange.

What Mr. Whitney said on that occasion was not controversial, considering his audience. What he said they already agreed with. But his broker listeners resented his manner. They felt that they were being talked down to. The reception was chilly.

La Salle street is always impressed with the momentousness of the occasion when Wall street comes to town. But it doesn't like the visiting dignitaries to show that they are impressed with their own importance. It likes to be chummy about it.

* *

The present manager of the New York Stock exchange is the first to understand this feeling. Wall street has come down off its high horse. And the boys liked it immensely. They liked leaving their dinner coats at home. They enjoyed the new, easy air of fraternalism. And they cheered the speakers with enthusiasm unprecedented on such an occasion.

The results of the big event bore out the wisdom of the new management of the New York Stock exchange in undertaking what is in reality a big selling campaign and likewise the shrewdness in selecting Charles R. Gay to lead in this drive. It was easy to discover that in this swing of the hinterland Mr. Gay is trying to dispell the mystery surrounding the New York Stock exchange and to create a feeling of good fellowship.

"It was my hope in coming that I might learn more from you than I could possibly impart," he said. "I have not been disappointed. I have spent some hours, today, with a group of earnest, interested men who have the same aims, the same desires, the same hope that by our attitude and actions we may disarm that criticism which has cut so deep."

That was the kind of talk La Salle street liked to hear and it went well—so well, in fact, that when later Mr. Gay inferred that the New York Stock exchange should be the "national" stock market and other stock exchanges should concern themselves only with securities of smaller local concerns having a limited distribution, members of the Chicago Stock exchange, which has spent a lot of money to extend its ticker service over the country, took it without a murmur.

"There are," he said, "corporations with a natural market for their issues in the district in which they are located. It seems logical that issues of large corporations whose securities are widely distributed should be dealt in upon our exchange. But somewhere there is a line below which we will not go."

STANDARD OIL DENIES PLAN TO EMBARGO ITALY

New York, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The vital question of oil supplies for military forces was thrown today into the lap of the world powers' diplomatic corps after the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, king pin in the petroleum picture, denied it had any knowledge of reports that an oil embargo might be placed on Italy.

W. C. Teagle, Standard president, declared his company had not been approached with suggestions that it restrict regular shipments to its Italian subsidiary, Societa Italo-Americana del Petrolio, and that he saw no reason under existing conditions today to interfere with the regular commercial business which has been carried on in Italy for more than 40 years.

His statement was made, it was said, because of "persistent press comments that major oil companies are discussing a possible world-wide embargo of petroleum sales to Italy."

The world oil trade is dominated by Standard of New Jersey and by Royal Dutch-Shell interests controled by English and supported by the Dutch.

WARD TO SPEND $1,750,000 IN NEW PLANT EXPANSION

Montgomery Ward & Co. will spend approximately $1,750,000 in expanding both the mail order and retail selling facilities at Albany, N. Y., and Portland, Ore., officials of the company announced yesterday after directors had approved the plans.

Work is scheduled to begin on both projects about Jan. 1 and is expected to be completed late next summer. In Albany five floors will be added over one section of the present building and seven floors over an adjoining section.

The Portland project will include a wing of nine floors and basement, covering a lot 181 feet long and 122 feet wide, which adjoins the present building. Increased business in both the retail and mail order business of these branches made the expansion necessary, it was said.

Gay Attacks 'Planning' as Socialist Veil

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Bitter criticism of socialistic theorists who cloak their activities under "the magic word, planning," was voiced here today by Charles R. Gay, president of the New York Stock exchange, in an address before the Mid-Day Luncheon club.

Gay ridiculed extremists who charge that conservatives have clogged the wheels of progress and retarded or prevented necessary reforms long past the time when self-interest of the conservatives themselves demanded the change.

"We are challenged," he said, "to submit ideas for curing obvious evils of our present system—mountainous piling up of debts which may never be paid, the wiping out of life savings of individuals, ruinous swings in prices, wage slavery, unemployment, the existence side by side of enormous wealth and abject poverty, and underutilization of resources.

Doubts "Positive Action."

"This is a large order and there is no more reason to assume the problem can be solved by a program of 'positive action,' such as has been urged, than by one such as conservative elemtns are accused of sponsoring.

"The middle course offered by the theorists, or planners, cannot be maintained for long. Inevitably we would move toward complete state domination," he warned.

Conservatives, Gay asserted, want nothing more sensational than freedom, qualified and guided by restraints which states can impose wisely in certain directions. He said the function of the state in exercising control is the core of the problem confronted in modern business life.

Questions Market Control.

"An elaborate machine has been created for preventing runaway stock markets through restrictions on borrowing. But if the treasury borrows billions and puts these dollars into the hands of individuals who in turn put them in the stock market it may be seriously questioned how effective legislative stock market controls would be in an emergency."

Failure of the heavy goods industries to recover vigorously and provide increased employment can be attributed partly to stringent control which government has attempted to apply to business, to the entry of government into competition with private enterprise, and attempts to adjust prices, Gay said.

"It cannot be denied that these things operate as a positive check on investment," he added. "Even more serious is the prevailing state of uncertainty as to when the existing program will be changed, either by the government acting on its own volition or through court decisions.

Policies Confuse Business.

"Before business men can find out how present policies are going to work they may be confronted with other and wholly different policies. Under these conditions it is not to be wondered at that liquid capital, of which there is an abundance, hesitates to fix itself in permanent forms nominally capable of earning a return. The risks are too hazardous and capital refuses to accept the risk."

Gay suggested a broad study by students of economic theory and government in an attempt to chart the sphere of the state in modern business, including international relationships.

PROFITS OF WRIGLEY COMPANY INCREASE; STILL UNDER YEAR AGO

The William Wrigley Jr. company reported yesterday that net profit for the quarter ended Sept. 30 increased over the preceding quarter despite a drop in gross income, but there was a decline from a year ago.

Net profit for the September quarter was $2,070,434, equivalent to $1.06 a share, compared with $2,011,357, or $1.03 a share, in the preceding quarter and $2,183,571, or $1.11 a share in the corresponding period of last year. Gross revenues were $5,253,582, against $5,314,898 and $,060,940, respectively.

The profit for the first nine months of this year amounted to $5,867,887, or $3 a share, compared with $6,663,114 or $3.09 a share in the corresponding period of last year. Gross was $15,305,568, against $14,382,349.

NUDISTS, IT SEEMS, ARE A BIT TO BLAME FOR THIS DEPRESSION

New York, Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Either American males are taking better care of their clothes or nudist camps are thriving, it was indicated at the conference of 500 sales executives here today. Figures presented by Clarence Francis, executive vice president of the General Foods corporation, definitly indicated that the nation has been losing its pants business and that production of other articles of clothing has been at low ebb.

According to Francis, only one new pair of pants was manufactured for every three men in the country last year. Only one overcoat was made for every eleven men, and the shirt statistics showed only 2½ for each man.

"Is America becoming a coast to coast nudist camp?" Francis demanded. "I say, give the boys back their shirts, at any rate."

The figures were given by Francis to support his contention that the nation is suffering from under-production and not overproduction.

"The United States is ripe for a replacement and replenishment program such as the world has never seen before," said Francis. "We need new cars, new houses, new clothes, new shoes, new radios with television, new air-conditioning in dwellings and work places. We need new foods, machinery, comforts, and culture. We need to clean up and paint up. We need to raze thousands of antiquated factories and houses—rebuild, modernize."

CAPITAL FLIGHT INCREASES AS EXCHANGE FALLS

New York, Oct. 18.—[Special.]—The flight of capital from Europe, which had shown signs of tapering off earlier in the week, increased in volume today under the pressure of renewed fears of a European war. The increasing flow of funds from abroad was revealed in a declining movement of foreign exchanges and in larger engagements of gold abroad for shipment here.

A total of $15,618,000 gold was reported today as engaged for shipment here, compared with $8,562,000 on Thursday. Of today's engagements $10,808,000 was taken in England, $2,650,000 in France, and $2,160,000 in India. These engagements brought the total taken since Sept. 9, when the movement started, to $411,800,000.

Sterling opened at $4.92 in both London and New York, but slipped to close at $4.90⅝ here, off 1⅜ cents. The france sold in Paris at 74.67 to the pound, 17 points below yesterday's opening. In New York it opened at 6.59⅛ cents, off ⅛, and weakened to close at 6.59 cents, off ¼ point. The dollar was worth $1.0066 against francs, compared with $1.0062 yesterday.

GENERAL MOTORS REDUCES COST OF BUYER FINANCING

New York, Oct. 18.—(AP)—A new type of motor car financing plan effecting lower cost to the buyer was announced tonight by the General Motors Acceptance corporation. Simplification of the system of payments is its chief feature.

"To the best of our knowledge," the announcement said, "the plan represents by far the lowest cost national plan for the purchase of new cars in the United States today." It eliminates carrying charges and service charges.

Explaining the calculation of monthly payments, the announcement says, "a prospective new car buyer has only to take the unpaid balance due, add to this the cost of his insurance and multiply the result by 6 per cent. The resultant figure is the entire cost of financing the unpaid balance and insurance for 12 months. For payment periods longer or shorter than 12 months the cost is ½ of 1 per cent per month."

Minneapolis-Honeywell Quarter Profits Increase

The Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator company and subsidiaries in the September quarter had net profit of $786,656, against $346,293 a year ago. In the nine months to Sept. 30 indicated net profit was $1,057,826, against $551,959 in the like period last year.

Grains Settle Down as War Flurry Wanes

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

After several days of comparatively sharp price swings trading on the Chicago Board of Trade slowed down yesterday and quotations underwent little change from the preceding day's figures. December wheat futures closed a quarter of a cent higher at $1.02⅝ a bushel, but other grain futures were a trifle lower when the market closed.

The agitation in the market Thursday caused by the revived war scare had spent itself before trading opened yesterday. Lacking the stimulation of fresh news developments the market became dull. The selling flurry which was caused earlier in the week by uncertainty over the future marketing policy of the Canadian wheat board has blown over.

Canadian Policy in Doubt.

What the newly elected government will do is still uncertain, but the strong denial of dumping issued Thursday has laid at rest the many disturbing rumors that were circulated freely immediately after the election results became known. If the leaders of the new government stick to their preëlection promises it is probable Canada will feed out her surplus wheat into the world market at a faster rate than in the past.

Apprehension of wholesale dumping of wheat into the world market, however, appears to have little foundation. The market price of wheat in the Winnipeg market is now close to the 87½ cents a bushel minimum price which has been guaranteed to producers by the government for the best quality grain.

Whether this guaranteed price will be altered remains a matter of conjecture. On the whole, little concern is felt over the possibility that the world market will be seriously disturbed by any act of the new government.

U. S. Still Importing Wheat.

The United States is still importing wheat and stocks of Canadian wheat stored in bond in this country are increasing. Eventually it is expected the duty will be paid on this grain and that it will be sold in the domestic market.

The minor changes that occurred in this market yesterday were duplicated in Liverpool and Winnipeg. Prices were slightly higher in both the latter markets.

	Yesterday.	Thursday.	Wk. ago.
Wheat	$1.02⅝	$1.02⅜	$1.04⅜
Corn	.59⅛	.59¾	.60¾
Oats	.27⅝	.37½	.28¼
Rye	.51⅛	.50⅞	.53½

Corn prices declined moderately as the grain began to move in larger volume. Offerings of new crop corn and holdover supplies are increasing, with resulting pressure on the market.

COUNTY CHIEFS TO CONSULT RFC ON REFUNDING

Six county officials, headed by Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, will leave for Washington tomorrow afternoon to confer Monday with Reconstruction Finance corporation representatives on the county's $48,000,000 bond refunding program. The county is considering four refunding plans.

The amount to be refunded includes $10,000,000 in county bonds already in default and $38,000,000 more of these bonds likely to go into default. The RFC is holding $13,000,000 of the $38,000,000 in bonds.

President Smith will be accompanied by County Commissioners Maurice F. Kavanagh and William Busse and Deputy County Controler Michael J. O'Connor, Assistant State's Attorney William J. Tuohy, and Assistant Auditor E. C. Marohn. They will return to Chicago on Tuesday.

PATENT POOL PROBE SHIFTS TO RADIO FIELD

New York, Oct. 18.—(AP)—The house committee investigating the pooling of patents and cross licensing decided today to turn from motion pictures to the radio industry.

This decision was announced and the hearing adjourned until Monday morning, while Will H. Hays, motion picture czar, and several film executives were waiting a call to testify.

Further testimony at this time on the patent situation as applied to motion pictures would only result in repetition, the committee announcement said.

During the morning Sidney R. Kent, president of Twentieth Century-Fox Film corporation, was queried on lobbying activities. He emphatically denied charges of representative Matthew A. Dunn of Pennsylvania, a committee member, that large sums had been spent by the corporation in Washington to prevent passage of certain legislation.

OWENS-ILLINOIS GLASS ACQUIRES LIBBEY COMPANY

Toledo, O., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—The Owens-Illinois Glass company today acquired the assets and business of the Libbey Glass Manufacturing company in a $5,000,000 transaction that gives the Owens-Illinois company the largest thin-blown glass plant in the world. The Libbey plant will be operated by the same personnel as a division of the Owens-Illinois company. The plant employs 1,000 workers.

The Libbey manufacturing plant was built by the late Edward Drummond Libbey and Jefferson D. Robinson. Machinery and other equipment was moved here from New England. At that time the plant produced the finest cut glass product in the world. It was in the Libbey plant that the Owens bottle machine was developed and out of it came the tumbler and other machines that have revolutionized the thin-blown glass industry.

SEC Clarifies Regulation on Dealers' Liabilities

Washington, D. C., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—The Securities and Exchange commission today amended its rules to make clear that security dealers receiving only the usual sellers' commissions from underwriters do not incur underwriting liability.

Santa Fe's New Diesel Sets Speed Record

An unannounced train rolled quietly into the Dearborn station Thursday night to hang up a new speed mark. Powered by a giant 3,600 horse power Diesel locomotive and hauling a heavy nine car train of standard steel passenger cars, the equipment came to a halt 39 hours 34 minutes after leaving Los Angeles.

The locomotive, latest acquisition of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad, had cut 15 hours from the time of the Santa Fe's Chief, fastest regular flyer between the two cities, according to S. T. Bledsoe, president of the road. It left Los Angeles Wednesday at 5 a. m. and arrived here Thursday at 10:34 p. m.

Beats Death Valley Scotty.

The famous ride of Death Valley Scotty who made the trip in 1905, and set a record which stood unchallenged for 30 years, had been bettered by 5 hours and 20 minutes. The record of 39 hours and 45 minutes, set up recently by the Union Pacific's light streamliner, had been lowered by 11 minutes.

Railroad men attached particular significance to the record because no advance arrangements had been made for a speed test. The train was returning to Chicago on the second of two routine test runs. According to W. K. Etter, vice president, one of a number of officials aboard, no thought had been given to the possibility of setting a new mark until Kansas City was reached.

Average 56½ Miles an Hour.

A check of elapsed time revealed it would only be necessary to make the run from Kansas City to Chicago, 452 miles, in 450 minutes, a time easily exceeded by the Diesel on the westbound trip, to establish a new record. The train averaged nearly 56½ miles an hour over the 2,228 mile run.

While officials expressed satisfaction with the performance of the new locomotive they denied it is contemplated to inaugurate regular passenger service to the coast on the basis of the record. It was intimated, however, schedules of the Santa Fe's proposed new train—the Super Chief—which the Diesel will draw, will be several hours faster than existing elapsed time between the two points.

U. S. TREASURY PLANS BRANCHES TO STUDY TAXES

Washington, D. C., Oct. 18.—(AP)—The treasury announced today it would shortly establish branch offices in "five or more additional cities" to study income tax returns. The program is designed to provide employment for "white collar" idle, but officials emphasized they would not check delinquent returns. The project is financed by an allocation of $1,200,000, and is designed to last a year.

"It will be purely a research study to determine how the laws are working out," one official said. Already the department has set up a branch office in Baltimore where about 450 workers, taken from relief rolls, are studying 300,000 capital gains tax returns.

The broadened program provides for 1,200 additional workers, who will set up branch offices in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, and Cleveland. They will tabulate all 1934 individual income tax returns and will prepare a breakdown by counties and by cities of more than 25,000 population. Also, they will compile returns of partnerships and of fiduciaries for the years 1931 to 1934, inclusive.

DOUGLAS AIRCRAFT NETS $2.31 A SHARE IN FIRST NINE MONTHS

New York, Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Net profit of Douglas Aircraft, Inc., for the nine months ended Aug. 31 was reported today as $1,082,746, or $2.31 a common share. It was higher than for any full year since reports were first made public in 1926. In the like period of 1934 the company had a net loss of $275,204.

The company, a leading military aircraft designer, confines its production largely to planes and parts for the United States government. Last month it was awarded a war department contract for 18 two-engined transport planes and spare parts, involving $1,235,000.

For the quarter ended Aug. 31, the company had a net profit of $146,744, equal to 31 cents a share, against net of $595,705, or $1.27 a share, in the second quarter and net of $81,348, or 17 cents a share, in the August quarter of last year.

Unfilled orders as of Oct. 15 totaled $4,537,000, against $5,604,000 as of Aug. 31, 1934.

On Sept. 27, the company paid a dividend of 75 cents a share, the first disbursement since Sept. 21, 1933, when 37½ cents a share was paid.

MIDDLE WEST'S PLAN FOUGHT BY MINORITY GROUP

Objects to Terms of Share Exchange.

With minority objectors injecting a discordant note into the proceedings, creditors and stockholders of the Middle West Utilities company yesterday presented to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson their plan for reorganization of the company, whose affairs have been in the hands of the court since April, 1932.

The plan represents the culmination of months of contentious negotiations by the various groups of stockholders and creditors. Judge Wilkerson was informed by the attorneys for the organized groups that the plan has the support of virtually all parties in the proceedings. Vehement objections to its terms, however, were voiced by Attorneys Samuel A. Ettelson and Patrick J. Lucey, representing minority holders of common stock.

Big Holders Support Plan.

The reorganization program has the solid support of the bank creditors and noteholders whose claims against the company aggregate about 65 million dollars. The committees representing the common and preferred stock holders declare they have more than 51 per cent of each class of stock, which is necessary under the terms of section 77-B of the bankruptcy act.

Judge Wilkerson indicated, however, that he looked with favor on at least some of the objections made by the minority stockholders.

"We must view these things from the standpoint of the public," Judge Wilkerson said. "The banks ultimately must dispose of the stock in the new company. It is the duty of the court to keep some measure of control over the new company. Some members of the reorganization committee should be named by the court, and I am inclined to insist on such a provision. Of course, I am not ruling on the acceptability of the plan at this time."

Hearing Set for Oct. 23.

Judge Wilkerson set Oct. 23 for further hearings on the plan. Arguments for and against the program will be heard at that time.

The provision of the plan under which the common stock holders would get 1 share of stock in the new concern for each 100 shares owned in the old company was the target of a bitter attack by Attorney Ettelson. He described the terms as "unfair, inequitable, and indefensible."

"The common stock holders," he asserted, "are asked to give up 100 shares of stock for one share in the new company. The offer is paltry and negligent. It is outrageous."

Ettelson also objected to the plan on the ground that it would result in passing control to the bankers.

Attorney Lucey also branded the terms of the plan as unfair. He indicated, however, that he would withdraw his objections if Judge Wilkerson carried out his expressed purpose of retaining some measure of control over the new company.

"Take Crumbs and Go."

"If this is incorporated in the plan we will take our crumbs and go," Lucey said.

Judge Wilkerson said that he intended to retain some control "independently of any allegations of fraud."

"Your honor mentioned the word fraud," said Attorney Herbert Friedlich, counsel of the bankers, "and I want to state unequivocally that there was no fraud on the court or any one else at any stage in the proceedings."

"The record speaks for itself," Attorney Ettelson interjected.

"I yield to your superior knowledge of fraud," Friedlich replied.

Attorney Donald F. McPherson, counsel for the preferred stock holders, in giving his formal assent to the plan, said that it avoided all possible difficulties with provisions of the new federal utility act. Orville J. Taylor, counsel for the common stock holders, said the plan represented "the best compromise obtainable."

CANADIAN FIRMS DELAY PLANS TO RAISE NEWSPRINT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 18.—For the second successive year plans of Canada newsprint companies for an increase of $5 per ton in the price of newsprint paper have petered out. Leading executives were in conference here today and, while no announcement was made, it was learned the 1936 price of newsprint was the chief topic under discussion.

It was felt no steps could be taken for the desired $5 or even $2.50 increase per ton in newsprint for 1936 in view of the recent action of a United States company, the Great Northern Paper company, in announcing a moderate advance of $1 per ton for 1936 contracts. The companies later may decide also to ask for $1 more, but no decision was taken today.

U. S. WILL OFFER BONUS TO REDUCE RYE PRODUCTION

Wallace Approves 4 Year Adjustment Program.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Because the 1935 rye crop, estimated at 52,000,000 bushels, is so far in excess of the 1934 crop of only 16,000,000 bushels, and also above the 1928-'32 average of 39,000,000 bushels, Secretary Wallace today approved a four year adjustment program to curtail production of rye during the years 1936-'39, inclusive.

The new program was patterned closely after the wheat adjustment plan, which covers the same period and the rye program will also be administered by county wheat associations.

Bonus 35 Cents a Bushel.

Adjustment payments of at least 35 cents a bushel will be paid to producers for adjusting their acreage to 75 per cent of their average harvest. Growers are expected to plant more than 75 per cent of base acreage because the adjustment plan is based on harvested, rather than seeded, acreage.

"The rye program has been necessary," the agriculture department said, "because rye production in 1935 is unusually large after two years of drouth, because former export outlets for rye are now sharply limited, because rye supplies for the current year are approximately double estimated domestic requirements, and because prices have sharply declined as a result of these factors."

With the July 1 carryover estimated at more than 11,000,000 bushels, supplies for the year are expected to be slightly less than 64,000,000 bushels, while domestic requirements are estimated at only 32,000,000 bushels.

Average Price 36½ Cents.

The average farm price of rye on Sept. 15 was 36½ cents a bushel. The average farm price for the crop year 1934-'35 was 71.3 cents a bushel. The party price of rye on Sept. 15, 1935, was 92 cents a bushel.

The 1929 census showed approximately 174,000 rye farmers in this country. It is estimated between 75,000 and 100,000 rye contracts, covering a majority of the rye acreage, may be signed by farmers.

The processing tax on rye of 30 cents a bushel became effective Sept. 1. This rate was established by congress in the recently enacted amendments to the agricultural adjustment act. The other 5 cents needed to pay for curtailment will be obtained from processing taxes on other commodities, it was said today.

RETAILERS START ORGANIZATION OF COUNTY COUNCIL

Seek Concerted Action on Common Problems.

Organization of the Cook County Retail council, embracing all large and small retailing establishments in the county with the aim of acting concertedly on common problems, was initiated yesterday in a meeting in the Palmer house.

Elmer F. Wieboldt of the Wieboldt stores was elected chairman. An executive committee of eleven was appointed to perfect the plans of organization. About 20,000 retail establishments in the county are expected to be brought into the council, as well as various retail trade groups which are to have representatives in the new organization.

Wieboldt Outlines Aims.

Mr. Wieboldt, who presided at the meeting, outlined the aims to 100 retailers who were present:

"The object of the council is the fostering of public welfare as it may affect retailing," Wieboldt said. "Merchants have not realized their opportunities and responsibilities. They have been well organized by lines of trade, but never by an organization representative of all retail business.

"Retail sales in Chicago totaled $800,000,000 in 1933. It is a trade closest to the consumer, and this undertaking will make retailers articulate for the first time from the viewpoint of the public interest."

Members of Committee.

Members of the executive committee, who will report their final plan of organization in about a week, are Frederick C. Corley, vice president of Marshall Field & Co.; Justin Dart, Walgreen company; Meyer Dettelbach, president of the Lion department store; Harry M. Eggelstein, president of the South Center department store; L. Greenebaum, treaurer, Mandel Brothers; M. C. Penticoff, district manager of Sears, Roebuck & Co.; John T. Pirie, president, Carson Pirie Scott & Co.; Roscoe R. Rau, executive vice president of the National Retail Furniture association; Fred P. Seymour, vice president of Horder's, Inc.; Elmer T. Stevens of Chas. A. Stevens & Co., and Harry F. Stickney, Chicago-Cook County Retail Grocers' and Butchers' association.

Walter A. Knoop was elected temporary secretary of the group.

Friend of the Coal User

The Friend of the Coal User will supply information on economical use of coal in an attempt to enable users to meet with less loss the added expense which the Guffey coal law is loading on the Chicagoland public. Inquiries should be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Items of general interest will be published.

Worried About Weight.

Elgin, Ill., Oct. 14.—I have a coal bin 11 feet long, 7 feet wide, and 6 feet high. Have been burning Solvay coke, nut size, for the last twelve years in a hot air furnace. Up to last year I would order 4½ tons in the early part of the year and it would be delivered some time during the summer. This amount filled the bin up pretty well, but I usually had to order another ton around March to keep us going.

Last spring I told the coal dealer to fill up the bin and he did so and billed me for six tons I am quite satisfied that the bin will not hold six tons of Solvay nut coke. Can you tell me from its dimensions the amount of coke I can reasonably expect the bin to hold. P. L. R.

Answer—The usual standard weight of Solvay coke, nut size, is 33½ pounds per cubic foot. The dimensions of your bin as stated would not only be ample for 6 tons, but could be made to hold 7 tons without difficulty. Although few coal dealers take the risk of short weighting their customers, you should always insist on a confirming weight ticket from a public scale.

HOG RECEIPTS RISE AND PRICES TURN DOWNWARD

Top grades of hogs slipped below the $13 line yesterday, processing tax included, under pressure of the second largest Friday receipts since early March. A total of 10,000 arrived as compared with only 6,234 a week earlier, and an average of 4,701 for the last six Fridays.

Trading progressed slowly as sellers continued to resist the downturn, a big share of the supply moving during the late rounds mostly 5 to 15 cents lower. Some of the selected underweights which were scarce escaped with little loss. Only one load of closely sorted new crop 210 pound hogs topped the list to shippers at $12.95, equaling the lowest sale for top grades since July 19.

Due to reverses suffered in the wholesale markets for beef lately packers wanted few cattle yesterday. Receipts were small and prices ruled weak at 25 cents lower.

Slaughter lambs sold steady to 10 cents higher at the best prices of the week. Shippers bought selected Colorado range lambs up to $9.85.

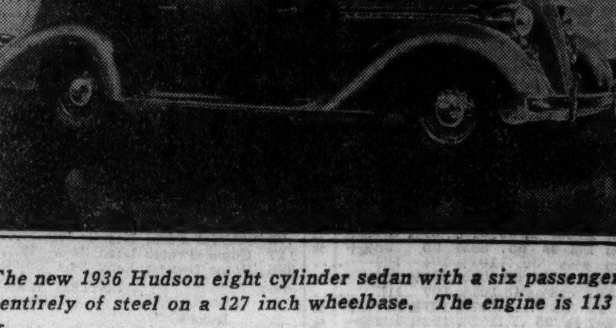
NEW HUDSON FOR 1936



The new 1936 Hudson eight cylinder sedan with a six passenger body built entirely of steel on a 127 inch wheelbase. The engine is 113 horse power.

HUDSON'S NEW MODELS ARE SHOWN TO PUBLIC; SEVERAL INNOVATIONS

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 18.—[Special.]—The 1936 Hudson car was introduced to the public today and at least three novel mechanical innovations were noted.

The new Terraplanes will be announced soon.

The brakes, rather than being either of the mechanical or the hydraulic actuated type, are a combination of these two familiar systems. The ventilation system provides filtered air for the closed models when driven through dust or in winter. The front end assembly of springs, axle, and steering mechanism is new. The engineers say easier steering and easier riding have resulted. The so-called "electric hand," an automatic gear shifter, is retained.

The bodies, with a rakish chromium grille sweeping over the radiator, are decidedly different in appearance from their predecessors. The chassis is longer and wider.

The six cylinder engine now develops 93 horsepower and the eight cylinder engine is rated at 113 horsepower. The six can be boosted to 100 horsepower and the eight to 124 horsepower with higher compression heads available as optional equipment at extra cost.

REPORT FURTHER GAINS IN TRADE DURING OCTOBER

Dun-Bradstreet's Review Relates Progress.

New York, Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Production and distribution of merchandise thus far this month has continued the gains recorded in September, with few exceptions, according to the weekly review of Dun & Bradstreet, issued today. The review says, however, that the rate of improvement has been moderate.

"The momentum gained during the special Columbus day promotional events led to a vigorous expansion of consumer buying throughout the week," the survey said.

Sales Rise Despite Weather.

"Even though the weather was too balmy in some districts to permit the ready absorption of fall apparel, a gain was reported by nearly every city. The rise in retail sales from the preceding week's ranged up to 15 to 20 per cent, while the estimated average for the country, as a whole, was higher by 8 to 15 per cent than for the corresponding 1934 week.

"While retailers' inventories, which had been scant all summer, were bolstered substantially during September, the widening consumer demand has created an actual need for further accumulations of merchandise.

Inventories Are Depleted.

"The heavy inroads on stocks was evident in the abrupt rise in buying in the leading wholesale markets during the week and the uniformity of the requests for immediate shipment.

"A rising price level, which prompted fresh commitments covering more distant needs featured buying in most of the wholesale divisions, but mail orders generally were larger than a week earlier and covered a wider range of items.

"Production of electrical equipment averaged 10 per cent higher than a year ago, and sanitary and heating equipment about 20 per cent."

New York, Oct. 18.—[Special.]—Reactionary trends again dominated trading in bonds today on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading continued more or less professional in character, as the turnover was further reduced to $10,454,000 compared with $11,486,000 yesterday.

The ease with which the main body of United States government bonds yielded ground in early dealings on only a meager amount of selling was a feature of the market. Although rallying tendencies ruled in that group in later trading, net declines of 2-32 to 7-32 point prevailed at the close.

Blame European Situation.

Traders are inclined to attribute the heaviness among federal loans to the uncertainty over the European situation rather than to any internal development.

While declines in the general run of domestic corporation issues were restricted to fractions, numerous weak spots developed, particularly among the secondary railroad liens and recently favored speculative issues in the public utility group. Losses extended as high as 2½ points in lower priced rail list, while such issues as International Hydro-Electric 6s, Murray Body 6½s, and International Telephone and Telegraph bonds broke sharply with declines of one to five points.

Industrial Bonds Steadier.

Industrial loans were less vulnerable to selling and, as a group, maintained a steady to firm undertone. Studebaker 6s responded to a brisk demand with a gain of 2½ points, which was in line with the strength in the low priced motor shares on the stock exchange. Interborough issues worked higher in a fair volume.

Trading in foreign dollar bonds was marked by a steadier tone for Italian issues and weakness in German and Polish government loans.

City Ice and Fuel.

Investors' Guide: Will you please give me a report on City Ice and Fuel?—P. J. J.

Answer: City Ice and Fuel company is the largest manufacturer and distributor of ice in this country. It operates in 23 states and in Canada, serving more than 75 metropolitan areas. It also distributes coal and fuel oil [which business helps offset seasonal dips], manufactures and installs air conditioning equipment [which use ice], and manufactures automatic refrigeration machinery and boxes. Through control of American Brewing company of New Orleans it manufactures beer.

Earnings normally are dependent on weather conditions. During the last few years the company has felt the effects of the inroads of automatic refrigeration, but sales of ice for refrigerator cars have been a sustaining factor.

Gross sales in the first half of 1935 were $11,172,000 and net income was $376,000, or only $1.72 per preferred share, which left nothing for the common. During the corresponding 1934 period gross was $11,367,000 and net income was $1,404,000, or 61 cents per common share.

	Sales.	Net inc.	Inc. per com. shr.
1934	....$26,472,000	$4,126,000	$2.45
1933	 23,505,000	3,852,000	2.20
1932	 23,755,000	4,026,000	2.35
1931	 30,039,000	6,510,000	4.43

Current assets on Dec. 31, 1934, including cash assets of $3,290,000, totaled $8,038,000, and current liabilities were $2,046,000. Funded debt was $7,100,000. There are outstanding 198,429 shares of 6½ per cent cumulative $100 par preferred and 1,157,000 shares of no par common. Dividends on the preferred are being paid regularly. The common pays 50 cents a quarter.

Ill. Central-Chicago, St. L. & N. O.

Investors' Guide: Will you please give your opinion of Illinois Central and Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans joint 5s, due 1963?—Mrs. M. E. G.

Answer: Illinois Central-Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans joint first refunding 5s and 4½s, due 1963, are a business man's investment. They are outstanding in a moderate amount per mile and are secured by a first mortgage on all Illinois Central lines south of the Ohio [with the exception of three subsidiaries' mileage], subject to divisional liens.

BUTTER DROPS AFTER EARLY RISE; EGGS DROP SHARPLY

Butter futures advanced ⅛ cent early yesterday to a new high on the current movement in sympathy with an upturn of ¼ cent to ¾ cent in the spot market. However, profit taking developed toward the close, and the finish was ⅛ cent to ¼ cent lower, with November at 27⅜ cents per pound. The AAA announced purchases of 6 cars of cheese and 1,000,000 pounds of evaporated milk for relief distribution.

Egg futures declined sharply toward the close, with liquidation developing. Warm weather had some effect on sentiment. Closing trades were ⅜ cent to ⅝ cent lower, with October at 24⅜ cents per dozen. Sales of butter futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange were 201 cars; eggs, 170 cars, and potatoes, 1 car. Prices:

COTTON AVERAGES HIGHER; INCREASES 6 TO 11 POINTS

Cotton futures continue to hold within relatively narrow limits. The uncertain political situation abroad, combined with persistent trade and commission house buying, more than offset hedging pressure and prices averaged higher. Chicago gained 7 to 9 points and other markets 6 to 11 points for the day.

Spot cotton closed 10 points higher with New Orleans and Houston 11.10 cents, Galveston 11.15 cents, and New York 11.25 cents per pound. Prices for futures in cents per pound:

LARD RISES 5 TO 10 CENTS AS COMMISSION HOUSES BUY

Lard futures averaged somewhat higher yesterday. Commission house buying and short covering, based on the less favorable political news from abroad and the firmness in grains, had some effect. Selling was headed by a broker who frequently acts for a packer and who had been on the buying side for several days previously. The bulk of trade was in the October and December deliveries. Closing trades were 5 to 10 cents higher.

Cash lard was quoted at $14.45; loose, $14.50; leaf, $14.75, and bellies at $18.50 per 100 pounds. Prices in dollars per 100 pounds:

ON THE LAKE SHORE

IN EVANSTON.

It's rather nice to live in a house built high on a walled-in terrace where every room is flooded with sunlight and where the views to the north and south are over lawns and into woods, and to the east out over the colorful waters of Lake Michigan. A beautiful, secluded spot where you never feel lonesome or isolated, for it is right in the midst of Evanston and only 25 minutes by motor or train from Chicago's business district. A real retreat for a busy business man who cannot afford to spend much time commuting. 12 rooms, large living rooms, huge porches, garage with living quarters and everything that goes to make up a marvelous home. You may not believe it, but a pair of cardinal birds nest in the shrubbery and stay the year round. They like it.

NEAR NORTH SIDE

It's very nice when you close your desk at the end of the day to know that after a short, brisk walk just 5 blocks north of the river, you will come to a quaint little lamplighted court that makes you feel far away from Chicago, where up a winding stairway there's a charming little studio that—well you're glad you live there, that's all. There's lots of satisfaction in having a little home with a fireplace, delightful to live in and interesting to your friends and that's what we try to give you. We are glad to make changes that you personally may suggest. The rent of one of our best studios is very reasonable if a lady portrait artist is allowed the use of the studio during the day on week-days only. Also daytime studios and shop space.
